Match-Making Machine.

In the latest match making machine the wood from which the match splints are made is pine plank, two inches thick, which, after thorough drying, is re-sawed into lengths from one to seven-eighths to two and one-half inches, representing the length of the matches to be made. The knots and cross grained parts are cut out of the blocks and these blocks are put into the automatic feeder of a machine, the paraffine and composition for the head of the match having been properly prepared and placed in their respective receptacles, where they can be replenished without stopping the machine. The knives or dies that cut the match splint from the blocks are so placed in head block of the machine that when the splints are cut they are separated by a quarter of an inch, and placed or set in cast-iron plates made into an endless chain by link attachments. At each revolution of the machine 44 matches are cut and set, the machine making 175 to 250 revolutions a minute. From the cutting end of the machine the endless chain moves along over a drying or heating block prepared for this purpose where the match splint is heated to a degree nearly equal to that required to melt paraffine so that the paraffine may not chill on the stick when the splint passes through it, but that the end may be thoroughly saturated. The chain moves on to the composition rollers where the match receives its head, and then comes into contact with blasts of cool dry air for an hour and a half when it returns to the place of beginning, just before reaching which the matches are punched out of the chain by an automatic device into small paper or strawboard boxes varying in size containing 65 to 500 matches, the boxes having been fed into the machine automatically. Two million or more paper or strawboard boxes are consumed each day in the packing of matches in this country. One million and a half pounds of chlorate of potash are consumed annually in the manufacture of matches.

Reign of Electricity.

Prophets foresee a time when electricity, generated by water power, will reduce all metalliferous ores in the smelting process. Such an advance would have wonderful meaning for the Pacific Northwest, where smelting fields are scant but where nature has surcharged the country with economic power possibilities. Electricity is required in the reduction of aluminum. Scientists believe it has no inherent difficulties in any smelting process. Experiments have been made on the largest scale with iron ores but when success is attained there it should follow quickly that all metalliferous ores could be reduced likewise. Lake Superior district is witnessing important experiments in this work, on both sides of the boundary, and the time may not be distant when smelting will be vastly simplified in our favored Northwest.

Mary J. Storms.

Mary J. Storms was born in Salem, New Jersey, April 9, 1822 and moved to various towns in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana with her parents and was married to D. B. White, Dec. 11, 1838. In 1852 they started for Oregon, and on their way stopped in Iowa until the spring of 1853, when with her husband and six children she resumed her long journey across the plains, enduring the trials and hardships encountered on the way. After leaving the main trail at Malheur River, Oregon they came by a new and untried way, which finally led them into the Willamette Valley down the middle fork of the Willamette River by Pleasant Hill, where the Military road is now, and settled on a donation claim, four miles south of Cottage Grove on the Coast Fork river, in the fall of the same year. She was the mother of eight children, two of them being born in Oregon. Her husband and five children preceeded her to the spirit land. Three children survive her, a son, being located in California, another son living on the old donation claim where she died and a daughter, the wife of J. H. Sharp. She died Sept. 6, 1905, aged 83 years, 4 months and 27 days. She was a member of the Church of Christ, a christian indeed doing nobly her part in building her home, the schools, the church and the state.

A noble woman has laid her amour by to receive the well done from the Heavenly Father whom she loved and served so well. Sweeney.

Adolph Wunder, a German Citizen, Relates His Experience With Dr. Darrin

To the Editor:—After hearing and reading of so many cures by Dr. Darrin, I concluded to try him for deafness in one ear, though I had little faith in his mode of treatment by electricity. On my way to his office I could not hear the noise of the street cars or wagons rolling over the stone pavements. After treatment I am able to hear without difficulty, the church services, the ticking of a watch or a pin drop and all sounds of life. I wish you to publish this, as it may give others courage to have the new treatment. I consider the cure a little short of a miracle. My address is 205 Morrison street. Adolph Wunder Upper Alhambra, Ore. Cataract Cases.

Mr. Editor:—This is to certify that my boy has been cured of a loathsome case of cataract of two years' standing by Dr. Darrin. I am pleased to give this card for the benefit of both Dr. Darrin and the afflicted public. I will answer all questions at my place four miles southwest of Eugene. S. M. Watson.

In most cases only one visit is required. Owing to the crowds rushing to see the doctor he will receive patients from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Dr. Darrin remains at the Hotel Smeede, Eugene, until October 1. Dr. Darrin's terms for treatment are $5 a week, or in that proportion of time as the case may require. The poor treated free except medicines from 10 to 11 daily.

Farmers Take Notice, Now is the Time Sanders Disc Plows are Better than Moleboard Plows.

They are lighter draft. They never get hung. No ground is too stony, too rooty, too sticky or too hard to be plowed with a disc plow. There is no side draft. They will break up the hard pan that has been formed by other plows. They will plow deep and take the place of subsoil plows. It never gets too dry to plow with a disc plow. You can sow and plant at the proper time. They will not choke. They will turn under anything in the way of vines, weeds, stocks and stubble. You will be at but little expense for sharpening, and you will not need any repairs for a long time.

GOOD for OLD and YOUNG

We guarantee our plows to do good work in any kind of fallow land and not to break in one year from defect in material. Wynne Hardware Company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart from Star and Miss Pearl Stewart were in Cottage Grove on Monday.

August Flower keeps the children healthy and strong—full of vigor and frolic the whole day long. So when Momma needs more they rush off in high glee. And shout to the druggist: "Please give it to me." Inability to get up brisk and fresh in the morning, lack of appetite, pallor, muddy complexion and poor spirits—these all indicate a disordered stomach and had digestion—in adults and children, too. They also indicate the urgent need of taking Green's August Flower regularly for a few days. It's a reliable old remedy for all stomach troubles, never fails to cure indigestion, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, and is a natural tonic for body and mind. It comes in two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists. Benson's Pharmacy.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus With One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petty jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some some ment and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the box I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us."
