

THE FEET OF HORSES.

Influence of Soil on Shape and Texture of Hoofs.
An English agricultural journal says that the nature of the soil on which horses are bred and reared has a certain influence on the shape and quality of their hoofs. Horses bred in hilly districts as a general rule possess comparatively upright and small, but very strong and tough, feet, while the hoofs of horses reared on marshy and low lying land are of exactly the opposite character, being usually big, more or less flat or spreading and soft.

There is, of course, a considerable amount of difference in the quality and shape of the feet of individual horses bred under exactly the same conditions of soil. But, broadly speaking, the shape of a horse's feet in all cases governed to a greater or less extent by the class of soil on which the animal is bred and reared. Damp soil causes the production of soft, spongy horn in the feet of young horses, and dryness on the other hand, favors the growth of tough and closely textured horn.

The feet of growing horses reared on soft, spongy and damp soil are very apt to become overgrown or badly shaped, owing to the insufficient amount of wear which the horn is subjected to on such soil. In consequence of the horn continually growing and not sufficient of it being worn away the hoofs readily become overgrown, and if this is not remedied by the use of the drawing knife they eventually assume a bad shape.

When young horses are reared on dry uplying land, where the soil is comparatively firm and hard, the horn of the hoofs wears away at a much more rapid rate than it does in the case of spongy and soft soil, and there is much less risk of the feet becoming overgrown or assuming a bad shape. In practice this is simply borne out by the fact that the percentage of cases of badly shaped feet is much smaller among horses reared on dry and firm soil than it is among those that have been bred on soft and marshy land.

Feed of Brood Sows.
It seems to be necessary to say again that it is a costly mistake to feed a sow liberally just before she is to farrow, and especially if she has a large udder and gives other indications of developing milk freely. And it is a fact that such feeding is more dangerous with older and large sows than with cubs, for surplus milk can be drawn from them as it cannot be from sows, and with the last milk fever and maybe pig eating will result.—Farm, Stock and Home.

A VERY CLOSE CALL.
"I stick to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Benson's Pharmacy. Price 50 cents.

THE ANGORA GOAT.
We have not heard so much of late on the old question of oily and nonoily goats, but this is more a matter for the consideration of the breeder than it is for the mohair buyer, says S. B. Hollings in American Sheep Breeder. Heavy, spongy fleeces shorn to a large extent when clean scoured, and it needs a very expert man to estimate correctly what the shrinkage will be when they are presented to him. One large buyer in Bradford is strongly opposed to the oily goat and says that there is always a lack of luster in such fleeces. However, the hair is always sound and good, but there is no more need for an excess of yolk in mohair than there is in wool.

A Long Fleeced Angora.
Kingston Lad, whose picture is reproduced from American Sheep Breeder, was a prize winner at the St. Louis Exposition.

fair Angora show. The fleece of this handsome animal is twenty inches in length. Kingston Lad is owned by Tom Wedgewood of Kingston, N. M.

Shelter for the Angora.
While Angora goats can spend most of their time out of doors during the weather, they, like other animals, must have a place of shelter to which they can resort during storms and blizzards. Prolonged cold, rainy periods are fatal to Angoras unless sheltered.—Wool Markets and Sheep.

Angora Conformation.
The Angora goat, like other farm animals, must be considered with reference to size, conformation and constitution. The type to which the breeders should lend their efforts should weigh from 100 to 140 pounds, body quite round and broad throughout, hips and shoulders of same height, for low shoulders indicate low vitality; the hips not sloping in a pronounced degree, legs strong, but not long, and eye bright and quick. The fleece should cover all parts of the body, except inside the upper legs on the thin skin. A topknot is pretty, but does not indicate quality. The mohair should make an annual growth of not less than ten inches and be so dense as to yield a fleece of eight to ten pounds. The mohair should be in ringlets which are well formed from point to skin. Loose, slightly wavy hair is objectionable and oftentimes indicates coarseness in some degree. It is of the utmost importance that the hair be extremely fine, the finer the more valuable.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.
"In my opinion Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for coughs," says Mrs. Cora Walker of Potteryville, California. There is no doubt about its being the best. No other will cure a cold so quickly. No other is so sure a preventative of pneumonia. No other is so pleasant and safe to take. These are good reasons why it should be preferred to any other. The fact is that few people are satisfied with any other after having once used this remedy. For sale by the Modern Pharmacy.

