The Petaluma
Incubator

A pretty shrewd business man of Cottage Grove noticing a Petaluma incubator on our floor yesterday, remarked: "Why don't you stick that out in front and label it the 'mortgage raiser'?"

That's a good suggestion. It is a name the incubator has earned, and the good hens who lay the eggs for it, also.

Our incubator sales are highly satisfactory this year and you make more honest money for the time expended with an incubator than most any other way.

Send for some literature and see how it strikes you, or come and see them on our floor.

The Pure Food Co. has been incorporated in this state with a capital of $30,000 with its office at North Bend. The people there think Portland men are back of the new firm and that they will have a great store there soon.

Game warden Baker received a post office order for $20 from a man in California who had written him of having killed a grey squirrel in this state, contrary to the law, and having become converted, desired to right himself in the eyes of the law. The game warden wrote him that the fine was from $15 to $200 but that if he would send $20 the law would be satisfied and the money would be turned over to the preservation of game fund. The man sent the money and said "that was a pretty 'expensive squirrel,' but he was truly converted and wanted to square up. The game warden says "So much more for the game fund."

Uncle Bern Veatch brought in some samples of Oregon Indian turnip, or leopard plant, which is about 10 inches high, and just bursting into bloom, also a stock of orchard grass eighteen inches high that is just beginning to head out. He says this is the greatest growth he has ever seen in this section at this time of the year, in the 52 years he has resided here.

The editor's father is suffering from a severe stroke of paralysis, which almost ended his life last Thursday. While at the present time he is somewhat better, yet his recovery is doubtful. The end of an old man's life, though filled with a succession of untiring efforts for the good of his fellow man, yet fills every heart with sorrow that his years of usefulness should cease so soon.

The Southern Pacific crews are making the cement piers for the new steel bridges and getting right at work. Fifteen new wheel barrows were received here this week for the use of one of the crews. A new bunk car is also being fixed up for the men. A great deal of activity is being felt along the line. While the new steel is laid as far as Saginaw from the south, and the work progressing beyond that, the big oil engines will not be run over this end of the road regularly until the new steel bridges are put in.

J. M. Shelly of Eugene, candidate for State Senator from Lane county was a visitor in the Grove on Monday interesting his friends in his behalf. He does not intend to bind himself down to Statement No. 1 as laid down by Jonathan Bourne of Portland, for he says that the people as a rule do not want any such provision. If he, a Republican is elected to the State Senate and a democrat receives the highest popular vote for the United States Senate, he does not believe that he would be complying with the wishes of the people that elected him if he voted for the democratic senator. He says that the democrat of democrats, Governor Chamberlain, failed to do this very thing, when he had a chance to name the people's choice at the last election, i. e. T. T. Geer but instead named Senator Gearin to succeed the late Senator Mitchell.

A Free Lecture.

The Rev. Homer M. Street will deliver his famous lecture on Prohibition Folly at Cottage Grove on Monday evening, March 5th at the Opera House. His lecture has created a great deal of comment favorable and unfavorable. One says he is inspired raised up of God to do a great work; another says he is an apostate. If he takes up a collection they say he is supported by the saloon. He's a saint and he's a sinner. He's hated and he's loved.

His positions are all strongly fortified by the scriptures and common facts. If the saloons are supporting him they are endorsing more of the word of God than are some of the churches for Rev. Street's positions are thoroughly Biblical and he is in every way a Bible man.
