CAPTAIN LOSES CONTROL.
When Valencia Struck, There Was a Mad Rush for Bulls.
Jan. 30, 1913—Marie Francisco, the little daughter of the late Judge Fonty Dehandsell, of New Orleans, was killed in the crash of a train at Colusa, California, on Friday afternoon.

The train from Stockton was stopped at the Colusa station, and the passengers were allowed to leave. As they were leaving, the train was set in motion by the weight of the crowd and ran into a caterpillar, killing the little girl.
