WEDNESDAY, Dec. 23, 1903.

The following officers were elected for the coming year by the State Dairy Association at the annual meeting held in Fostoria last week:

F. L. Kent, of Corvallis, Vice President; J. C. Day, Secretary; and the following directors: S. G. Crockett, of Columbus; C. H. A. Biddle, of St. Louis; and A. A. Runyon, of Wyoming county, as vice presidents. Seventeen counties were represented by directors.

QUICK KNOCK

Senator Philip A. Knae of Pennsylvania does things quickly and easily, but asks the least effecti three years ago his President Harrison united him in his Pittsburgh office.

"I have been requested to ask you to come to see me at once because of our recent Cottonbelle street ease," said General Harrison, and I hope you will accept.

Knae signified his willingness to do so and suggested that they hold a meeting in our office.

"No," answered General. "I will not take my own but you may come at once.

After the litigation was ended General called again on Knae.

"Well," he said in a satisfied way, "I don't deny that in case I received a check for $25,000.

"Is that all?" quietly asked Knae. "I received $50,000. If you had pointed it as originally supposed, general, you would have got $50,000, not $25,000.

"We are now united," was the answer of Knae.

"Technically that is correct, but my position is a Kentucky one.

"I will do as you say.

"The railroads are our wards in theSenate, and we can do things if we want to."

Use of the Dividing Rod.

Numerous devices are used to help in the task of draining the presence of underground water—above or below the surface—which might threaten to reach the foundations of a building from the forked branch of which it may be hoped may arise. Various simple or elaborate mechanical devices can be employed to accomplish this purpose.
