FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1904.

For reasons of economy and facility in performing the mechanical work of printing the newspapers of Cottage Grove a combination of the printing plants of the Bohemia Nugget and the Lane County Leader has been effected. This combination of the mechanical departments in no wise affects the individuality of the two papers. They are entirely distinct and separate concerns. Any statements to the contrary are unfounded. Each newspaper will maintain its own offices and editorial rooms and there will be no connection between the two except that their mechanical work will be done in one place instead of in two. Many publications have adopted this plan, successfully, notably the Oregonian and Evening Telegram of Portland. Both local papers in the present instance will be enabled to produce better results and, as soon as arrangements can be made, will appear on different days.

The American Mining Congress which held its 7th annual session in Portland this week was fairly well attended—by those from abroad.

The people of Portland as a rule do not take much interest in mining matters and consequently did not as a body welcome the several hundred representative mining men of other states and territories.

The committees however appointed to take care of the affairs of the Congress did well and all delegates were pleased by the attention shown them.

It is no doubt rather a dry matter to the average person to listen to speeches made and articles read upon the subject of mining and treatment of ores, when they have but little knowledge of the subjects treated by the mining and milling men of the country Oregon has had so many other resources to be developed that mining has been to a very great extent overlooked or neglected so it is not surprising that a lack of interest is exhibited by the mass. From now on however it is likely the education of the people in this direction will be much more rapid and mining will be of more importance than it has been in the past.

When Col Mahon was called before the Bohemia and Cottage Grove delegates on Tuesday to enlighten them upon certain matters. He took the occasion to say, "That his visit to Cottage Grove on the 4th of July last was one of the pleasant recollections of his stay in Oregon. That nowhere in the state had he been shown the courtesy and welcome, as he received at that visit and that the people of Cottage Grove would ever remember by himself and wife."

During the visit of Col. Mahon he addressed the members of the Commercial Club and urged upon them the importance of sending an exhibit of the Bohemia ores at the Congress and it is probable the interest shown by the people of this locality and the large attendance and exhibition of the ores at the Congress is largely due to his efforts at that time.

State Senator Kaykendall of Eugene is a candidate for the presidency of the next senator, and now that Senator Brownell has withdrawn in his favor he will most likely be elected to that position. His selection would be a case of the right man in the right place.

FUTURE PROSPECTS.

Special to Daily Mining Record

Bohemia, Ore., Aug. 17.—The Bohemia Mining District of Central Oregon, known and worked in a desultory and spasmodic manner for many years, is now attracting the attention of the mining public, not those who mine the public, but the energetic, practical investor, those who run tunnels, sink shafts, build mills and run them for the profit gained from the production of precious metals. This district is situated partly in

Lane and partly in Douglas counties, in the Calapooia mountains, which form the divide between the Umpqua and Willamette rivers and is one of the numerous ranges forming the intermountain country of Western Oregon connecting the Cascade and Coast ranges.

The district centers about the three peaks of Bohemia, Fairview and Grouse mountains, a gigantic uplift or overflow of and. I.e rocks, but good finds are being made as far south as the Umpqua river, and there is a continuous belt of mineral as far as Blue river, 40 miles to the north.

What has attracted the greater attention, however, is the field on and about the three peaks heretofore mentioned, where veins of from four feet to 30 and 40 feet wide are exposed and have produced some fabulously rich ore from shallow workings.

These veins are true fissures, most of them lying along dykes of trachyte, diorite and diabase, and can be traced for miles across the mountains, and there can be no question of their permanency in depth.

The ores are complex in their character, and are a replacement of the dyke material forming the original fissure, it being very easy to trace the transition from original rock to the silicious oxides and sulphides of iron, copper, zinc and lead which carry the gold and silver values.

In many places on the surface the ores are very thoroughly oxidized and the gold is free milling, being easily saved by amalgamation, but the chief values will be found in the sulphides as depth is attained, and concentration, with a subsequent treatment of sulphides, according to their physical and chemical properties, will be the metallurgical problem. This will not be difficult to solve, as part of the mines have copper as a base for smelting, others have lead, copper and zinc as a base, which can be worked in a lead furnace, after magnetic separation, giving as a by-product a clean, high-grade zinc concentrate, which metal is becoming more valuable as the years roll by. Still another part of the veins are comparatively free from either copper, zinc or lead, and such concentrates can be treated by chlorination or cyanidation, after roasting, as they will consist of iron sulphide.

In spite of difficulties Bohemia is essentially a smelting camp, and time will demonstrate that the production of free gold, as large as it has been, will be as a drop in the bucket compared with the returns from the base ores as soon as reduction works are established and transportation facilities provided.

