At the Methodist parsonage in Eugene Tuesday April 16, Miles Henley Pitcher and Miss Myrtle Wicks, both of Cottage Grove, Rev. D. H. Trimble officiating.

The revival meetings that have been going on in the M. E. church since last Thursday are increasing in interest. On Sunday night the church was filled to its capacity. The service was an impressive one conducted by Evangelist Van Mar-Marter and a magnificent choir rendered hymns suitable for the service. Miss Gilbert, who accompanied the revivalist here-rendered the solo "What shall we do With Jesus" which was taken as the text for an able sermon delivered by Evangelist Van Mar-Marter. The services continue all this week.
On Saturday evening, April 20, Mrs. F. D. Wheeler entertained her Sunday School class of young ladies and gentlemen. The evening was enjoyably spent in playing various games. The instrumental, vocal and cornet solos, given by different members of the class, were very much appreciated by all. Dainty refreshments were served. The class, secretly and conscientiously, pledged themselves to meet their teachers kindness and hospitality by striving to attend their class every Sunday morning, henceforth.

What's become of our cornet band?
Keep up Our Reputation.
Cottage Grove at one time had a baseball team that came very near the mark of professional and laid all the clubs they tackled, to sleep in the shade. Let's do it again. The material is here to make a formidable team and it only needs some of our enthusiastic national game players to start the ball a-rolling. Some of you old players call a meeting for the purpose and you will find a large number who are ready and anxious to become members and we believe you will also find that those who are too old to play are ready to render what assistance is needed in a pecuniary way.

Circus Men Celebrate Twenty Years of Partnership.
When the Greater Norris & Rowe circus gives its annual exhibition in the city of Cottage Grove on Thursday, April 25th the public who has been so loyal to them in the past will be given something extra besides the show. This year the young circus men are celebrating their twenty years of co-partnership and are issuing a handsome and costly souvenir to every person attending. The gift is one that everyone will prize and it will adorn homes for many years. Twenty years ago Norris & Rowe formed a partnership. The beginning was a small one but their policy was one of expansion for they were ambitious to own a circus that would compare favorably with any on the road. The first years were strenuous ones, the profits of each tour going back into show property but the amusement-loving public encouraged them by liberal attendance and each season they were given a more generous welcome until today the trade mark of "The Greater Norris & Rowe circus, museum, menagerie and hippodrome" is synonymous for all that is high-class and worthy of patronage.
