Dr. W. W. Oglesby went to Salem Monday on business.

Engraving done free on all goods purchased at H. C. Madsen's.

Rev. A. M. Sweeney will preach at the Christian Church next Sunday.

Andrew Marks of Deep River, Iowa, arrived here Saturday morning.

Geo. Atkinson and family arrive here from Victor, Iowa Saturday morning.

Oat hay $12 per ton, rolled barley, $1.05 per sack at the Cottage Grove Flour Mill.

Milne & Baker last week sold to L. J. Reunstrom of Mora, Minn. the Newcomb place east of town.

Miss Sophie Hartley of Corvallis is visiting with her brother and sister Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hartley.

Fred Byrne has been up to Bohemia this week inspecting the work that has been done on the Grizzly property during the winter.

There promises to be a heavy clip of wool in Oregon this year. Wool buyers are already gathering in Pendleton to commence work.

It is expected by the management of the Lewis and Clark exposition that there will be a total attendance of over two millions paid admissions.

The many friends of Miss Flossie Lockwood will be pleased to learn that she has secured a good position as teacher in the Tacoma public schools.

Down the valley there is a new industry and that is the gathering of roots of the wild grape, which is sold to the wholesale drug houses for medicinal purposes.

Lumbermen report that the Willamette is as low now as it is in the summer months, but with a few good rains it will come up enough to float the logs down to the mills.

To see the wild flowers that are picked and brought into town every day makes an easterner think it is the month of May instead of bleak March weather they are having back there.

The low rates on the trans-continental roads have brought many new faces to Cottage Grove and Lane county and all express themselves as being favorably impressed with the country.

The grand jury of Baker county have returned over one hundred indictments against saloon-keepers, and more are expected every day. The saloon men are very bitter toward Sheriff Brown.

Mrs. Cottle and her daughter Ethel, were visited Saturday by Mrs. Catherine Smith and daughter Nellie of Eugene, where Miss Smith is employed in the large Hampton store. They returned to their home on Monday.

Mr. J. H. Gay, a retail lumber dealer of Central Point, Oregon, was in this city this week for the purpose of purchasing lumber for his yards. He found what he was after as he purchased from the Chambers mill several car loads which will soon be shipped. Mr. Gay states that there are many new comers to this section of the country and where land is offered at reasonable prices purchases are made.

All kinds of engraving done at H. C. Madsen's.

Two seated covered back for sale, cheap. For particulars call at Lurch's store.

There is some person in Cottage Grove that is missing a good thing, so we will put them next. And it is this: there are a good many pigeons in the town and their squads are worth $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen in the Portland market. As they hatch two birds a month for eleven months of the year there is money in raising them for the market.

Seeing is believing. There was brought to the Oregonian office yesterday a fresh bunch of alfalfa, not less than ten inches long, plucked two days ago on a Willamette Valley farm in Linn county. The field was of thirteen acres; it is the third year of its growth; there is no irrigation whatever, and the alfalfa has been pastured by sheep nearly all the winter. Let our farmer friends go and do likewise. The time for experiment is past; the day for practice is right now.—Oregonian.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

There will be services at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and evening. At the morning service the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be celebrated. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. The C. E. Society will celebrate Fanny Crosby's birthday. Everybody invited to attend, strangers and sojourners always welcome.

Demonstrated the Goods.

Last Saturday forenoon Mr. J. S. Hunt representing the Peters Cartridge Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, gave before a large number of citizens on a vacant tract of ground just west of the city, and exhibition of expert shooting for the purpose of demonstrating the efficiency of the cartridges made by that company. Tests were made at shooting through five-eights washers; also at blue rocks and other articles.

Those present were pleased with the work done and became more thoroughly convinced of the reliability and virtues of the Peters goods than ever before. Mr. B. E. Brockbank, traveling agent for the Pacific Hardware and Sporting Goods Company accompanied him and rendered assistance in the exhibition. Griffin & Veatch, agents, Cottage Grove.

Commercial Club

The Commercial Club held its regular meeting Monday night.

