tariff into effect and to maintain the tariff now binding pending the decision of the court. It is represented in the complaint that the enforcement of the new lumber schedule will work a great hardship on the lumbermen of the northwest, and that it will in effect drive them out of a large part of their present marketing district.

The suit is of great importance to the lumber industry, inasmuch as it will bring judicial action to bear upon the lumber rates charged by the railroad companies.—Portland Journal.

The railroad companies are cited to appear in court October 29th and show cause why a restraining order and injunction should not be issued.

The Administration building of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is completed and is being occupied by the executive force of the fair.

A VALUABLE ANIMAL.

The "Great Dane" Owned by G. W. Brady, of Cottage Grove.

The Great Dane "Ovid," owned by G. W. Brady, of Cottage Grove, Oregon, was sired by Dr. L. M. Dosse's immense prize winner, "Prince Von Bismark," the big brindle Dane of Louisville, Kentucky, which won very recently at the Jamestown Fair, winning over 75 Danes from all over the United States and Canada.

The Great Dane many people suppose is a cross between the mastiff and greyhound, but this is not true, for the Dane has not a drop of either of these English breeds, but is one of the oldest breeds in dogdom, of course in different ages possessing other names, and being much coarser built. The Dane is not a Dane, but a German, the name coming from the fact that the Danish people were the first to take an interest in the big German breed, and sent them into England, where they were known as the "Grand Danos" from which they get their present name "Great Dane." The Dane of today, which we see at the bench show, has had most of the roughness bred out by scientific breeding. The old name for the breed was the "Hatsdude," "Ulmer Dogge," "German Boarhound."

When this dog was known as the Hatsdude, his principle use was to combat with the wild animals in the arena at Rome, and to hunt the wild boar. His present occupation, like the English bulldog, is simply for the Kennel Club show. There are several places where they are used very successfully to hunt the California mountain lion, and as watch dogs on sheep and cattle ranches, and also on plantations down South.

The standard of the Dane at the bench show, is weight: males, 120 to 225 pounds; females, 100 to 190 pounds; height: males, 30 to 35 inches; females, 28 to 32 inches at the shoulder; colors: fawn, brindle, black, blue and (Harlequin), black and white spotted. This schedule is for grown dogs, that is any dog two years or older, as the A. K. C. rules are that all dogs are matured when two years old. The Dane is possibly the most peaceful of all dogs, never starting trouble, but usually ending it very quickly when concerned in it.

A large force of men is now at work on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle. All of the grading will be finished by January 1. In the meantime several exhibit buildings will have been started.

establish it at once. The earlier the demonstration, the better for the country.

"Nothing more conducive to business success and public tranquility could possibly occur at this time, in my opinion, than the substitution of certainty for uncertainty regarding the Presidency. It would be worth hundreds of millions of dollars to our material interests. The business world would profit incalculably by the assurance or re- assurance such a certainty would bring. The administration's policies are accepted and approved. Only the knowledge that Roosevelt will continue at the helm is needed to inaugurate anew an era of prosperity on a safer and sounder basis than ever before. Call it a third term or a second elective term, as you like; the exigencies of the times demand that he serve four years more. It is a patriotic duty which he owes to his country. He cannot shirk it, if he would, without making self greater than country and forfeiting the respect and public confidence he now holds. He will not shirk it once the people make their wishes known. Now is the time for them to be heard."

Home-Made Catarrh Cure.

Anyone can mix right at home the best remedy of its kind known. The name "Cyclon" is given to the following prescription. It is supposed, because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison, relieving this foul and dread disease, no matter where located. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Nougat and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system all catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh specialist of national reputation.
