Commercial Club.

The Commercial club held its regular meeting Monday night. Reports of various committees were received.

A committee appointed to prepare matter for distribution report progress.

B. Phillips chairman of committee to arrange for entertainment of Volunteer Firemen reported Thursday night May 4th had decided upon for that occasion.

H. Rosenberg owing to his resignation accepted a position with the Kelly Lumber Co. at Coburg named as secretary. Mr. H. O. Simpson was elected to fill the vacancy.

Rockefellers Money.
New York minister is so excited by Frenzied Finance that he proposes to investigate the pedigree money offered for philanthropic purposes, especially the money of John Rockefeller.

He prescribes free salvation to all without inquiring into their antecedents. In fact, he tells them they are totally depraved, but can be washed white as snow by taken into the church soul body, by a little repentance, their money that troubles him. He don't see how hard coin is to be formed by putting it to good use.

His minister cannot accept the money of John D. Rockefeller for church and philanthropic work, though he has been himself taken the Baptist church. His money, both, is tainted by conclusion railroads. Logically, we would suppose he would refuse the money of the Vanderbilts and other names in the collusion. But money appears to be clean.

His minister should take lessons in common sense from the frontier missionary. Old-timers in Leadville will remember Parson Uzell, was a reformed gambler. His torian voice reverberated over the Carbonate hills and down valley of Malta. His zeal and his prayers were good for the land.

On his way to Leadville he stopped at Buenavista, then a rustic camp. He asked the owner of gambling and dance hall to let hold a meeting. "Certainly, I will keep order." He put a sign on the stage for a pulpit, then the dinner bell and the hall filled. "Now, boys, listen to parson." Then, holding up a silver, "the first man to make a urbanance, down he goes." The son gave them a stirring talk.

"Now," said Jones, the saloon man, "standing to one of his bunco men, stand at the door with your hand and make every son-of-a-gun in a dollar." and the parson at on his way to Leadville with all pocket.

He quickly began the erection of Methodist church. He canvassed sporting fraternity. He knew how to take them. They must give their money do some good, never obtained. He had begun services in the church with bare walls and benches and started subscription to complete it. "Put up my friends, Jones, the bunco man, for $10."

He was right. He believed in his own even the devil's to serve the Lord's work. That was his principle and doctrine, and rather necessary on the frontier, for money had not come in overmuch, would seem good policy in older localities.

We are glad to say this minister is not insinuate that contract with roleum is an evil association, referred only to the manner of handling. Of course the world knows that petroleum is a great physical and moral antiseptic.

The ministers of the West would do some of Mr. Rockefeller's money for any good work in our state. Out west we think of hard money in the abstract. We don't favor participation in raising it in lawful ways, as in a church raffle, for instance. A dollar with Uncle Sam's stamp on it, "In God we trust," is a dollar, and remote lineage cannot detract from its power do good. It sheds its history at west as quickly as a caterpillar runs into a butterfly.—Picks and shills.

NEW FURNACE IS TO BE AT THE FAIR

Manager Dennis Will Exhibit His Mercury Smelter for Public Inspection.

MANAGER W. B. Dennis of the Blackbutte quicksilver mine, Lane county, owning the largest mercury property in the northwest and perhaps the largest ever opened in this country, has completed his new furnace. Tests have been given the plant, and it is stated by those who were favored with the privilege of witnessing the first work, that the furnace is successful. Details have not been furnished the public yet, but will soon be, as Manager Dennis has concluded to put a working model on exhibition at the Lewis and Clark fair. While this exhibit will not be large, it will have sufficient size to illustrate the principle employed by Manager Dennis in his new smelting process, and will have the additional value to the laity of giving an insight into the metallurgy of quicksilver, of which little is known in the northwest.

The Black Butte has been equipped for several years with Scott continuous furnace, the type used in California. When the Black Butte owner began experimenting with a change from this, it was with the purpose of attaining greater mechanical efficiency, while not departing radically from the old principle of volatilizing values and precipitating them in a settling chamber. The Black Butte has an immense reserve of low grade cinnabar, alongside of the higher grade of material, and it was for the purpose of perfecting some plant that would handle the entire mass at a profit that the experiments were commenced. Mr. Dennis set to work to evolve a furnace that would enable him to smelt an average ore carrying three-tenths of one per cent mercury. When he has achieved this, the engineering fraternity of the entire country will be eager to know how the Oregon man has attained such results, and hence his exhibit at the fair will have as great interest as any work done there for the mining industry.

Memorial Day

Appomattox Post, G. A. R. members are already making preparations for Memorial day—the 30th of May.

The various organizations in the city will be invited to take part in the parade and exercises. The usual afternoon services will be held in the Opera house or one of the churches.

