RIRGIRATE CONGRESS

Followed by a Great Forward Movement.

California's Capital City and County Make of Population the Inauguration of New Roads, Bridges, Public Buildings.

The National Irrigation Congress, which met in Sacramento last week, was an event of great importance in the development and improvement of the western states. The Congress was called to order by Governor J. M. Barstow, who presided over the opening session. The Congress was attended by representatives from all parts of the western states, and was marked by a spirit of cooperation and unity.

OREGON TO TAKE A HAND

Such plans were to be carried out. The Oregon and Illinois Companies, which was founded in 1843, had grown to be one of the largest and most influential in the state. The company was organized to provide the means for the transportation of the lumbermen to the Pacific Coast.

Government Would Regain Lands in Famous 11-1 District

Portland, Ore., Sept. 18.--A plan was adopted by the Oregon electors for the future year, to be voted on in the coming election. The plan is based on the principle that the lands in the 11-1 district should be sold at a fair price, and the proceeds used for the benefit of the state. The plan is supported by the timbermen and lumbermen of the state, and is expected to be adopted by the people of the state.

TO BE REORGANIZED.

Oregon Press Association to Meet in Portland for That Purpose.

At the second meeting of the Congress, which was held in Sacramento, it was decided to organize a board of directors, which would carry on the business of the Congress. The board of directors was composed of representatives from all parts of the state. The board of directors was elected by the members of the Congress, and was expected to meet in Portland in October.
