BOHEMIA NUGGETS

Surplus of Local Product in San Francisco Consumed

California is Considered a Good Market for the Products From the Oregon Lumber Industry—Building Material is Good.

Lumber manufacturers say California is still producing a steady flow of lumber for the West Coast and a large surplus of local lumber is still being consumed in San Francisco, where the lumber is in great demand for building material.

The surplus of local lumber is not as great as it was last year, but it is still appreciable and the demand for it is not likely to slack off in the near future. The manufacturers say that the prices of lumber are still high and that the demand for it is still strong.

Correspondent

COTTAGE GROVE, LANE COUNTY, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1907

VOI. IX

PROUD OF HIS TEAM

Adjutant-general Finzer is Well Satisfied.

Thanks very properly that at least 400,000 men under arms. The Adjutant-general believes that the state is well satisfied with the work done and that the men are well treated.

The Adjutant General says that the state is well satisfied with the work done and that the men are well treated. He believes that the state is well satisfied with the work done and that the men are well treated.

An Angler's Appeal

A correspondent in the Oregonian asks the state to consider the request of the Oregon Fish Commission for more money to carry on its work. The commission has asked for $10,000 to be spent in the fight against the imported trout.

The correspondent says that the state should consider the request of the Oregon Fish Commission for more money to carry on its work. The commission has asked for $10,000 to be spent in the fight against the imported trout.

The correspondent says that the state should consider the request of the Oregon Fish Commission for more money to carry on its work. The commission has asked for $10,000 to be spent in the fight against the imported trout.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

An Angling Society

An Angling Society for the North Pacific Region.

This society was formed to promote the sport of angling in the North Pacific Region. The society has over 500 members and is still growing.

The society will hold its first meeting on October 1, 1907, at the Oregon State Capitol.

COAL FIELDS OF OREGON

Data Gathered From "Mineral Resources of the United States," by E. W. Parker.

The only productive coal field of Oregon is situated in the south-eastern part of the State. The town of Cremo is known as the Oregon Coal Field, from the fact that it is the only productive field of Oregon. It contains a total of about 240 square miles, its length north and south being about 30 miles and its width about 10 miles.

Coal has been found in place in different parts of the field, and some of the coal is of very high quality. Among the points of interest in the field are:
The Columbia River Basin; the lower Nez Perce in C ontrary Basin; the town of Cremo, on the Columbia River; and the Sidney river, on the Columbia River.

The field is extensive, and all of the above points are located within it.

Notice to Parents

In compliance with the new school law, all children between the ages of 8 and 16 years must attend school during the entire session.

Some parents have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.

The legislators have been说法 that the school law is unfair and that it is detrimental to the children's health. Others have stated that the law is beneficial and that it is necessary for the education of the children.