The Eastern Oregonian believes that all regardless of party should support the president in his attempt to regulate railroad matters and that every organization should send resolutions of endorsement.

SHOULD FEEL ENCOURAGED

Certainly if there ever was a time for the people of Cottage Grove and the owners of mining properties in Bohemia to feel encouraged with the outlook it is the present.

During the winter the Oregon Securities, the Crystal Consolidated, the Vesuvius, the Riverside, the Oregon-Colorado and several others have by a system of development by tunnels, proven that large ore bodies are to be found at great depth.

Transportation and proper treatment facilities are still a hindrance, but with time in a camp worthy of them, they are always sure to follow.

With several mills ready to begin operations as soon as the weather conditions will permit the coming season should be one of great benefit to Bohemia and Cottage Grove.

THE MAYOR'S VETO.

To the Common Council of the City of Cottage Grove:

GENTLEMEN: Ordinance No. 38, entitled "An Ordinance entitled an ordinance for regulating, taxing and licensing saloons, and all persons dealing, vending or disposing of spirituous, vinous, malt or fermented liquors in Cottage Grove, Lane County, Oregon, and presented to me for my approval on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1905, is hereby vetoed.

Under the Charter of the City of Cottage Grove, it becomes my duty to assign my reasons for such action, which are as follows:

FIRST.

There are already upon the statute books of the City, ordinances covering a majority of the subjects embraced in this ordinance, which in my judgment are sufficient to properly control the saloon business, and these ordinances being familiar to all, it would at this time be unjust to alter them or substitute therefor other ordinances, that would occasion confusion and probably unintentional infractions of the same.

SECOND.

This ordinance provides that the sureties on all saloon license bonds shall be residents of Lane County, State of Oregon, while the old ordinance provides that such sureties must be residents of the state of Oregon, and it might occur that some persons who would engage in the business here would not be well enough acquainted in this county to secure bondsmen who reside here, and yet might have a good standing and be able to secure ample bonds in some other vicinity in the state.

THIRD.

The time of the arrival of trains in the city at night are such, that to require the saloons to close their doors at midnight, on week days would result in an inconvenience to the traveling public and a reduction to the revenues of the persons engaged in the saloon business, which would have to be compensated for in some other manner, and would be an incentive to adopt other and perhaps more vicious devices to recoup the losses thus sustained.

FOURTH.

This ordinance prohibits music or musical instruments in saloons at any time of the day or night, whether played or not, and while I should have no objections to the ordinance if it simply prohibited music in saloon after bed time, I must confess that I can see no good reason why music should not be played in saloons at proper times and under proper circumstances, since we have music in our homes, lodges, churches and all places of amusement.

FIFTH.

This ordinance provides, as pointed out to you at the time of the passage of this ordinance, that all saloons must keep their bar room, or tipping house in such manner that the bar, bar room, and all selling, dealing, vending or disposing of and drinking of said liquors in such saloons, bar room or tipping house will be at all times in full view of, or may be seen by the public or passer by on the street in front of such saloon, bar room or tipping house, which will necessitate material alterations, and in many cases complete remodeling of the fronts of buildings occupied by saloons, and entail an enormous expense upon the owners of such buildings, many of whom are not in the saloon business.

I trust that none of you, gentlemen, would through any antagonism, animosity or prejudice against the saloon business, inflict any hardship upon people engaged in that business that you would not inflict upon any other class of persons; if so it is wrong, since we are here, acting in a representative legislative capacity, and it should make no difference what our personal views may be on temperance or other kindred questions, since saloons are entitled to the same considerations as citizens, as other people engaged in other trades, occupations or professions, and are guaranteed the same constitutional rights and privileges as other citizens, and should receive the same consideration at the hands of this deliberative body.

The people of this city have declared for saloons; they have been granted their licenses and paid their fees, and while I insist that they should be properly regulated and controlled, I feel that the ordinance now upon our statute books are adequate and sufficient for that purpose, and we should not take the license money of these people and then stink them in the back, as it were, by placing such restrictions upon them that they cannot exist.

The saloons pay into the exchequer of the city, annually the sum of $32,000.00, and if too many restrictions are placed upon the saloons and their revenues are curtailed too much, some if not all of them will be compelled to retire from business and the city will then have to face an additional deficit in its revenues, which will have to be recouped by an additional taxation, the burdens of which already fall heavy upon the city, as I said before in favor of properly regulating the saloons, but am not in favor of placing upon them burdens which are unjust. It is now only a little over a month until our successors will be inducted into office, and if the temperance reformers should prevail, there will perhaps be no occasion for a law upon this subject, or they will at least want a more stringent one, and if on the other hand the more liberal element shall prevail, they will not want a law with such drastic restrictions as contained in this ordinance, and in either event it will not be satisfactory to the incoming administration, and it seems to me it were the wisest policy for us at this time to tamper with the subject.

