CALLING A BOY IN THE MORNING.

Selected
The Connecticut editor who wrote the following evidently knew what he was talking about: Calling a boy up in the morning can hardly be classed under the head of "pastimes," especially if the boy is fond of exercise the day before. And it is a little singular that the next hardest thing to getting a boy out of bed is getting him into it. There is rarely a mother that is a success at rousing a boy. All mothers know this; so do their boys. And yet the mother seems to go at it in the right way. She opens the door and instinctively observes, "Johnny." There is no response. "Johnny." Still no response. Then there is a short, sharp "John," followed a moment later by a long and emphatic "John Henry." A grunt from the upper regions signifies that an impression has been made; and the mother is encouraged to add, "You'd better be getting down here to your breakfast, young man, before I come up there and give you something you'll feel." This startles the young man that he immediately goes to sleep again. And the operation has to be repeated several times. A father, knowing nothing about this trouble, he merely opens his mouth as a soda bottle ejects its cork, and the "John Henry" that cleaves the air of that stairway goes into that boy like electricity, and pierces the deepest recesses of his nature. And he pops out of that bed and into his clothes, and down the stairs, with a promptness that is commendable. It is rarely a boy allows himself to disregard the paternal summons. About once a year is believed to be an often as is consistent with the rules of health. He saves his father a great many steps by his thoughtfulness.

A Song Story.

"Just One Girl." It makes me feel sad for it reminds me of "My Old Kentucky Home," for "She Was Woe in Old Kentucky." "In the Good Old Summer Time." On a Sunday afternoon "Just as the Sun Went Down" "Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow." "Just Because She Made Those Goo-Goo Eyes," I said "Hello, My Baby," she said "I'd Leave My Happy Home For You." "Down Where the Mississippi Flows," "She is not 'The Girl I Loved in Sunny Tennessee'" but "My Girl from Dixie" and "Her Name is Rose," for she's "My Little Georgia Rose," and I loved her "When She Was Sweet Sixteen" and "I Haven't Changed My Mind Since Then." "One Night in June" I told her "The Old Story" and "Then I Got Mine" but "My Mother Was a Northern Girl" and I had to get her consent, so I started while the "Leaves Came Drifting Down" for "My Old New Hampshire Home" to "Break the News to Mother," and there I got a "Letter From Ohio" stating that my girl had eloped with "A Little Boy in Blue" and asking me "For Old Time's Sake" to "Go Away Back and Sit Down." When I showed the letter to "My Old Dad" "The Blow Almost Killed Father," and he said "Ain't Dat a Shame?" I decided "I Must Have Been a Dreaming," but "I Ain't a Goin' to Weep no More" "Because I'm Going to Live Anyhow until I Die."—Hartington Herald.

Itinerant News.

Locals not numerous but thought you would be pleased with these few gathered hurriedly in the rush of my itinerant work.
Rev. Hayek held services among the Swedes at Lewellyn last week.
J. R. Elliott and S. Burcham from Silk Creek, was in the Grove last week.
Rev. Mulkey did not fill his appointment at Lorane the last time.
Rev. Westrup is soon as we learn to leave Silk Creek, but have not learned where he is going.
C. S. Conant has been in Eugene for two or three months on business but will soon return to his home in Lorane.
W. N. Crow, of Lorane, lost a 1400 pound mare a short time ago in the mire. A cow is in the same place though likely to live and another is missing.

Snow, snow, the beautiful snow, two or three inches in the bottoms and two or three feet on the mountains today.

DISCOVERY OF THE COLUMBIA.

Bert Huffman, in Pendleton East Oregonian.
From quaint New England's loved and rugged shore,
Bold seamen pressed, a hundred years or more,
Toward the perils of yon southern Horn—
To seek new worlds beyond its coasted forlorn;
What if they find the hidden Indian way?
In all its splendor, at the Gates of Day?
Or if before their dazzled view should rise
In California, a new Paradise?
The fragile bark rode all the storms that beat
In Titan battles 'neath the Andes' feet;
And past the sentinels of wild Darien
Still wider seas beat on those fearless men.
But onward, still toward yon Northern star;
Toward yon waiting empire's gate,
Afar,
Ah, what to them these perils ever new?
Tried were those hearts and found full brave and true.
For Oregon lay wreathed in cloud and mist,
Her headlands by the bold Pacific kist.
The daring Spaniard, lustful for her gold,
Turned from the fury of her river bold;
Twice—thrice, laid siege on yon unyielding bar—
As oft was harried, a craven crew, afar;
Then with deep curses turned his bark away.
With superstitions boding and dismay,
So fierce the breakers beat his fragile craft,
So wild the waves which smote him fore and aft,
The shrinking sailors vowed a demon reigned
Within the river gateway, unrestrained.
One morning rode two Yankee craft at sea;
The mists had lifted and the mystery
The wonder and the beauty of the land,
Lay open, like a dream, on every hand.
Green meadows smiled, the purple woodlands lay
Robed like a queen, in the first tints of day.
Flowed down between her guardian gods at rest,
The loved, majestic river of the west,
Those eager hearts straight through that gateway bore,
To view the Eden spread on either shore;
Twas left for thee, brave Yankee hearts to find
Columbia and her empires, for mankind.

HEALTH.

Means the ability to do a good day's work, without undue fatigue and to find life worth living. You cannot have in digestion or constipation without its upsetting the liver and polluting the blood. Such a condition may be best and quickest obtained by Herbine, the best liver regulator that the world has ever known. Mrs. D. W. Smith writes, April 3, 1902: "I use Herbine, and find it the best medicine for constipation and regulars the liver I ever used." Price 50 cents. Sold by the New Era Drug Store.
Properly Reported.

She thoughtfully—I wouldn't accept the money, anyway, from any one who doesn't know who I am.—Exchange.

ITCH—RINGWORM.

E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes, April 25th, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by New Era Drug Store.

Explained.

"Our air mattresses," said the dealer, "are all filled in the months of April, May and June. That accounts for their remarkably resilient qualities."
"Is the air of those months better than others?"
"They are the spring months, you know"—Life.

CROUP.

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, soreness and unimpeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Villet, New Castle, Colo., writes March 10th, 1901: "I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by New Era Drug Store.
