A TRAGIC FINISH.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a litt'e cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Benson's Pharmacy. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The Postmaster, a national journal of postoffices in its June issue says: "Hereafter the 'opened by mistake' excuse will be a mistake that will cost $200. The postoffice department has ruled that mail must be looked over before leaving the office and that any letters put in your box by mistake must be returned before leaving the postoffice under a penalty of $200 for failure to do so."

The ice shortage still continues Even ice water was a thing unknown on Sunday and the ice cream ran out early in the day. Some people have gotten it into their heads that the shortage is caused because the factories will not sell to "dry" towns, but the fact is that all the towns of Oregon have been short on ice, even Portlanders have been short on their supply. The demand for ice has unprecedented and the factories have been unable to meet even their local demands, without supplying out side orders.

R. M. Burton, vice-president and General Manager of the Hallack Lumber and Supply Co. of Denver, with yards in a half a dozen towns of Colorado, was a visitor in town this week, stopping at the Graham. Mr. Burton is an old friend of F. J. Hard's and had a pleasant chat over Denver. Mr. Burton is after Lumber, for the great building operations there, but he finds difficulty in getting hold of enough to supply his demands. Mr. Burton says he thinks it is best for any Colorado family to get to the sea coast for a time for their health, and is going to send his family to the coast for a vacation.

W. A. Pointer, who lives in West Medford, is a producer of strawberries such as will out-rival the majority of growers hereabouts. From a patch of ground 21x60 feet square he has so far this year gathered and sold the berries to the value of $65. An acre of ground planted to strawberries and producing the same proportionate amount of berries and sold at the same price would yield an income of over $2200. There were three or four varieties of berries in Mr. Pointer's patch, so that no especial credit can be given to any one variety.—Medford Mail.

David Griggs informs us that a good many of the telephone wires have been connected and are now running through the new leaden cables, but that it will be some time before the poles on Main street will be relieved of their great load. The company's business here is constantly increasing.

Earnest Gill, a son of Tom Gill arrived Friday from Stutsville, Michigan where he has been living with his grandparents. Tom had not seen the boy for ten years until he arrived and was rejoiced to find him the boy he is. He will assist his father in his confectionary and book store.

Last Friday's train which left San Francisco on Friday seems to have been hoodoed, as it had four accidents before it reached Portland. It first killed a man, was delayed by a wreck at Clawson, had a head end collison, when both its engines were demolished, and then wound up by breaking a driving rod on its next engine, stripping the side of the engine.

Dr. Brougher of Portland has been attacking the attractions at Portland's summer resort "The Oaks" the employees and officials of which resort were charged with illegal voting to keep the Oaks precinct "wet". He probably is not far wrong in stating that many of the attractions are very bad for the young folks, if not for the older people as well.

Frank Crabtree is raising some exceptionally fine beardless barley and beardless bald barley, some samples of which at Frank Phillips Real Estate office stand 5 feet 5 inches high. The beardles bald varisty makes an excellent feed as the stalk has many leaves from the root to the top, and being beardless and bald makes a fine feed without having to feed any other grain. Mr. Crabtree takes first rank as a farmer, for he studies each farm product out and gets the best results possible from what he raises. His barley is worthy of mention anywhere, and other farmers might well pattern after him.

Henry Fischer of the Brown Lumber Co. is in Portland trying to hurry the delivery of the third donkey engine for the logging camp. Mr Fischer was successful on his trip for the second donkey and hopes to be able to boost the third one to the Grove within a few days. It will be used at the lower camp on Van Schoiack's track, where the new camp is being started. The upper camp is about done and the work will now be done from the other two camps. The mill is handicapped on account of the change of camps and the scarcety of logs, but will soon be running steadily. Monday the boys were around cleaning up the mill and straightening things around after the supply of logs had been cut up.

More Room

The Bazaar has been growing so that it finds more floor and shelving space necessary, so that Thos. Allen who owns the building has moved a small building to the rear of the store and it will be used as a wareroom hereafter, giving the store the full space of the building proper.

First Drunk Since the First of July

Ed Laske, who claims to hail from Benton county, knew where to get booze and got it. He also got drunk and was found asleep on the depot platform last evening. The officers hauled him down town in the street commissioners' cart and landed him in the city's oven on Park street back of the municipal temple of justice.

The officers found a quart bott e of whiskey on the fellow's person. It is said that during the afternoon he had offered to sell the grog at 25 cents a drink and offered to put the boys "next" to the place where he got it if they would give him $1.50

Laske had sobered by 1 o'clock this afternoon and was taken before Police Judge Dorris. He was given twenty days on the streets for being drunk and disorderly.—Guard.

Many S. P. Men Being Promoted

That there is a heavy rush of both passenger and freight traffic on the S. P. is manifest from the manner in which men are being promoted. Every few days brakemen are being put higher up and onto the extra conductor list, while many a fireman goes up to the extra engineer list. And they do not seem to have any too many men, either, to handle the large volume of business.—Guard.
