HAVE YOU SENT YOUR DOLLAR?

TO REPUBLICANS:

We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress.

The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents issued by the Committee.

Help us achieve a great victory.

Prospective Senator Johnathan Bourne, Jr.

CONGRESS IN SESSION

Monday at Noon the Last Session of the 59th Congress was Opened

The great governing body of the United States is once more in session and Oregon is well represented.
With Senators Fulton and Gearin is Mr. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., Prospective senator from Oregon. Mr.
Bourne was introduced to the President and is being taught the ropes, so that when his time comes he will be ready for the harness. He will spend the winter in Washington and will use his best endeavors for Oregon and the Northwest, which with the strong influence of Senators Fulton and Gearin, should bring much good to this great country.

Governor Chamberlain, and a party of Oregon business men has gone to Washington to represent the interest of Oregon waterways.
Each man will have his particular end to work, while the governor will help on all. The sections that will be represented will make a hard struggle for recognition.
Coos Bay is going to have representation by sending Peter Loggins and another gentleman from Coquille City to Washington. E.
Hofer of Salem will represent the Willamette valley and the Oregon City locks, Dr. Ray of Medford will represent the southern part of the state. J. D. Peters of The Dalles goes to Washington as a representative of the Open River Association and will look after the interests of the Celilo canal project.
J. N. Teal and Peter Buchner of Portland will serve the Portland chamber of commerce in an effort to secure a big appropriation for mouth of the Columbia.

Oregon Eighth of Gold Producing States.

The Bureau of the U. S. Mint and the Geological Survey have issued a report giving the amounts of gold and silver produced during the year 1905. In this table they note the gold producing states, Colorado first with 25,701,100, California second with 19,177,100, Alaska third, with 14,923,600, So.
Dakota, fourth with 5,140,900; Montana seventh with 4,889,300, Oregon eighth with 1,244,900, Idaho ninth, with 1,075,000.

The total production of gold was 4,265,742 ounces, the silver produced had a commercial value of $34,221,976.

The year 1906 will see great changes in this list Nevada hopes to be able to almost equal Colorado's production, Alaska will be greater.

The only country having a great production of gold than the United States is Africa. The United States producing $88,180,700, and Africa $113,329,100. The total production being $376,289,200 and $157,339,362 in silver.

Willamette Valley Irrigation

The Oregonian of Monday publishes a long article by A. R. Black on Willamette valley irrigation.
He states that the official records show that crops in the valley do not get one-fourth the right amount of water to make them do well.
Irrigation has been tried in the valley and been found to be successful. Many eastern people would come to the valley that will not now until there is irrigation.

Willamette valley orchardists, with proper care, cultivation and irrigation can produce like results on an extensive scale that will double discount Rogue and Hood rivers combined.

Diversified and intensive farming demands irrigation, and it must and will come to that.

In closing he says:
With irrigation in the valley and a deep river channel from Portland to the ocean, no person can correctly foretell the great future of valley or the great commercial magnitude of Portland.

President Back From Panama.

President Roosevelt has returned to Washington after his trip to Panama and is getting ready a message for Congress. It is stated that his report will be one of actual conditions and will recommend a number of improvements along the line of the canal.

THE EYE AND ITS CARE

By DR. FRANC LUCILE HARD, EUGENE, OREGON.

1. Cornea.
2. Aqueous Humor.
3. Pupil.
4. Iris.
5. Crystalline Lens.
6. Vitreous Humor.
7. Optic Nerve.
8. Retina.
9. Choroid.
10. Sclerotic.

In the article of last week the Cornea, Aqueous Humor and Iris were talked about. This time the focusing apparatus of the eye is to be taken up.

Just back of the Iris is the Crystalline Lens. This is not perfectly round but is longer than it is wide.
And is convex on both surfaces, the convexity being greater on the posterior surface. It is three-eighths of an inch long and three-sixteenths thick. The lens is highly transparent, rather soft, and very elastic.
It is enclosed in a capsule that is extremely thin and transparent.
The Crystalline lens is made up of one layer upon another of tissue that is so fine that to distinguish the separate layers a very high power microscope is required. The layers being placed one over another to form the lens makes it resemble an onion. These layers at the center form a hardened nucleus but grow softer towards the edge of the lens. As people grow older the outer layers grow harder and less elastic.

On either side of the lens, as shown in the above drawing, is a tiny muscle which is attached to the lens. This is called the Ciliary muscle.

When looking at an object some distance away, twenty feet or more, the eyes are said to be at rest. That is, the Crystalline lens is as flat as it can be, and the little ciliary muscle is at its normal length.

Then when reading it is necessary for the lens to become more convex, or magnifying. Consequently the ciliary muscle which holds the lens flat when the eye is at rest, must relax, thus allowing the lens to become more convex.

At the age of forty-three or forty-five the Crystalline lens becomes so much harder than in youth that when the ciliary muscle relaxes, in the act of reading, it does not respond by becoming more convex.
Then the letters of the reading or the stitches in the sewing seem to run together and becomes hard to see. And we find that it is necessary to hold the work further from the eyes than is convenient.

This is the time of all others when the aid of the Optician or Re-fractionist should be sought and the proper glasses prescribed and worn.
This must not be put off for neglect brings eyestrain and headaches.

In the above illustration posterior to the Crystalline lens is a large space. This is called the Vitreous Chamber and is filled with a jelly-like substance called the Vitreous Humor. This forms four-fifths of the eye. The Vitreous Humor has no especial part to perform in the act of seeing, but is the support of the eye. In front it forms a hollow in which the Crystalline lens rests and in back it is convex filling the curve of Retina and holding it in place.

Next week, the coats or tunics of the eye will be described.
