After two or three years experience with a Commercial Club at Forest Grove, the citizens became tired and so decided that they might better derive revenue from the traffic and at their last election elected "wet" council. A license has since been granted to A. G. Watson and he is erecting a saloon on a Main street vacant lot. Now the president and trustees of Pacific University have filed a complaint in the Circuit Court for an injunction restraining the issuance of a license to Mr. Watson. Forest Grove has never had a saloon because the original townsite deeds, granted by the trustees of Pacific University and Tualatin Academy contain a prohibitory clause. The "Commercial Club" with a membership of about 100, managed to evade the prohibition laws. Many believed that the town might as well derive a revenue from the traffic. The decision of the court will be watched for with much interest. — Springfield News.

The second game is known as Progressive Initial, which after quite a spirited contest the first prize was won by Mrs. F. D. Wheeler. H. O. Thompson succeeded in securing the consolation prize; a small toy lamp, suggestive of procuring more light upon the subject.

Following the close of games a splendid lunch was partaken of and the guests after bidding Mr. and Mrs. Lundy goodbye with the wish they might soon have occasion to re-visit the city, took their departure.

The Commercial Club held a very interesting meeting on Monday night.

Geo. W. Lloyd was elected a member. A number of communications were received.

One from the Oregon State League asking that delegates from the club, be appointed to attend a meeting to be held in Portland in April, at which time ways and means would be devised to properly advertise the state during the Fair. The president appointed any and all members who could arrange to attend.

Another from the Bohemia Mine Owners' Association, concerning the arranging for some one to look after the Bohemia exhibit during the Fair and desiring the co-operation of the club. It was decided to ask one or more of the committee of the association to visit the club and confer upon the matter.

A communication from S. C. Bartram, Forest Supervisor, was read which stated that owing to sickness he was unable to be present but would come on request of club. Mr. Bartram will be invited to be present at next Monday night's meeting.

A committee consisting of T. K. Campbell, B. Lurch and O. H. Thompson, was appointed to draft a resolution to the jobbers in Portland concerning the local railroad rates and ask their co-operation in securing a reduction.

A list of questions to be answered by club members, concerning the resources and industries of Cottage Grove and vicinity was submitted.

Following the regular meeting the coming city election was discussed and Thursday night was designated for further consideration.

Had No Significance.

In a conversation with Mr. G. B. Hengen just prior to his departure for the east he stated the recent trip of himself and manager A. B. Wood to Coos county had no significance. That the weather being pleasant they concluded to spend a few days in seeing that portion of Oregon with which they were very well pleased. He said the talk of extending the O. & S. E. railroad or of the building of an electric line was not contemplated by himself and friends, they having all the business on hand they desired at the present time.
