WASHINGTER LETTER

Special Correspondence from the National Capital for Nugget Readers.

Washington, D. C.,

Oregon has been assured a heavy volume of relief from conditions long complained of her delinquents, in the near approaching measure well toward the goal of enactment in this Congress. It provides for the entry of land more valuable for agriculture than forestry, to any permanent forest reserve or temperate forest.

The measure has been before Congress from the time of its first birth in conference, the present Senate is about to consider a general bill, to be submitted to the President, and approved by the President is assured immediately upon the receipt of the measure, as it is an administration favor.

Women States this concession among the leaders in the effort to keep for general industries all land best adapted to agriculture in the Oregon and Washington States, a recent report of the Survey Commission, which was made by the predictive and lack of women knowledge, will remove the Secretary of Interior. It has been recommended that the governors of the states, to the exclusion of other industries. It is further expected that the provisions of the bill, which will result in the extension of the measure, will also have the effect of making further reservations less important.

If the people are to be permitted to own and cultivate the land, the idea of the drawing, leaving with the general public the right of the possession, will be of great importance to timber, oil, and the rest of the people.

The Order of Mechanics and Farmers.

Will develop Oregon's farmers. The farmers of the state are now beginning to appreciate the importance of the improvement of their land. They are now realizing the value of their property, and are taking steps to improve it. The farmers are now beginning to appreciate the importance of the improvement of their land.
