

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. The chorus is sung by millions.

"Before using Ayer's Hair Vigor I had very thin and very poor hair. But I continued to use the Vigor until my hair greatly improved in every way. I have used it off and on for the past ten years."—Mrs. M. DUMMOND, Newark, N. J.

Helen Keller With a Rose.
(Picture in January, 1905 Century.)
Others may see that; I behold thee not; Yet most I think thee, beauteous blossom, mine:
For I, who walk in shade, like Prosperpine—
Things once too briefly looked on, long forgot—
Seem by some tender miracle divine,
When breathing thee, apart,
To hold the rapturous summer warm within my heart.

We understand each other, thou and I! Thy velvet petals laid against my cheek,
Thou feelest all the voiceless things I speak,
And to my yearning makest mute reply:
Yet a more special good of thee I seek,
For God who made—oh, kind!
Beauty for one and all, gave fragrance for the blind!
—Florence Earle Coates in July Century

The Woman of It.
Husband—But you must admit that my taste is better than yours.
Wife—Yes, of course it is.
Husband—I'm surprised to hear you say so.
Wife—Oh, there is nothing surprising about it. The mere fact that you married me and I married you proves that your taste is much better than mine.

FLASHES OF FUN

"Say, pap, what's a floating debt?" "Your mother on her annual trip to Europe."—Town Topics.

"Can you tell me the quickest way to get to the postoffice?" "Yes; run."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Johnnie—Mummy, I just feel ill all over, somehow. Mother—Where do you feel it the most? Johnnie—in school.—Half-Holiday.

Vicar's Daughter—Well, John, I see you are looking as young as ever. John—Yes, miss, thankye. An' they tell me I'll soon be an octogenarian.—Punch.

"Do you take an interest in society?" "No," answered Mr. Cumrox, "I make the investments, but mother and the girls take all the interest."—Washington Star.

"You're such a wretched writer it's a wonder you wouldn't get a typewriting machine." "I would, only that would show what a miserable speller I am."—Philadelphia Press.

Miss Ascum—I've often wondered, Mr. Rymes, why you poets always speak of the moon as "silver." Mr. Rymes—Well—er—I suppose it's because of the quarters and halves.—Philadelphia Press.

Fat Gentleman (gasps)—W-what do you m-mean by making m-me run after the car so? I'll probably die of apoplexy! Polite Conductor—Yes, sir. Transfer to some car going past the morgue, sir?—Ex.

Mr. Slack—Johnny, don't ever let me hear you talk that way again! I won't have slang used in this house! Johnny—But, pa, I—Mr. Slack—Cut it out or I'll band you one, see!—Browning's Magazine.

The Dentist—I'll have to charge you two dollars and a half for pulling that tooth. The Patient—Oh thought yez charged fifty cents? The Dentist—Yes; but you yelled so loud you scared four other patients out of the place.—Judge.

Husband—Have you heard of the latest cure for nervous prostration? Wife—No. What is it? Husband—The patient isn't allowed to talk. Wife—Pooh! One might as well die from prostration as exasperation.—Illustrated Bits.

RARE STAMPS ON OLD LETTERS.

Finds of Value Sometimes Made—Stamps to Look Out For.

"Never burn up or throw away old letters or papers without first giving them a careful examination," advised a Twenty-third street stamp dealer, "for there's many an apparently worthless piece of paper that bears a stamp which would bring in open market hundreds and maybe thousands of dollars.

"There are plenty of the old postmaster stamps still in existence, for instance, as there were a great many of them originally issued, and it has not been so long ago, say fifty-five years, when they were in active use. Now, any one of these early issues is worth from $300 up. Any one who has access to old files of correspondence from 1840 to 1865 ought to hunt for such stamps.

"The chief reason why more of these old stamps have not come to light is probably that they have so ordinary and unattractive an appearance that a person unacquainted with their value would not waste a second glance upon them. They were very similar in most cases to the postmaster cancellation marks now in use in the postoffice, with the exception that the postmaster was required to sign his name to them.

"The rarest of the whole lot of postmaster issues is the 10-cent Baltimore stamp, with the name of James M. Buchanan. One specimen of this stamp sold for $4,400, which is the record price for a stamp of United States issue. There's no reason in the world why there shouldn't be more of these stamps packed away somewhere. In the case of this stamp none of them was used on envelopes, but all on letters.

"The design of the Baltimore stamp is a box made of hair line rule, one and a half inches long and half an inch wide. In the center is the signature, 'James M. Buchanan,' while under the name is the denomination, either 5 or 10 cents. There are two kinds of these stamps, in black or blue. The 10-cent black is the scarcer.

"Next to this series probably comes the New Haven stamp, at the bottom of which is the signature of 'E. A. Mitchell, P. M.' In the center is the figure 5 with the word 'Paid' directly underneath. At the top are the words 'Post Office, New Haven, Ct.' The words are all inclosed in a black border with a small curve at the corners."—New York Sun.

PHONE AID TO MATRIMONY.
Girl with One in Her Home Always Popular with Young Men.