Trout Eggs Hatching.

The rainbow trout eggs imported by Tom Aubrey from Verdi, Nevada, arriving here on the 17th, have been dying at a rapid rate since their arrival.

But few died on the way, but the loss has been about 300 per day for the past few days. Old hatcherymen who inspected the hatchery and mode of handling were at a loss to account for the loss of eggs, as everything seemed in perfect order, the most modern apparatus being used.

After a few days the problem was solved by the sudden appearance of hundreds of what appeared to be miniature pink tadpoles, but in reality were young trout which since have been hatching out at a lively rate.

The trout eggs which are very delicate, and which should not be handled for two or three weeks previous to their hatching, much less being shipped for several hundred miles, were by some misunderstanding shipped too far along toward their maturity, hence the heavy loss.

While the loss will be considerable, a good portion have hatched out and are doing well, and stand a fair show of becoming one of our chief attractions to fishermen in the years to come.

Contract to Let.

Wanted to let contract for burning 100,000 to 200,000 brick at Black Butte mine. Address or call on W. B. Dennis, Blackbutte, Lane Co., Oregon.

Rational Request for a Lower Rate.

Repeated efforts have been made to induce the transcontinental lines to rescind their present rules governing double loads and the removal of the 10 cents per hundred pounds additional tariff which now applies. The financial reasons governing the lumbermen's requests are entirely in favor of the railroads from the standpoint of revenue. For example: Take a load of 60-foot sticks which require two 40,000 capacity cars to transport. These cars can only be loaded to two-thirds of their capacity, or a trifle over 53,000 pounds, which at 50 cents per hundred equals $266.67. If the railroads would permit 50 per cent of the load to be short stuff and the balance long timbers, bringing the cars up to their maximum loading capacity of say 40,000 pounds, the earnings of the two cars loaded in this manner would be $520, as against $266.67, or a net gain to the railroad of $253.33. The reduction in the price of the freight would incidentally benefit the lumberman in two ways—by being able to ship timbers to a greater distance, thereby enlarging the market, and save the lumbermen several dollars per thousand in freight. In the inaugurating of tariffs governing certain commodities, where the most ludicrous inequalities are maintained, it is often impossible to reason out the causes which prompted their initiation, except, in the language of Topsy, they just "grewed."—The Timberman.

ONE MORE GOOD COUGAR

has secured some "cougar" dogs and upon request, the eldest boy took them to the Hawley place, where they caught the scent and within a mile, had the cougar in a tree. Wm, a son of Mr. Hawley, following closely with his rifle, with a shot brought it to the ground but only in a wounded condition. It at once tried to escape but the dogs set upon it and for a few minutes there was a general mixup of dogs and cougar. As soon as he could, young Hawley put another bullet in the right place, which finished the beast.

Three of the dogs were badly bitten and lacerated but will likely get well. The dead animal, which measured nearly nine feet was carried to the house and the hide soon stretched on the grass.

The little Damewood boys are quite proud of their dogs and wanted our informant to be sure and tell the Nugget man, it was their dogs that assisted in the good work of ridding the locality of such a big cougar.

The re-organization of the canal commission is at last an accomplished fact and it is believed that the new men will be stronger and more effective as they are nearly all younger than those whom they have succeeded. The best available engineering talent in the country have been brought to the work. Whether it will be a lock canal or a sea level canal has not been definitely decided, but since the price will run into hundreds of millions the country is entitled to the best canal that can be built for money. Of the seven commissioners in chief four are experts in constructive work, Wallace, Haines, Endicott and Earnest. Burr and Parsons as members of the Advisory Board indicate President Roosevelt's desire to have the most available men in the profession. Here are six engineers of great reputation as constructors and administrators of great enterprises. They have done much in the past in similar work and will bring to this enterprise theoretical learning ripened by experience. In choosing as a head of the commission a private citizen the president has gone to a railroad and selected a man who has demonstrated executive ability and whose capacity as a supervisor is well known in an analogous field. The American people now expect progress.

Roosevelt's Old Buggy.

Richard Johnson of Minot, N. D. owns a buggy which was used by Theodore Roosevelt on his Maltese Cross ranch in North Dakota nearly twenty-five years ago. The buggy had been in use for fifteen years prior to the time young Mr. Roosevelt used it. Mr. Johnson will send the old vehicle to the Lewis and Clark Exposition as an exhibit. Many of the trappings used by Roosevelt during his two year's sojourn in Dakota have been preserved by his admirers. One of those relics is a dinky little old straw hat which looks very funny now, but it was the New York City style when the young man wore it out to Dakota in 1881. Efforts are being made to send this hat and other Roosevelt relics from North Dakota to the Exposition.
