L. F. Knowlton, a former Cottage Grove boy educated in the schools here arrived from Portland Thursday evening to join his wife and child who were visiting here. They will visit his mother and sisters over Sunday then return home. Mr. Knowlton's first connection with railway service was by carrying mail from the Cottage Grove post office to the trains, at the same time studying telegraphy, connecting himself directly with the Southern Pacific Co. while very young, occupying various positions wherever called on the Shasta Route from San Francisco to Portland. It is certainly pleasant to learn of the success of our boys, a number of which have aimed high in position and through hard work have kept in line for advancement in service. There is always a demand for trustworthy young men, and never a position that does not lead higher for one who takes an interest in behalf of his employer and shows his capability.

Fine Horse Sold.

This week the Schmitt Bros. of Creswell sold the fine German Coach stallion, "Wallenberg," owned by A. C. Ruly & Co. of Portland to a number of Cottage Grove men who have organized an association to be known as the "German Coach Breeder Association of Cottage Grove" with a capital stock of $3800. The farmers in and about Lane county are fortunate in having an association of this kind whose object it is to improve the horse and bring him up to the very highest standard. The company starting out with such a horse as "Wallenberg" one of the best bred Coach stallions ever imported to this country, mean business and will do much towards the improvement of the horse in Lane county.

The members of the association are among our best and most substantial citizens: Hamilton Veatch, Powell & Tullar, Schmitt Bros., J. S. Powell, Dan Beck, Dave McFarland, J. E. Sears, Griggs Bros., Finerty Bros. Ralph Sears and C. D. Kennedy.

80 acres, 35 under cultivation, small orchard, good barn and springs 5 miles from town, 1/2 mile from school good orchard land price $1250. FINGAL HINDS.

Good Roads Convention.

Geo. Comer returned Sunday evening from Portland, where he was in attendance at the good roads convention as a delegate from the Commercial Club. His report to the Club Monday evening was interesting and full of enthusiasm. It is not often that delegates going to the city give as much attention to the specific errand they are sent on as Mr. Comer did this time. He attended every session of the convention and was able to tell much that he saw and heard.

Mr. Comer knew that bad roads were bad, but like many others, did not realize how easy and at how little expense bad roads could be made good and permanent. An automobile ride is nothing new to any of us in Cottage Grove, but to ride in a procession of seventeen machines of the most expensive and newest types as was Mr. Comer's pleasure with other delegates when they were taken out and shown roads in the primitive state, roads under various stages of improvement and those completed. It was a practical suggestion by the committee of Portland good roads enthusiasts.

If Mr. Comer's enthused ambition for good roads would only become catching there might be something doing close at home. Why not utilize our splendid solid rock foundation on Main street, by a coat of tar and possibly some fine gravel, and make a smooth paved street at very little expense? Then the country roads, too, many of them, could be improved at little cost and to great advantage for the farmer—considering loss of time and wear and tear on vehicles under present conditions—and with but little time elapsing before the saving would more than equal their cost. Cottage Grove's City Council could set the pace; the farmers and county officers would fall in. We know how Alderman Comer would vote first, last and all the time.

Welcome to Pastor.