After the regular order of business matters of importance which have been before the Club for some time were discussed.

A telegram from Forest Supervisor Bertram was received stating he was detained in Portland but would try to be at the next meeting.

The resolution prepared by the committee to the Portland jobbers, concerning the local freight rates was read and indorsed by the Club. The committee that has had the cream-ry matter under advisement for some time, reported it was still considering the matter and was granted further time. Adjourned to meet Monday night when all members are requested to be present.

Myrtle Katherine Trevitt.

The Ladies Circle, W. O. W. have arranged for a splendid entertainment on next Monday evening at Woodmen hall.

They have secured the presence of Miss Myrtle Trevitt upon that occasion.

The lady has a national reputation as a reader and impersonator and the event promises to be one of the best ever presented in the city.

The "Iowa City Republican" says: Miss Trevitt rendered a program of superior excellence—an artist whose work was thoroughly enjoyed—every number encored. Admission 25 cents.

Nugget Weather Forecast.

For the next two months it will during the day time, rain or be clear according to local conditions; at night it is likely to be dark or light, which will depend largely on the moon's phases and the amount of fog or clouds. By a little attention to the foregoing the farmer can get in his crops; also spend a part of the time in town.

N. B.—Most weather prognosticators, prognosticate for a year, but the weather man of the Nugget does not feel safe in foretelling more than two months at this season of the year.

W. O. W.

At the last regular session of Bohemia Camp No. 260, by an unanimous vote, a vote of thanks was extended to the ladies and gentlemen, also to neighbors J. C. Huff and D. H. Bibble for their assistance and work at the recent District Convention in making it a success, and that a copy of same be published in the city papers.

Methodist Episcopal Church

Series of meetings will be begun on next Sunday and continue during the week. Further detail will be announced later in the week. The pastor will have assistance not later than Monday.

DIED

YOUNG—Charles Albert Young, aged 19 years 5 months and 11 days, died at the residence of his parents, about two miles west of the city on last Saturday.

The funeral services were conducted by Reverend C. H. Wallace at the Christian Church Sunday forenoon. There was a large number of the family in attendance at the services.

The young man came here with his parents about three years ago. The pall bearers were young men of about his own age.

Any parties caught trespassing on my premises with dog or gun will be prosecuted.

D. G. McFARLAND.

INVALIDABLE FOR RHEUMATISM I have been suffering for the past few years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction and tended to alleviate my pain. March 24, '02. John C. Dezman, Elmhurst, Ill. Price, 50c and $1.00 Sold by The Modern Pharmacy.

The West—The Nation's Hope.

It is evident that Collier's, though a New York paper, believes profoundly in the West. In its issue of March 4, it says:

The West has led in the movement, now gaining mass and speed, the power of money to make and beat the law. It has inspired Roosevelt, and it has produced most men of the class to which, in various aspects, belong La Follette, Folk, Bryan and Tom Johnson, and it is making the principal experiments in municipal and state resistance to monopoly. Kansas, a very hotbed of Western ardor, vim and carelessness of tradition, has thrown her gauntlet into the face of Standard Oil, that greatest octopus of all. The land applauds and blesses her.

The East Oregonian sums it up thusly:

The newspapers are the pack mules for the community.

They carry loads for every private enterprise that is found in the city; they boom private business day and night; they give column after column to churches, societies, commercial clubs, labor unions and organizations of business men, fight battles for the city without hope of reward excepting the good will of the community, and make enemies for themselves by defending citizens and institutions and run a general free advertising bureau for the community that is only equaled in scope by the free soup houses run by the Salvation Army.

All these things are part of the load of the willing pack mule and he never complains at the weight of the load.

But he does complain when business men give forage that rightfully belongs to the pack mule to some other fellow who is not entitled to it. When money goes out of town for job work or goes to some transient concern that does not fight the battles of the community, then the pack mule has a right to complain. When you have any forage to give out give it to the newspapers, the pack mules that carry your loads while others sleep.

We have only a few in Cottage Grove to whom this would apply; still there are some!
