Special Correspondence Washington, D. C.

In arguing before the Commerce committee of the Senate for the Oregon rivers and harbors work this year, Senator Fulton produced figures proving that the Government has spent $70,000,000 in such work in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware, with a total area of about 175,000 square miles. He also showed the committee that every large improvement project under way was provided for on the continuing contract basis, save that on the Columbia River.

Assurance is given that the Senate will be favorably disposed toward the Oregon work, and appreciates the urgency of continuing it, but the real fight is in the House, where the Western membership is very small. Chairman Burton, of the Rivers and Harbors committee, in the House, has declared that he will oppose any other improvement project being put on the continuing contract basis, and while he expresses appreciation of the need of work in Oregon, he is giving little assurance that he will countenance an appropriation for continuing the work this year.

America's unpardonable neglect of some private claims is illustrated in the sealer's bill which Senator Fulton has put through the Senate. This bill is to recoup sealers flying the American flag, who lost their vessels before the Bering Sea arbitration and at a time when America held to the privilege of capturing sealers on the open sea near the breeding islands. After the arbitration and it was decided that Americans did not have the right to patrol the high sea near the islands, all British sealers whose vessels had been captured, were paid by this Government promptly. Russia had been exercising the same patrol power, pursuant to which she captured American sealers, and this Government promptly demanded of her full payment of the losses. But the American sealers captured by Americans themselves have not been paid yet.

Judge John H. Scott, of the Oregon Good Roads Association and Judge of Marion county, has invited Senator Fulton to attend the great gathering which will mark the Government experimental work in good road building near Salem some time in May. Judge Scott says that he and his fellow workers are arranging to run excursion trains to Salem during the period of the demonstration, and intends to make of it a gala day, when as many of the people of the state as can, will be instructed in road building.

Senator Fulton has expressed his purpose of attending the meeting if Congress adjourns in time, but is unable to say definitely now in this respect. Many Senators and the leaders of the House, believe an adjournment will be had even earlier than forecasted a few weeks earlier, and hope that the session will close about May 1. There is a growing spirit to shorten the session, if the pending matters can be disposed of early and the House has rushed business so as to be able to terminate this session any time it appeared that the Senate could finish.

One of the states to use convict labor in road construction for a long time is North Carolina, and this commonwealth is credited with having about the best system of highways to be found in any state of the union similarly situated with regard to population and industries. North Carolina has set an example that is being closely studied by many other Eastern and Southern states. It has been so successful in getting good work and at a very low cost, that the demonstrations regarded the best yet made in the country of the handling of convicts. The open air work is said to be beneficial to the health of the prisoners and is taken up more eagerly than the drudgery of some callings which involve all inside employment. It is also stated on good authority that North Carolina is comparatively humane in treatment of prisoners, as none of the abuses apprehended in work distant from the penitentiary have been recorded.
