The Register is to be complimented upon its Industrial edition, just published.

The write-ups, which it contains, are excellent, describing Lane County thoroughly and authentic operation of the electric lighting plant; also the city ownership and operation of a telephone system.

We believe that the liquor question is settled until 1908 but if the city must have saloons let the city own them, manage them and receive the profit.

If any of our friends or opponents have any criticisms to offer we will be glad to consider them, for criticism stimulates thought; and thought whether favorable or adverse illuminates the principles of socialism.

The Land of the Golden West.

Just now, "all roads leading towards Oregon" and these roads being traveled by a very large number of people, it behooves the local papers of the valley, to spare no pains in pleading before the incoming hordes the beauty, the resources and future grandness of this country. It is not enough to wake up and tell the story today and go to sleep again, but by continually hammering away, with here a little and there a little, tell the truth and then turn around and repeat it. Let the world know we have untold undeveloped resources, fine lands suitable for fruit, grains, grasses and pasture, that our forest are immense, our wealth great and our climate unexcelled, and that the person who come to us to grow up with the country will find a royal welcome.—Ex.

Must Keep Roads in Good Condition.

Five rural free delivery routes in Michigan have been discontinued, and it is announced that the government will look more carefully to the enforcement of its rule regarding the roads over which rural free delivery is established. The present requirement is: "Roads traversed shall be kept in good condition and unobstructed by gates. There must be no unbridged creeks or streams not fordable at any season of the year."

In many cases the residents along proposed routes have made improvements that enable them to obtain rural delivery service, but sometimes the efforts to keep up the roads are relaxed. But the government has decided that unless the roads traversed by the carriers are properly maintained the service will be withdrawn.

The postoffice department now calls on the carriers for reports on the roads and will stop the service where the highways in question are bad. The 35,973 rural delivery carriers now employed cover 863,363 miles daily, and it is unreasonable to expect them to contend with neglected roads or to work for communities lacking the enterprise to keep their common highways in decent shape.

If a route is discontinued the inhabitants themselves will be to blame, for if alive to their own interests and their duty to the public they would give their roads vigorous and constant attention. The idea that a route once authorized is necessarily permanent is a mistake. Advice on the best road methods is supplied by the agricultural departments and a neighborhood that loses its rural delivery must itself bear the discredit for so unpleasant and humiliating an event.

Vesuvius Trestle Finished.

Chas. Noel and Wm. Whittaker, carpenters at the Vesuvius mine finished their work and returned to their homes in Eugene Monday. They said that the high trestle connecting the Wild Hog tunnel and the mill was completed and that it was an imposing sight, the highest bent standing 96 feet high, the ore shoot is 125 feet in length. The entire length of the trestle is 550 feet.

Vesuvius.

John Anderson, one of the miners at the Vesuvius came to the Grove Saturday. He reports splendid progress in the cross-cut tunnel and says that there are indications of another vein close by.

Oregon-Colorado

Charles Otterson, contractor on the Oregon-Colorado mine in Bohemia sent in some samples of ore in the newest strike which is equal or better than anything that has been cut in the big tunnel, and Mr. Otterson says there is a big body of it in sight.

Anniversary

The M. B. A. celebrated the 10th anniversary of their existence in Cottage Grove Monday evening by giving a musical and literary program, social and refreshments and to add to the enjoyment of the evening Miss Mable Lee was informed that it was the occasion of another anniversary, her 21st birthday and a beautiful gold chain was presented to her by her friends in the order.
