FRIDAY, MAY 20, 1904.

If there is one man on the republican ticket that deserves the support of every republican in the county more than another, it is our old friend A. M. Price, candidate for commissioner. In the days of populism when republicans in the hundreds broke their legs in their wild efforts to climb into the silver wagon, Mr Price remained true to the party of protection and prosperity. He was a resident of Thurston at that time and was about the only republican left in that precinct. He was committee-man and the party following consisted largely of himself. His party loyalty has stood the test under very trying circumstances and he is therefore entitled to the full party vote. Besides this he possesses all the other qualities and will make a competent and faithful official—Junction City Times. All that the Times says of Mr Price is true and more, too. In addition to the fact that he is a loyal republican and ably qualified, he is also an old soldier and a member of J. W. Geary Post No 7, G. A. R., having served his country in Company L, Fourteenth Kansas Cavalry. Mr Price will prove to be a valuable man in looking after the interests of the county and should be elected by a rousing majority.—Eugene Register.

The Republican Ticket.

From all available and reliable sources throughout the county and districts, comes the news that the republican candidates are growing in favor with the people. It is evident the conventions could not have made a better selection of candidates for the various offices, than are presented for the suffrage of the voters.

Thus far and ample time has elapsed since the conventions, to do so, no charge of dishonesty or incompetency worthy of consideration has been made by the opposition.

When such candidates are presented, it is the plain duty of all republicans to stand firm and vote a straight ticket, no trading is necessary.

If this is done by the republican voters the whole ticket will be elected by a handsome majority. Be fair with your candidates and vote for all of them.

Geo M Cornwall, publisher of the Columbia River and Oregon Timberman, was in the city this week and made a very pleasant call at the Nugget office.

POPULAR OCEAN BEACH.

Many From the Willamette Valley to Spend Their Vacation at the Sea Shore.

Hundreds from the Willamette Valley spent their vacation at North (Long) Beach, Washington, last summer, and it is safe to say that this popular resort of the North Pacific Coast will be visited by many more this year than ever within its history. The change from the valley to the sea level opens up an entirely new realm of scenic charms.

The trip on the Willamette and Columbia rivers, out of Portland, is one long to be remembered, the usual heat of a summer afternoon being tempered by a gentle breeze freighted with the aroma of pine trees and seasoned with salt sea air. The scenery includes much that is beautiful. Leaving Portland on one of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company's beautiful river steamers, (the E. J. Potter being queen of river flyers) the excursionist is carried through its harbor where fly the flags of many nations. The twelve miles on the Willamette river are quickly made, and, after sailing the government light house, marking the junction of the two rivers, the boat swings into the Columbia for the trip down stream. The morning is clear (generally so until June until September), and a magnificent and inspiring sight meets the eye as the sweep around the bend is made—five snowcapped peaks, Mount Hood, Mount Adams, Mount St. Helens, Mount Rainier and Mount Jefferson, looming into view—a sight worth traveling thousands of miles to see. On down the picturesque river, past villages, saw mills, fishing fleets, salmon canneries, perpendicular basaltic bluffs, and pretty side-hill farms, the boat pursues its way. The majestic sweep of the river is awe-inspiring. Gradually the shores grow farther apart and, scarcely realizing that the five hours have been consumed in making the trip, the boat steams alongside the wharf at Astoria.

One hour from Astoria, through the famous fishing waters of the Columbia, past scores of salmon traps and nets and as many white-winged fish boats, land the passengers at Ilwaco on Baker's Bay, where connection for beach points is made with trains of the Duwaco Railway & Navigation Company, whose cars stand on the wharf awaiting the steamer. North Beach, where the surf bathing is unexcelled, at low tide is from 200 to 400 feet wide, twenty-three miles long and so compact that a carriage or wagon scarcely leaves a trace upon it. Scattered along the beach are hundreds of cottages and hotels in which summer life is an unceasing round of pleasure from the opening until the closing of the season. The much dreaded "Resort Mosquito" is unknown and no venomous snakes or insects are found. The thermometer rarely goes above 80 degrees in July or August, but light overcoats, fires morning and evening and blankets at night are comfortable during the season.

Rates for accommodations at North Beach points are reasonable and vary to suit the visitor. At European hotels and lodging houses rooms range from twenty-five cents to one dollar a day; at restaurants, meals run from twenty-five to fifty cents; and at the American-plan hotels, the charges range from one dollar a day to two dollars and upward.

Dozens of delightful side trips may be taken from the beach into a country of wild and picturesque beauty, quiet and secluded among hills and forest, with hunting and fishing in native haunts; to the United States Life Saving stations and lighthouses, cranberry farms, oyster beds, salmon fishing grounds and canneries.

EXPOSURE

To cold draughts of air, to keen and cutting winds, sudden changes of temperature, scanty clothing, and exposure of the throat and neck after public speaking and singing, bring on coughs and colds. Aallard's Horsehold Syrup is the best cure.

Mrs A. Barr, Houston, Texas, writes, Jan 31, 1902: "One bottle of Ballard's Horsehold Syrup cured me of a very bad cough. It is very pleasant to take." 25c, 50c, $1.00. New Era Drug Store.
