BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

TELEPHONE MAIL SERVICE.

Wire Connection With the Postoffice Popular in the Central States.
A message suggested for extending the usefulness of the rural mail routes of the various states is that of connecting farm homes by telephone with the postoffices out of which rural free delivery is operated. The idea is that a special stamp should be issued by the government which, if attached to a letter by the sender, would authorize the postmaster at the office of any rural route at which it is received to open the letter, ascertain its contents and telephone them to the person to whom the letter is addressed. This would effect a saving of time in the reception of the message, which is nearly always desirable and often of great importance, especially on an up-to-date farm, which is nowadays a business center, run on business principles and requiring business facilities.

It appears that rural telephone lines have grown considerably in number and extent the past three to five years throughout Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and the central west states. In some instances a telephone route is nearly identical with that of rural free delivery, and the postmaster in his office could communicate directly by telephone with any patron of the mail route. In these cases only the issue of the appropriate stamp would seem necessary to inaugurate the proposed special service. Where connection is not direct it could often be had through a second line, already existing.

The increase of rural telephone companies, many of them organized and operated by the farmers themselves has brought the service to comparatively inexpensive rates. Farmers of Illinois and Indiana are showing special concern as to the course of the postal authorities and in some towns have lately got together to consider their own interests in the matter.

SHEEP FEEDING.
From a Montana Point of View—Alfalfa is Money Maker.
Gallatin, Mont.—Montana is the banner sheep state of the Union, with 5,000,000 sheep. Shippers to Chicago know that live stock are bought sometimes on full weight, with a certain per cent off for shrinkage, or they are left without food and water for twelve hours and then weighed. A test made by our state experiment station is of value to the seller on this point. Sheep were held without food or water for twelve hours. The results showed that the lambs shrank a little less than 2 per cent and the wethers a fraction over 3 per cent in live weight. Shrinkage in weight from Bozeman to Chicago is claimed to range between 7 per cent and 9 per cent.

With plenty of good and cheap feed Montana has been feeding and putting a finish on sheep to compare with anything that can be done in other states and it has been done profitably. Here is an example of alfalfa feeding in the hands of a Butte sheepman:
The sheep were a cross of Hampshire and Shropshire. They were fed exclusively on alfalfa for the last seven-to-four days and in that time consumed about six pounds of alfalfa each per day. The sheep when placed on feed averaged 108 pounds and cost 2 cents per pound. They were sold at 4 1/2 cents per pound and averaged when weighed 137 pounds.
Cost of 1,000 sheep at $24.....$24,000
Cost of 300 tons hay at $2.....600
Cost of labor, salt, etc.....120
Burdies and death losses.....60
Total cost.....$24,780
Total proceeds.....$3,285
Profit per sheep.....$2,405
Many of our feeders finish by adding barley to the hay ration and think that it gives very quick gains in weight as well as firmer flesh. Wheat, oats, mixed grains and screenings are other common rations.

A GREAT SENSATION.
There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I suffered in dreadful agony from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00, Guaranteed by Morgan & Brehaut, Druggist. Trial bottles free.

Chain Farmers Co-operative.
Kane, Mo.—The Farmers' Co-operative Shipping Association, with headquarters here and branches and elevators in Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, is about to purchase and load about 1,500,000 bushels of grain for its members since its organization in July, 1912, with a paid up capital of $5,000,000, it now created with profits of about 20 per cent, a capital of $750,000, 40 branches and a growing membership of more than 3,000.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM CURED.
"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful treatment." For sale by New Era Drug Store.

Call Our Inferior Stock.
There is more profit in keeping a few good animals than in having the stable occupied with those that give no return for their keep. There are two duties devolving upon farmers which are seldom fulfilled. One is to thin out the herd or flock and the other is to cull out the inferior animals. When the herd is thinned out the cost of food is lessened and less labor is required. Every year the herd or flock should be improved and the least profitable animals disposed of so as to increase production and reduce the cost.

A DANDY FOR BURNS.
Dr. Bergin, Pana, Ill., writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Lintiment all ways recommended it to my friends, as I am confident there is no better made. It is a dandy for burns. Those who live on farms are especially liable to many accidental cuts, burns, bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Lintiment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency." 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottle, New Era Drug Store.

The Black Sheep.
A writer on brigandage in Greece some years ago stated that no band of brigands was complete without its tame sheep. The animal was used to lead the sheep which the robbers might steal and which without a leader would be troublesome to drive away. This brigand sheep was, appropriately enough, generally a black one, black being preferred as being least visible at night. It was taken from the flock when young and brought up among the brigands, to whom it grew attached and whom it would follow willingly.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.
A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, great weakness day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at Morgan & Brehaut's drug store.

