MILITARY BALL.

The initial ball given by Company "E", 4th Inf., Oregon National Guard at their armory was a grand success and conceded the best party ever given in Cottage Grove. The boys did not make much money but feel well pleased in knowing that their first effort was appreciated, the attendance was large, perfect order was maintained, and if there was any question as to the propriety of attending by the most refined lovers of the dance, this first ball has dispelled any such thought. Ladies and gentlemen were the patrons of the hall, and these parties will be in the future among the looked for society events of Cottage Grove.

The music was furnished by the Eugene Opera Orchestra.

MARRIED.

Sunday evening at the residence of Dr. Kime by Rev. W. A. Elkins Edwin Tuller was married to Miss Tressa M. Garoutte.

COTTAGE GROVE.

The description of an ancient city might well be applied to Cottage Grove.—"Beautiful for situation. Surrounded by hills." Flowers to delight the eye. Trees bearing fruit pleasant to the taste. The river flowing through the midst of it with trees on either side. Edenic conditions of the atmosphere. The crowing of chickens of high pedigree. The joyful sound of children. Homes, with indication of prosperity, surrounded by large yards, presided over by uncrowned queens. The peaceful tranquility of it all appeals to the newcomer. No saloons speak well for the sentiment of the majority, but the "blind pigs," from recent events, indicate that they have been sufficiently fattened on the public offal, to be led to the slaughter-house and meet the doom of their less offending namesake. The condition of the various church buildings in town showing evidence of recent improvements would indicate a moral improvement also. The gymnasiums in the churches have evidently made a vigorous membership. I understand that all the churches have new pastors. That Cottage Grove has some generous citizens of which it should be proud, has been learned by Willamette University, located at Salem, in the recent endeavor to increase her endowment. We have been impressed with the friendliness of the people, up to date no one has invited our departure. The general outlook on the business streets would indicate prosperity. The hills seem to be full of wealth on and underneath the surface. The valleys make their offering of fruits and vegetables, and with an excellent water system, electric lights, good sidewalks etc., we ask what more could be desired in any place? It may be increased knowledge will bring to light deficiencies that we do not now see, but no doubt it will show excellencies at present not known to us.

A NEWCOMER.

BRING FANCY PRICES.

Jacksonville, Ore., Oct. 25.—Jacksonville apples sold this week for $7.50 a box. Ten boxes of Newton Pippins and Spitzenberg apples were sent from here to Michigan, New York, and Pennsylvania, each box bringing $7.50. The apples were picked from the Fletcher Linn and W. L. McIntyre orchards, both farms being almost in the city limits. The order was for the finest apples in the Rogue river valley, and the order was filled at this point. Four boxes were shipped to Manistique, Mich., four to Porterville, New York, and two to Endeavor, Forest county, Pa.

The apple crop in this vicinity is better than ever before.
