THE CHATTAHOOGA ADVERTISING

The Chattanooga Medicine Company, with laboratories and general offices at Chattanooga, Tennessee, and branch houses at St. Louis, Mo., and San Francisco, Cal., has become one of the largest proprietary medicine concerns in the world. In the growth of this great business the merit of its products—Wine of Cardui and The Bard's Black Draught—has been widely recognized and the original advertising methods adopted have excited great comment. The publicity for these medicines does not consist of the usual phrase and extravagant statement, but often employed in advertising today, but instead the plain story of experience with the medicine given in the plain language of the people themselves. The following letters are a few samples of the thousands of Wine of Cardui testimonials published during the past twenty years.

Of Photographer Boyd who will soon return to this city the Lebanon Express says: "Photographer Boyd has now on display some remarkably fine photos. The photos show much artistic ability, both in the posing and in the quality of the work. Then, too, the cards are very neat and handsome, being the latest things out in that line. We doubt if any photographer in the valley can make a better showing than this."

J. N. Boyd, the well known photographer will soon return to Cottage Grove. Last week's Lebanon Critic said of him: "Last week Photographer Boyd filled his outside show case with a new supply of photos. Among the new display may be found some of the finest finished photos that are made anywhere both as to workmanship and mounts. They are without doubt the finest lot of pictures ever displayed in this city and they should be appreciated. Lebanon can boast of one of the very best photographers in the state."

The residence of W. A. Hartung on River street is fast nearing completion under the mechanical management of the Thomas Bros., the painting and papering being done by Al Crum. The residence in question is the one the construction of which was commenced by Attorney J. E. Young, who sold it when partially constructed to Mr. Hartung. It is of the solid style, reception hall, parlor, dining room, sitting room, kitchen and pantry on the first floor, while four commodious bedrooms and bath room are on the second floor. The structure is approximately a $2000 residence. The finish is selected fir, including the doors finished in natural color. It presents an attractive appearance and is one of the most substantial ornaments to the city.

DIED.

At Cottage Grove on Tuesday morning A. F. Johnson, better known as Tom, passed away after a long and severe illness.

Mr. Johnson came to Cottage Grove about 25 years ago and for some time engaged in the mercantile business, but later paid more attention to mining; doing considerable work in the Bohemia district. A few months ago he sold a group of claims to J. B. Henning.

When but 15 years of age, in the summer of 1871 he enlisted in a Kansas regiment and served throughout the Civil war.

Mr. Johnson lost his wife about a year ago. The family have lived for a long time on the Van Court farm. About a month ago he was brought to the Grove for medical treatment, but nothing could be done for him.

He leaves a family of eight children the eldest being the wife of N. J. Huff. He was buried on Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the Sear cemetery on Row River.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Wednesday May 11th was the 51st birthday anniversary of Uncle Sam Garoutte. Quite a number of relatives and friends met at the home of Mrs. May Hart and marched from there to the home of Uncle Sam and enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon. After refreshments were served and a good social time enjoyed by all present, they departed leaving their best wishes with an aged brother.