I regret that circumstances have compelled me to veto this ordinance, the first during my incumbency in office, yet I feel constrained to do so under my oath as an officer, and in the discharge of my duty as I see it, and while my judgment may be opposed to that of a majority of the members of the Common Council, I feel that I should give precedent to my trust if I acted otherwise than according to the dictates of my conscience and best judgment.

Dated this 23rd day of February, A. D. 1905.

J. S. MEDLEY Mayor.

One Message Enough.

There is a young man in Brooklyn working on a moderate salary who in the early part of last summer married a sweet, unpretentious girl from Jersey City Heights. According to Marshall P. Wilder, some six weeks after the marriage the young wife was persuaded by her husband to avail herself of the opportunity offered by the generosity of the girl's father to visit the St. Louis Exposition.

The youthful husband himself could neither spare the money nor the time to accompany her to the Fair. At last, after many tears and protestations, the wife consented to go with her parent. It was agreed that to the end that hubby might know she was thinking of him "every minute," she was to send him frequent telegrams from various places en route to St. Louis.

The evening of the day of her departure the young husband in Brooklyn received the following telegram from his wife at a point in western Pennsylvania. It was in accordance with their agreement, sent collect: "My darling John. Arrived here safely at fifteen minutes after four. The train was due earlier, but we were delayed for some reason or other. Had a perfectly lovely journey. Please do not worry about your little wife; for she will get along all right. And take good care of yourself. Be careful about your eyes, and be sure to have the house open and aired as much as possible. Remember what I told you about ordering from the grocery. Do not forget to keep the basement door locked. Write every day. I am sure I shall have a lovely time. So good of you to let me go. Ever your loving wife, Genevieve."

In reply the husband wired his wife as follows: "If you wire me from Cincinnati I am ruined."—Collier's Weekly.

E. D. Briggs, of Ashland, has taken a bond on the Golden Wedge property, Galilee creek, Josephine county, for himself and outside capitalists. The owners were Thiem Bros., and the consideration is $15,000. Considerable work has been done and a two-stamp prospecting mill is on the group. The new owners intend doing a large amount of work on the property immediately and expect to erect a larger mill at an early date.

BIG SALE REPORTED.

A BIG sale of mining property is reported from the Myrtle Creek mining district. The Continental Mining Company has purchased the Hall mine for $25,000. Mr. Stewart of Portland says that there is milling ore enough in sight to produce $300,000.

B. M. Armitage, the principal owner of the Yellow Jacket mine, is in Portland, reorganizing his company.

Estee, of Colorado Spring, has bonded two claims, one of which is the Rattler. At least two mills will be built during the coming season in this district, and matters are moving lively at this time. The Hall mine has been operated for several years, and satisfactory tests of the ore have been made by shipping the product to various smelters.—Telegram.

Will Hold Convention.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 27, 1905. The Oregon Development League will hold a convention in the city of Portland, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4th and 5th.

There are now fifty-one regularly organized bodies holding membership in the Oregon Development League, and this makes it the largest and best organized state body in the union—there is no other state organization in the United States which can compare with it in completeness of representation.

The following towns, embracing every section of Oregon, are represented in the State League by local organizations: Albany, Arlington, Ashland, Astoria, Baker City, Burns, Condon, Corvallis, Cottage Grove, Dallas, Drain, Echo, Elgin, Enterprise, Estacada, Eugene, Fairview, Forest Grove, Grants Pass, Harrisburg, Heppner, Hillsboro, Hood River, Huntington, Independence, Ione, Irrigon, Jefferson, Joseph, Junction City, Klamath Falls, La Grande, Lebanon, Marshfield, McMinnville, Medford, Myrtle Creek, Newberg, North Bend, North Yamhill, Oakland, Ontario, Oregon City, Pendleton, Portland, Prineville, Roseburg, Salem, The Dalles, Union and Vale.

The general officers are as follows: President, E. L. Smith, Hood River; Secretary and Treasurer, Tom Richardson, Portland; Vice Presidents, F. J. Blukely, Roseburg; A. Bennett, Irrigon; F. W. Waters, Salem; J. H. Aikin, Huntington; J. Q. A. Bowley, Astoria.

A reception will be tendered the League by the Portland Commercial Club. The railroad rates for the occasion will be announced later.

The active officers of the league are determined that this gathering shall result in a plan being decided upon that will insure all the different interests of Oregon being so represented on the grounds of the Lewis and Clark Exposition as to enable every visitor to get reliable data regarding any portion of this state upon any subject. Homeseekers are now visiting every part of Oregon and there will be many thousands coming here during the Fair, who will desire to investigate the different sections of the state, and it is the purpose of the League to be of assistance to such homeseekers.

A complete program is being arranged and will be given out later. A dollar dinner given by the members of the League has been discussed, but is not yet definitely decided upon.

The Kansas senate has voted down the proposition to extend suffrage to women. The senators are still in session each one afraid to go home.

A CHICAGO ALDERMAN OWES HIS ELECTION TO CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

"I can heartily and confidently recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lung," says Hon. John Schenck, 230 So. Dear St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overworked, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak about it. In my excitement a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several more doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I think this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by The Modern Pharmacy.
