Don't be led way from home for your hop picking. Prices are the same throughout the county despite other statements. The best advantages and comforts for your hop picking can be had right at home in good clean yards.

The Brown Lumber Co. has ordered a fourth donkey engine and hopes before long to have enough camps and donkey engines to keep the mill going steadily. Another camp has been established close to town which will be used as a reserve, the logs there being hauled in to the railroad with teams.

The hop pickers throughout the valley are getting ready for the hop picking season which will commence about Sept. 1st. There are good, clean grounds at home, where several hundred pickers will be employed. The yards are good, clean and well cared for, with good camping facilities, plenty of fresh water, etc. close at hand.

H. W. Freeze, who has been in the jewelry business in this city for the past two years, left Wednesday morning for Boston where he will take a course in optometry and engraving. Mr. Freeze is an excellent workman and succeeded in building up a fine business here. He will probably return to the coast with a year.—Brownsville Times.

The Enterprise Lumber Co. owned by Messrs. Harding and Hohl is doing good work. A flume is about to be constructed from the mill to the siding on the railroad so as to deliver the lumber much easier. The mill pond covers three acres, and the logs come into the pond from a long chute. W. T. Kayser is chief timekeeper and bookkeeper, and states that the mill is making good money.

C. P. Jones was a visitor in town Monday from the end of the O. & S. E. and says that the construction work is going ahead fairly well, but is delayed by the shortage of men, but he hopes to have the line extended to the site of the new sawmill within the set 60 days. Considerable blasting is being done. Mr. Jones family and the Eakin family are camping out and Mr. Jones says little Miss Jones takes to camping all right.

A lot of people are wondering why more clerks are not employed by the government in the U. S. Land office at Roseburg, and an effort made to "catch up" with the land business that has been accumulating for the last two years and which appears to be still a year or so behind. The long delay is causing no end of inconvenience to many settlers and timber claimants who made their filings a year or more ago, but have not yet been permitted to make proof.—Drain Nonpareil.

Chas. Proebstel, instructor of metallurgy in the Corvallis Agricultural College, arrived in town Tuesday night, about 6, having ridden from Corvallis since 8 the same morning on his bicycle, which he disposed of when he reached here. After spending the night he took the train to Merlin, Ore., where he is to inspect a piece of mining property. Mr. Proebstel is highly pleased over the class of boys, which he took to the mines last June for their senior trip to investigate actual mining practices. All of the miners now have good positions. Several of them are in the Bohemia mines, one is in Sumpter, as head assayer to a large plant, and everywhere they are making for themselves. This year the class will not be quite so large, but gives promise of good work.

J. B. Eddy gave the editor this week the finest sample of a "Golden Sun" rose that we have seen. The bush this rose came from has been moved several times this season, yet after the hard freeze, has produced some splendid roses. This coloring of rose is the one that is the rage among the milliners in the east for hat trimming this season.

Several big parties left Tuesday morning for Winchester Bay and will drive from here to Scottsburg, where they will take the steamer to Winchestea Bay, and then scatter along the coast camping. One party was composed of the Hawkins family and guests, C. F. Coffman, another of W. S. Bennett and family and Tom Wheeler and family.

Mrs. W. M. Dickey brought to the Nugget office on Monday a fine sample of this year's shoot from a red raspberry bush, which was loaded with about a dozen great bunches of berries. It is not often that a fresh shoot bears the same year, and that too that it does so this late in the year. The berries are great large ones, and Mrs. Dickey is anxious to see if the same shoots will bear their second or usual bearing year, and will keep a record of them.

Irrigation in the West

The men who are pushing irrigation into the arid regions of the great west, are benefiting more of the populace of this country directly and indirectly than any other body of men who are interested in public work.

More irrigation means many more productive homes for individual farmers, and homes that, once occupied will not be deserted, as crops and prosperity are insured to the farmer, who has the water supply under his control.

Irrigation means more traffic for the railroads, more and better food for the people who live where food is scarce and high. It develops those regions of the country that most need developing; it relieves congestion in the older agricultural regions by affording new and attractive fields for the progressive young men. It is a work that should be more appreciated and encouraged.—New York Sun.

Roy Wheeler Lies at Point of Death From Crushed Skull.

Roy Wheeler, an 18 year old son of E. A. Wheeler of Lorane, lies at his father's home in a comatose condition, as a result of a limb of a tree, which he was falling, breaking loose and falling upon his head and right side, Wednesday afternoon.

He was sawing down the tree when a heavy limb fell which struck his skull, cutting a great gash a little to the right of the center of forehead, back to almost the base of the skull, and dented it badly, it also tore open the shoulder, and drove a tooth of the saw deep into the right arm just below the elbow. His cry brought help quickly and he was carried to his father's home, where Dr. Schleef treated him, and dressed his wounds. He lies in a comatose condition but wakens enough to recognize his people when they shout to him.

His condition is very serious, his pulse sinking to 50 at times and his heart being very weak. His spitting blood and it bursting from his head would indicate internal injuries, from which it is very doubtful if he recovers.

The sympathy of the community is with his people and they are rendering every assistance possible.

Coast Fork Timber Co. Name of New Company to Build Mill Here.

Cottage Grove is beginning to find it difficult to keep track of all the mills that are running and are being opened up near here, but accepts the difficult counting, and signs for more.

the sales department and the general office, while T. H. Galland of Portland, a thorough and successful millman will have charge of the plant.

The plant will be an entirely new one, of the best machinery, with a 100 horse power steam engine, with live rolls, and complete equipment for handling about 30,000 feet of rough lumber per day. At the present time no drier or planer will be installed.

The mill will be located on Pacific Timber Co. land about a mile from Cottage Grove, where the old grist mill was located and where the Pacific Timber Co. machine shop is now. At this point there is a mill pond which will hold 1,000,000 feet of logs, and is considered one of the finest natural mill sites in the Willamette valley, as the logs can be floated down the Coast Fork river, and right into the company pond.

The foundations are being prepared for the mill, and the work will be rushed to completion, and expects to be in operation within 60 days.

Its addition to the number of mills encircling Cottage Grove will be greatly appreciated. Cottage Grove's pay roll is growing daily, and the town is going right ahead. Every new enterprise is royally welcomed, and the citizens all feel that Cottage Grove is "the" town of the valley.
