

YAQUINA BAY ROUTE

Curtiss Lumber Co. to Ship Lumber by Water.

Steamer Leggett Chartered and First Shipment Will be Made About the First of June.

Yaquina will once more become a port of entry and departure for vessels plying in the coastwise trade after nearly twenty years of comparative quiescence.

By the first of June at the latest, it is expected that the Curtiss Lumber Company of Mill City, will have its first cargo of lumber to go by the water route, ready for shipment to San Francisco. The Curtiss Lumber Company has chartered the steam schooner Leggett, hitherto plying between Portland and San Francisco, to transport its lumber output to California points, and the management will commence shipping lumber from Mill City to Yaquina Bay at once to load the big ship. The boat is expected to arrive in Yaquina the latter portion of this month to take on the lumber cargo. The Leggett is one of the largest steamers now used in the coastwise lumber trade, and has a capacity of 1,500,000 feet. To complete the cargo it is estimated will require about eighty carloads of lumber.

The Curtiss Lumber Company has recently doubled the output of the plant at Mill City, and the daily capacity is now about 125,000 feet.

The present difficulty of securing adequate rail facilities for transporting the lumber product of the mills to California points, and the fact that lumber can be shipped much cheaper by water than rail is one of the principle factors that has led to the Curtiss Company deciding to ship their product by water. In addition the route from Mill City to Yaquina Bay and thence to San Francisco is the natural route and the most feasible from the standpoint of economy.

The revival of the coastwise trade out of Yaquina Bay to California points, recalls the time in the early nineties, when a number of ships made the run regularly from the Bay City to Yaquina and carried practically the entire grain output of this portion of the Willamette valley south. At this time the Balfour Guthrie Co., shipped many tons of grain to San Francisco out of Yaquina Bay by means of boats chartered for the purpose. The old "Willamette Valley" was operated in those days from Yaquina to California by the O. & C. company and in the summer time the sight of its black hull outside the bar preparatory to entering the harbor was always the signal for the rush of the thousand summer recreationists spending their summer vacation at the seashore, to the docks at Newport, where the ship's entrance was hailed as an event of importance, as well as interest.

The bar at the entrance to Yaquina Bay is said to have a maximum depth of 23 feet at high water, at present a depth of 20 feet is ordinarily sufficient for vessels which ply in the Pacific coastwise trade, there being few lumber carriers now on the coast which draw more than 20 feet. When loaded the average size lumber schooner on this coast draws from 16 to 18 feet.

With the putting on of this vessel it is believed that an impetus may be given to other industries to put in ships to run out of Yaquina Bay, which naturally has a harbor equal to any between the Columbia river and San Francisco.—Albany Herald.

He willingly soils his hands with honest toil, but he scrubs to soil his mouth with unclean language or his mind with unclean thoughts.

The hustle and worry of business men. The hard work and stooping of workmen. The woman's household cares. Are too great a strain on the kidneys.

Backache, headache, sideache, Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

H. Oliver of 1915 West St., Pendleton, Oregon, says: "I speak from experience when I say that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy that has much merit and can be depended upon for curing backache and kidney trouble. At a time when my back was so sore and lame that it was all I could do to bend over or straighten up again and the kidneys were deranged, Doan's Kidney Pills did more for me than everything else I had tried. Heavy work and colds have brought a twinge of stiffness in my back since then at times, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have quickly removed the symptoms. This remedy can be relied upon to end sufferings similar to mine." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