GEMS IN VERSE.

The Port of Dreams.
It is just beyond the sky line
With its poppy fields of rest,
Where day's storm bewildered shallops
Drop their anchors in the west,
Where a silent sea of saffron
Stretches inland toward the streams
That go glimmering down the valleys
Of the purple port of dreams.

In the faroff gloom behind it
Earth's dusky beauty lies,
And a step beyond its outpost
The hills of heaven rise,
O'er their mystic haze it seems
That their dead dead walk beside us
In the peaceful port of dreams.

O strange and wondrous country,
Hiding these thy goals of life,
Who wins to thee brings courage
For the long, dull march of strife,
And the prisoner of living
Heaps his freedom pledge profane
In thine cushions, boundless radiance,
O blissful port of dreams!

We have called thee Heart's Desire,
Or the Islands of the Blest,
And the Land of Finished Stories,
O dreamland in the west!
Yet ever beyond the boundary
Of thy soul-reposing beams,
Art thou hope or love or heaven,
O happy port of dreams?

Ball away, O weary hearted,
To the dusky beauty lies,
Weave the dreams of life behind you
At the harbor bar of peace,
Come to anchor off the headlands
And where fishing it loaves gleams
In the heaven where you would be
Past the purple port of dreams.

A Curious Legend.
Easy 2500y, the ruins of which lie close to the river Swale, a short distance from Richmond, in Yorkshire, England, is the home of a curious legend, says Photography. One of the main walls of the building is cracked and toppling, but has not yet fallen to the ground. Nor do the natives expect it to do so, at least not until it receives the impulse which it is said to await. For a tradition relates that the wall, when it does fall, will bury in its ruins a newly married couple, and as the tale is well known the chance of a honeymooning pair resting beneath its shade is remote.

Fatal Applause.
An English lady snake charmer named Leyton was performing at a village called Vaehtlinger, in Rheinland Prussia, in a menagerie with a boa constrictor. This she permitted to coil round her neck and breast. Her courage met with thunders of applause from the spectators, who little dreamed that by their signs of approval they had sealed the poor charmer's death warrant. Such, however, proved to be the case, for, apparently infuriated at their demonstrations, the reptile tightened its coils and amid the shrieks of the public strangled the lady on the platform before anything could be done to assist her. The snake was immediately killed.

Caution.
"Leonidas" exclaimed Mr. Meekton's wife on his return from a journey. "I am at a loss to understand your conduct when we parted. I said goodbye to you."
"Yes, Henrietta."
"Why didn't you say goodbye to me?"
"I was just about to do so, Henrietta, but I checked myself. I was afraid you would accuse me of trying to have the last word again."

SAVED FROM TERRIBLE DEATH.
The family of Mrs. M. L. Robbitt of Bargarion, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles Free at Benson's Pharmacy.

WONDERFUL NERVE.
Is displayed by many a man enduring pains of accidental cuts, wounds, bruises, burns, scalds, sore feet or stiff joints. But there's no need for it. Rocken's Arnica Salve will kill the pain and cure the trouble. It's the best Salve on earth for 100c, too, 25c, at Benson's Pharmacy.

Dragging Pains
223 Keeley St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groin. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Mrs. Bash
Mrs. Bash is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

THE EARTH'S MOTION.
Why We Do Not Feel the World's Rapid Flight Through Space.
We have no direct sensation of the earth's motion because of its absolute smoothness and freedom from all jar or vibration, and, as everything—land, sea and air—is carried along at the same rate as ourselves, there is nothing to afford us any evidence that we are moving at all until we make reference to something altogether detached from the earth—as sun, moon or stars—and even then, until reasoning and mathematical calculation are brought to bear, it is these bodies and not ourselves which seem to move.

Forests of Europe.
The percentage of the wooded areas of European countries as compared with their total areas is as follows: Finland, 51.2; Sweden, 49.3; Russia, 40.4; Austria, 32.0; Luxembourg, 29.1; Hungary, 27.7; Germany, 26.1; Servia, 24.9; Turkey, 23.4; Norway, 22; Roumania and Switzerland, 21.4 each; Bulgaria, 20.8. The other European countries have less than 20 per cent of wood-land.

CURED HIS MOTHER OF RHEUMATISM.
"My mother has been a sufferer for many years from rheumatism," says W. H. Howard of Husband, Pennsylvania. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried. In fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with."