It is needless to say that the telephone is a great institution, says the Utica Press. It has long been an absolute essential in every place of business. Just now there is a great increase in the number of phones in private houses. It is possible to talk with pretty much everybody at his or her home. The companies are evidently endeavoring to boom that branch of their business, because they are advertising it extensively. The other day a St. Louis paper had a big display ad. at the top of which was a picture of an attractive young lady telephoning and represented as saying: "Is that you, Harry?" The text beneath it includes this statement: "It is a well-known fact that the girl who has a telephone is the girl who has the most friends, and consequently has the best time."

This appeal to the young people is adroit, and doubtless will serve to make the St. Louis exchange bigger and busier. The parents who have marriageable daughters will do well to consider this ingenious contrivance and modern aid to matrimony. It is something of a bother for a young man to call or even to write a note asking the young lady to go to the theater, go for a walk or drive or a ride to the park, but if he can transmit the message by telephone it is an easy way of making an appointment. Many a delicious message is telephoned these days, and there is reason to believe the statement made by the St. Louis company. It applies, of course, with equal force in every American city. The young ladies for whom a life of single blessedness has no charms are not exactly buying a lottery ticket when they hire a phone. They can get much pleasure and comfort out of it as they go along, for it is a constant contributor to convenience. It is worth the price, with the enhanced matrimonial possibility thrown in as an extra inducement.

Arabia's Laughing Plant.
There is a curious plant that grows in Arabia and is known by the name of "Laughing plant." This name comes from the fact that any one who eats its seeds cannot control his laughter. The natives of the district where this funny plant grows dry the seeds and reduce them to powder. A small dose of this powder makes those who eat it act much like those who drink more liquor than is good for them. The soberest person will dance, shout and laugh like a madman, and rush about cutting up the most ridiculous capers for an hour. At the end of this time the reaction comes. The dancer is exhausted and a deep sleep comes upon him. After a nap of several hours he awakens with no recollection of the antics he has performed.

The Boy.
McCall—Who is that youngster? Merchant—Merely our new office boy.
McCall—Oh, I see. His face seemed familiar.
Merchant—Perhaps it is, but his manner is more so.—Philadelphia Press.

The poorest thing you can offer a friend is an excuse.

THE BEST TONIC

When the system gets debilitated and in a run-down condition it needs a tonic and there has never been one discovered that is the equal of S. S. S. It is especially adapted for a systemic remedy, because it contains no strong minerals to derange the stomach and digestion, and affect the liver and bowels. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks selected for their purifying and healing qualities, and possesses just the properties that are needed to restore to the body strong robust health. When the blood becomes impure and clogged with waste matters and poisons the body does not receive sufficient nourishment and suffers from debility, weakness, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion and many other disagreeable symptoms of a disordered blood circulation, and if it is not corrected some form of malignant fever or other dangerous disorder will follow. S. S. S. builds up the broken down constitution, clears the blood of all poisons and impurities and makes it strong and healthy. The nerves are restored to a calm restful state, refreshing sleep is had again, the appetite returns and the whole system is toned up by this great remedy. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic and acts promptly in this run-down depleted condition of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice furnished by our physicians, without charge.

Fly-Leaf Memoranda.
Every now and then you will find in some periodical an item relating to the subject of a book in which you are interested. It is a good plan to enter on the fly-leaf a reference to this passage, so that you may find it again when needed. Such notes, neatly written in pencil, do no harm, and will often save you much time. You may in the same way make notes of the numbers of pages in which you have been specially interested. A correspondent writes to us asking whether we recommend "marking books." To this extent we certainly do, provided the book is not so fine an edition that it should be kept as spotless as can be. Besides, very light pencil notes can be removed in a moment without harm to any page. But the marking of books that extends to disfiguring them will never be done by any one who realizes how long a good book may continue to delight new readers, and to bring them help in right living and thinking.—St. Nicholas.

Meindert Hobbema.
Very little is known of Hobbema's life. He appears to have been born at Amsterdam in 1638, but, as we have seen, other towns claimed to be his birthplace. It is probable that he was the pupil of Jacob van Ruysdael, and certain that he lived in Amsterdam. He died poor, his last lodging being in the Roosevelt, the street in which Rembrandt, also poor, had died forty years before. His works were little appreciated in Holland until nearly a hundred years after his death, and most of them found their way to England.—St. Nicholas.

From Bad to Worse.
The Lady—Well, Marie, have you found the ornament for my hair yet?
The Maid—Yes, ma'am. But I've mislaid your hair, and now I can't find that.

Quite Proficient.
Jack—Your friend Miss Gushery is always using slang phrases, isn't she?
Edyth—Yes, indeed. She is quite familiar with the English language.

If a bride should by chance see a coffin as she starts off on her wedding tour she should order the driver of the carriage to turn back and start over again.

Miss Genevive May, 1317 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., Member Second High School Alumni Ass'n, writes:
"Peruna is the finest regulator of a disordered stomach I have ever found. It certainly deserves high praise, for it is skillfully prepared.
"I was in a terrible condition from a neglected case of catarrh of the stomach. My food had long ceased to be of any good and only distressed me after eating. I was nauseated, had heartburn and headaches, and felt run down completely. But in two weeks after I took Peruna I was a changed person. A few bottles of the medicine made a great change, and in three months my stomach was cleared of catarrh, and my entire system in a better condition."—Genevive May.
