WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1906

The election this year in Eugene will be based on Municipal Ownership as the principal issue.

Rockefeller is said to be suffering from acute melancholy imagining that he is poor, and being hounded for his debts. It must be very acute.

Geo. A. Steel of Portland is another of the candidates for State Treasurer, and is sending out volumes of literature in that respect.

Just as some of our local weather forecasters predicted the rain came and carried away the snow and now the temperature is much higher.

At last a franchise has been given by the Portland Council which will enable both the United Railways and the Traction Co. to operate their cars through the city.

Portland is to have a big Swift Packing Co. plant and it is now rumored that it will also have an Armour plant. That's it, get everything on earth if you can, but good franchises for the benefit of the city.

Another kerosene victim. A Troutdale girl tried to start a fire with kerosene Monday morning, and was frightfully burned, so that she died a little after noon. It seems that people will never learn that some things are dangerous, no matter how handled.

Mayor Robt. Veatch has filed his announcement of his candidacy for State Senator on the democratic ticket from Lane county, and hopes to be elected. The mayor has ably served the people of the county before in his capacity, and thinks they will stand by him as before.

The "Hoyt Boosters" are getting busy, so they declare to wage a campaign for the nomination of Ralph W. Hoyt of Portland for State Treasurer. He has been treasurer of Multnomah county, and the banks feel very grateful to him for his method of distributing the county funds among the various banks.

Eugene has had a hard time with the fever, and for a time let everybody know her troubles, while the cases were many, and the attacks light, but finally got next, and has been using a press censor recently, since the deaths have begun to occur. While there undoubtedly are not so many sick now, there are many seriously sick and some dying, and the city is taking serious steps to stop the trouble.

Booth Kelley Company were greatly worried over the labor shortage so says the Guard, and that while they have imported two men from the east, they are of the transient class and will not as a rule, make permanent employees. With the great number of railroad extensions being made and the other large public utilities in progress, men are hard to find. Everywhere in the west laborers can work, if they will. Right here in Cottage Grove there are many unemployed men, but everyone of them could find work if he was willing to take such work as is offered, although it might not be what he was accustomed to. When a man is bound to keep busy he can find work anywhere he wants it these days.

We have just received a neat pamphlet from the Biological Department Laboratory of the University of Oregon giving a number of botanical notes and views of some of the flora, peculiar to this section. The University issues many of these bulletins, which are very interesting to students.

Forest Supervisor Bartram of Roseburg is one of the busiest men in the government service. He not only has a large reserve under his care but he has worked up the care of it, until it takes first rank among carefully supervised reserves. Mr. Bartram is very zealous in his work and is doing all he can to see that the government's policy is carried out not only to the letter of the law, but to its very intent, and as such a man, he is very highly held in the governmental service.

Nuggets
South Africa is to have an immense power plant located on the Zambezi River, at a point where 1000 feet of fall can be had and 1,000,000 horse power can be developed with it.

Smoke prevention dates back to the year 1306, when, on account of the extensive use of coal, and in consequence of a representation being made to the king, of the vapors arising therefrom and polluting the atmosphere, a proclamation was issued forbidding its further use in the city of London.

A new quartette has been organized in town to help out in the special meetings to be held in the Methodist church commencing April 1st, with Mr. H. Zarell as first tenor, J. M. Isham, second tenor, J. M. Fisher first bass and Eber Brown second bass. They made their initial appearance at the church Sunday night.

Timber Wolves Become a Pest.

Foster P. Phillips and Mr. Hodges killed a big timber wolf up on Mosby Creek just a few days ago. These wolves are becoming very plentiful and are getting more bold every day in their depredations. They chase the deer down into the streams and then kill them, and they are getting a good many of them right along. Until the state or county places a bounty on the hides of the wolves not enough of them will be killed to keep them back.

London Briefs.

Mrs. Neal is progressing nicely with her class of pupils in vocal and instrumental music. London can justly be proud of having one of the best musicians in Lane county to instruct the young people.

The school two and one-half miles south of London is now in its second week with Miss Pringle of Creswell as teacher.

The Wallace school will start Monday with Miss Stephens of Oakland as teacher.

The recent cold weather has rendered it very difficult for the car bonator at London to keep up its demand for carbonated mineral water on account of freezing up the pipes which hinders the progress of the work very much. The plant will be operated in full force when this March squall passes off and the valley resumes its usual landscape of green.