A few properties have found it profitable to ship ore even with the heavy handicap the camp has been under through its lack of transportation facilities. Ore was hauled over rough mountain roads a distance of 35 miles to Cottage Grove, and there loaded on cars and shipped to smelters, many hundred miles distant. And yet with all this expense there has been profit in shipping ore.

The ledges are traceable on the surface and traverse the entire district from northeast to southwest. Their permanency has been proven wherever any depth has been obtained. As a rule the free oxidized ores are found on the surface, sulphides increasing with depth and the ore becoming almost entirely base at a depth of from 300 to 400 feet.

The principal metals found are gold, silver, copper, lead and iron. Lime is found in several localities, thus assuring accessible fluxes and economical smelting.

THE WESTERN SOLIDITY.

telligence and ability that comes of years of trial and effort. They have "learned how" in the broadest sense of the word and passing from the period of experiment have come to the time when they can predict with certainty their income and profits. It is to this western solidity that investors should look as the foundation for their trust in securities both based upon real estate and on the business operations of western people. The increasing trade and the larger and more comprehensive production of the western states is enhancing beyond all anticipations the possibilities of their people. It is difficult to say at this time what the future can hold that will shake in any way their prosperity.

Ernest Purvance returned to Oregon Securities Wednesday a few days rest in the Grove. W.P. Ely came down from Bohemia the first of the week and went to Portland to attend the Mining Congress. He will at its close go to his home in Kelso, Washington.

The Nugget is in receipt of the Southern Oregon Edition of Mineral Wealth, which is also a souvenir of The American Mining Congress held this week in Portland. There are over 500 pages of reading matter and splendid illustrations of the mines, mills and scenery in Southern Oregon. Altogether it is a very creditable and interesting journal and represents the energy and push of that splendid portion of the state.

LONDON BRIEFS.

Aug. 21st 1904. Among the items of interest near London, Oregon, at the residence of Mr. Alfred Doolittle was the marriage of his daughter, Miss Emma Doolittle to Mr. Elbert Hedgepath, of near Roseburg, Douglas County, Ore. At about 11 o'clock a. m. in the parlor, which was decorated for the occasion assembled a goodly number of guests to witness the marriage ceremony which was brief and impressive, after which happy and hearty congratulations were extended to the happy young couple. Among the many tokens of friendship was the presentation of a set of silver knives and forks by Mr. Doolittle; set silver spoons, Mrs. Doolittle; set glassware, Mrs. Saddle Johnson; luncheon table cloth, Lester Doolittle; fancy quilt, Mrs. A. J. Allison; sofa pillow, Miss H. Stanton; gold watch, Elmer Doolittle; two towels, Miss Bertha Thompson; butter dish, Miss Alice Wells. After the presents were presented the guests retired to the dining room where a splendid wedding dinner was served. After all had partook of this sumptuous dinner, the afternoon was spent in social amusement and an old fashioned time in general was enjoyed by all. We extend our best wishes to the happy couple with our best wishes.

A SPECTATOR.

Beginning Aug. 25th the Oregon and Southern Railway will run an afternoon train on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, leaving Cottage Grove at 3:10 P.M. and returning arrive at 5:30 P.M. Every effort will be made by the railroad and by Lewis and McQueen who operate the stage line, to accommodate the traveler during this time and so that visitors can make the trip through Bohemia and return with comfort and expedition.

VIOLENT ATTACK OF DIARRHOEA

Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and perhaps a Life Saver.

A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhea and believed I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses it was entirely cured. I considered it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by New Era Drug Store.

Excursion to the Circus.

Special excursion rates on all lines of travel have been arranged for by the management of Blughing Bros. World's Greatest Shows, and those who wish to go to Eugene where this great circus exhibits Friday, Sept. 2nd, can do so at a very little expense. This will be the only point in this vicinity where the show will exhibit this season and no one should miss the opportunity to witness it. Blughing Brothers' circus has been the leading arena exhibition of America for years, but the show has never been permitted to rest upon its reputation. Although it long ago passed the point of competition, every season sees a greater and grander show. This year's performance is entirely new, and entails the most elaborate and wonderful features in the equestrian, gymnastic, acrobatic, acrobatic and aerial line together with forty-four animals and hundreds of lesser lights. Six hundred and fifty horses are used and a marvelous trained animal department is presented. This circus this season is greatly enlarged by the spectacular production of Jerusalem and the Crusades, a pantomime presentation of the well known and beautiful historical narrative of the Crusades. The vast menagerie has among hundreds of features the only living giraffe, the first daily elephant successfully bred and reared in America, and the only rhinoceros in captivity. There is a gorgeous revival of the Roman hippodrome races, and many other stupendous features in this great circus. Circus day opens with a brilliant street parade, three miles in length. Don't fail to see it.

TAKEN WITH CRAMPS.

Wm. Kirnse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport, was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told him he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines. —Elkader, Iowa, Argus.