HEALTH IS YOUTH.
Disease and Sickness Bring Old Age.
Herbina, taken every morning before breakfast, will keep you in robust health. It is your ward of disease. It cures constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, fever, skin, liver, and kidney complaints. It purifies the blood and clears the complexion. Mrs. D. W. Smith, Whitney, Texas, writes April 3, 1902: "I have used Herbina, and find it the best medicine for constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. It does all you claim for it. I can highly recommend it." 50c a bottle. New Era Drug Store.

Having a Hard Time.
"Here I've been running for years," said the half cock, "and I haven't moved an inch. I wouldn't mind that so much, but every evening about 8:30 the young lady of the family turns me back because she says I'm too fast, and then in the morning the old man comes along and grumbles because I'm too slow."

Breeding and Fattening Cattle
The practice of dehorning animals that are to be put in feed yards has come largely into vogue during the last ten or fifteen years. It is generally conceded that, all things considered, it is much more humane to dehorn than it is to allow horned animals to run in the yards together, says Louis Homestead. While the practice is commendable, it is the opinion of a number of feeders with whom we have discussed the matter recently that it has been carried a little too far.

When all animals that are put into feed yards are dehorned the tendency is for them to bunch together too much during the day. In this way animals become too warm and consequently will not make the gains that they otherwise would if they could be kept scattered. Their object, of course, in bunching together is to lessen the agony caused by flies. Another disadvantage of close bunching is that it frequently results in tramping out the grass and destroying the soil.

Those who have tried it find that by leaving horns on a few of their feeders animals will thrice much better. Some prefer one annual for every half dozen horned while others claim that one in a dozen or fifteen is plenty to keep them from bunching. There is no question but that there is something in this theory, and we offer it as a suggestion at this time so that those who are raising animals extensively for block may be benefited thereby.

Curtain a Jumping Cow.
Here is a sure cure for the jumping cow, says a correspondent in Rural New Yorker: Take a pole eight or ten feet long, tie a rope around it nearly in the middle, big end at the back, and have the rope fast to a halter on the cow. Fasten the rope to the pole, so when the cow lifts up her head and walks along the back end of the pole will drag on the ground and the forward end will lift up. When she comes to the fence, the end of the pole will run under the fence and hold her head down. She cannot jump.

HOW IT WORKS.

Dried Blood For Calves.
The Kansas experiment station in reporting upon feeding dried blood as a preventive of scours says: "Dried blood is not only good for a weak calf, but is an excellent remedy for any calf subject to scours. With the severe head of young calves under experiment at the Kansas station during the past year there has not been a single case of scours that dried blood has failed to check.

"In feeding dried blood a teaspoonful at a feed is a great plenty. This should be continued until the scours disappear. In case of a weak calf the allowance may be gradually increased to a tablespoonful at a feed."
To prevent the dried blood from settling to the bottom of the pail, where the calf will be unable to get it, it may be stirred in the milk while the calf is drinking, or the milk and blood may be fed immediately after being thoroughly mixed.

"Since dried blood is such a cheap and effective remedy, it will pay any one who raises young calves by hand to have a little available whenever a calf shows signs of disorders in its digestive tract."

Baby Beef Protection.
When feeding for baby beef, the feeder can use mixed herd calves that have been raised on creamery skim milk and whole milk. It is a saving to vaccinate the calves early so as to prevent blackleg.
Feed the calves twice daily, morning and evening. Feed in lots in the same order each time and exactly at the same time each day. The hours of feeding should be arranged so that the calves will do all the work of eating in daylight. Feed them what grain and roughage they will eat up clean within three hours after feeding. Mix the grain with the roughage and feed whole. Keep salt in boxes under the sheds where the calves can have free access at all times. The calves can be sheltered with a common board shed, closed to the north and open on the south side.
Water should be supplied in tanks regulated by float valves so that the tanks are kept full and the calves can drink at will. If the weather is cold, it is best to keep a tank heater going in each tank so as to keep the water at a temperature of about 40 degrees.—Farm and Home.

MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP.
There's nothing like doing a thing thoroughly. Of all the Salves you ever heard of, Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the best. It cures away and cures Burns, Sores, Bruises, Cuts, Boils, Ulcers, Skin Eruptions and Piles. It's only 25c, and gives the most satisfaction by Morgan & Brehaut, Druggist.
