CRUSHED BY TRAIN

Donal, a Railroad Timekeeper, Run Over at Bridge Last Wednesday.

W. J. Donald, 21, a timekeeper of an extra train, was run over by a train at Bridge last Wednesday.

The man had just come to work and was crossing the bridge when the train ran over him. The man was run over from the bridge and lay on the railroad tracks for some time. The train did not run over him at first, but ran over him again. The man was taken to the hospital and died later.

The bridge was long and on the side of the train tracks. The train went over the man and knocked him down. He was taken to the hospital and died later.
