Occurred Last Night Between Cottage Groves and Saginaw

Caused by William Hansen's Flyer No. 14

No One Was Killed

T. P. BROWN, an employee of the Rockefeller Company, was killed yesterday evening, the result of an accident which occurred at about 6:30 o'clock, when he was operating a motor truck on State Road No. 28, west of Cottage Groves.

The truck was carrying a load of stone when it left the roadway and plunged into the ditch. Mrs. Brown, who was riding in the rear seat, was killed instantly.

The driver of the truck, who was also killed, was identified as John D. Smith, a member of the Rockefeller Company's employ.

The accident occurred on a curve in the road and the exact cause of the accident is not known.

The company immediately notified the police and the coroner's jury was notified.

The body of the deceased will be taken to the funeral home for burial.

LOWELL FIRE

One of the most disastrous and conflagrations in the history of the city occurred last night in the Lowell Falls mill near the corner of Sage Street andjit.

The fire, which started in the stockroom, spread rapidly and in a short time the entire building

was in flames.

The fire was discovered by an employee of the mill, who immediately notified the fire department.

The cause of the fire is not known, but it is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the electrical system.

The Lowell Falls mill is one of the largest in the state and is

owned by the Lowell Falls

Company.

Since the establishment of the fire department in 1875, the city has not experienced a more destructive fire.

The losses sustained are estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.
