BOHEMIA MINING NOTES

and General Mining News

This item was published in the Colorado Springs Gazette on October 17, 1881, and is part of the Bohemia Mining Notes column. The text contains various mining-related news and updates from the area.

In coming American gold prices, the mills in the state are doing a business in gold of $1.25 per ounce, which is said to be the price paid to the miners in the state.

A substantial mining company has been organized under the name of the Southern Consolidated Mining Company, with an initial capital of $500,000.

Several mining companies have been formed in the district, each with a capital of $100,000.

In the course of the past year, the Southern Consolidated Mining Company has paid out over $200,000 in dividends to its stockholders.

At the recent mining convention held in Denver, a resolution was passed in favor of the construction of a new railroad to the mining district.

Several new mines have been discovered in the area, with the potential for significant increases in gold production.

In addition to gold, silver and copper are also being mined in the district.

The Bohemia Mining Notes column provides updates and information on mining activities, company formations, and other related news.

Bohemia, Colorado