Mr. Bangardner of Clinton, Indiana, is stopping at London, looking at the country with a view to locating when a suitable location is found. His family is back in old "Hooserdon" waiting the call to come to the land "where rolls the Oregon."

We are glad to say our old time friend A. M. Sweeney is slowly recovering from his illness. Mrs. Sweeney with their son Jerome arrived at J. A. Powell's a few days since from Canada. We welcome them to their old station in our midst.

The fruit buds on a few of our earliest varieties were perhaps a little early this time yet the general crop will be benefitted by being held back until the sun gets a little higher up to stay off Jack Frost.

Our esteemed friend Jacob Warner is quite ill. His trouble seems of a malignant character. We hope for his recovery.

H. C. Neal, the London merchant is bright and cheery, which chimes in with the appearance of his stock of general merchandise which is always well selected and up to date. Call and see his right prices.

The Coast Fork telephone line is about the busiest business association in all the land. It puts one in mind of Sam Jones introduction at Portland. The speaker said this reminds me of an old nigger woman I once knew who weighed about three hundred pounds dressed.

VERITAS,

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

ONE MORE SOCIAL EVENING.
The Commercial Club Monday evening decided to have one more social evening, and appointed as the committee for that night Messrs. Thomson, Cemer, Brund, C. P. Jones, Welch and Wheeler, who are to give this social in the name of the club, for the grand finale of the winter's entertaining.

A letter was read from the "See American League" of Salt Lake and on motion was referred to a special committee of F. J. Hard, C. Paul Jones and Harry Metcalf, who will at once take the matter up.

F. J. Hard, being present after an absence of several months in the East was asked to make some remarks, which he did, speaking of the fact that the East was just beginning to recognize the importance of Oregon and the Northwest, with her vast resources, and possibilities, and that now was the time for the state, and for each Commercial Club to redouble its work in advertising and in sending out literature about this section of the great West. He also spoke upon the work accomplished by the club in ways most generally unnoticed by them, and of the impress which their work made upon the minds of those who heard of Oregon, her farms, her timber, her climate, and her mines, through them.

The bachelors of the Commercial Club entertained the ladies and gentlemen of the club, and a number of the bachelor maidens of the town on last Friday night. Everybody was required to test their guessing powers on a picture contest, and then of course to make love, by telling a love story, and who but a bachelor would have thought of such a thing.

For partners for supper everybody but the old bachelors went on a wild goose chase in which they got their partners, by matching pictures cut in half, the bachelor maidens who happened (?) to fail to get their pictures matched, naturally fell to the lot of the wise old bachelors, who had very thoughtfully provided two or three ladies for each of them, and then proceeded to show them how lavishly they could entertain, serving them with frappe, Nabisco wafers and punch, followed with coffee and cake in abundance. While the boys served well, and treated everyone right up to date they made it evident to the ladies that their assistance would have made a great difference to them.

The evening was one of the jolliest that has been held for some time, and Messrs. Hansen, Scholl, Jenkins and Bruner deserved the thanks of not only the club members, and their ladies, but of the bachelor maidens, as well.

At last the Portland council has given a franchise to the United railway company, but gives the Willamette Traction Company the right to run its cars over the road for $1 per car. The proposition looks very much as though the two companies had gotten together and that the city was the loser thereby, for not having accepted their proposition sooner. The Traction Company has now sold its Salem and Silverton plants, and contracted with the General Electric company to supply power for its road within a given time. The company is getting right down to hard work and has a number of different camps at work on the grade for the new road.

Mr. Lawrence of Comstock came down to town the last of the week to attend to some business matters.

THE LIVER QUARANTINE
"TAKING HIS MEALS OUT."
Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destroying process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver bulks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.

A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness.

In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

Timber for underground supports in mines should not be too heavy. A long-grained timber is more elastic than short-grained; hence such timber is more reliable than beech, oak or short-grained timber, which, although strong, are devoid of elasticity, and hence break short and without warning. Timber that does not give warning before it breaks is dangerous; hence for mine purposes, fir and pine may be recommended, because they have a fairly good elasticity and at the same time are reasonably strong. Of course, very elastic timber must be avoided, because it would simply bend, under the roof pressure; hence would be useless, as well as dangerous.
