AM BATTLE AT THE FAIR

National Guard Will Take Part in Mimic Warfare For Amusement
at Lewis and Clark Exposition Crowds.

Portland.—What promises to be the most realistic sham battle in the history of mimic warfare is scheduled to take place at the Lewis and Clark Exposition July 21, constituting the crowning feature of three days of military maneuvers in which at least 1,500 troops of the Oregon National Guard will take part. The battle will be made realistic by the shooting of cannon and small arms loaded with blank cartridges, and is expected to prove one of the most popular of the many features which have been arranged to make the day until the close of the Exposition, October 15, a special day. Adjutant-General W. F. Finger, in conference with President H. W. Johnson of the Exposition, has arranged the more important details. The guard will go into camp at Grant Park on July 13, remaining there six days and then moving to Portland. During the two days of the encampment at the Exposition, there will be a dress parade each day, and a grand review in honor of Governor Chamberlain and staff. A number of competitive drills also will be held. The battle proper will be between two detachments, one wearing the brown khaki uniform and the other blue. The browns will trench themselves on the hillside directly west of the Exposition grounds and await the approach of the attacking party of blues. The artillery will supplement the trench force, while the cavalry assist the attacking party, operating from the rear or flank. The hills of the attack and the defense are left to the commanders of the opposing forces, as strategy will be in determining which side is victor. The attack is scheduled to take place at sundown on July 21, and engagement is expected to last about two hours. The hillside between the browns will be entrenched down to Guild's Lake, the passing water feature of the Exposition, and the entire maneuvers will be watched from the Bridge of Nations, which spans the lake and connects the mainland with the island on which the United States Government buildings are located.

Orations at Eugene.

There were six contestants for the failing prize of $150 at Eugene Tuesday night. Vernon W. Tomlinson was the successful contestants. Joseph Templeton and Cora Shaver were tied for second prize.

The judges of the contest were Judge C. E. Wolverton, of Salem; Hon. Frederick Holman and J. C. Ainsworth, of Portland.

Professor Glenn was made the recipient of a little token from the graduating class in the form of a baton. DeFoe Shirk, in a few words, presented the token as a mark of the esteem in which Mr. Glenn was held by the class.

The music rendered during the evening was all that could be desired, and was well selected to suit the moods and fancies of the audience. The program was as follows:

Processional, "Coronation March," Kretschmar, orchestra.

Reading of instructions.

Orizaba, "Intermezzo," Dewey, orchestra.

Oration, "Japan, the Prophet of the Yellow Race," Alice Lorette Benson.

Oration, "The Work of Our Hands Only," Cora Madeline Shaver.

Impromptu, Chopin, Op. 66, Miss Abby Whiteside.

Oration, "The Root of the Matter," Joseph Holt Templeton.

Oration, "Freedom from Taxes or a University—Choose," Albert R. Tiffany.

Creative Lover's Song, Dudley Buck Professor Irving M. Glenn, '94.

Oration, "The Ocean West of Us," Vernon Tomlinson.

Vision, "Valse Lento," F. V. Blon, orchestra.

Oration, "The Root of the Matter," Bessie Jose Woods.

Selection from "The Storks," Chopin, orchestra.

Award of Failing and Beekman prizes.

Has Fine Mineral Exhibit

Among the finest mineral collections at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is one in the state of Washington's handsome building, which was installed by Colonel Frank J. Parker, of Walla Walla Statesman. The gathering of the collection represents the efforts of more than thirty years, and the minerals exhibited crowd a space of 250 square feet of shelving. Fine samples of ores from Silver City, Idaho, are among the more attractive specimens in the collection, which includes, beside gold and silver ores, an excellent showing of tin specimens from all parts of the world, and some fine copper ores. One of the natural specimens weighs 53 ounces. A handsome piece of stibnite from Japan and a fine specimen of fluor spar from Derbyshire, England, have attracted much attention.

Miss Louise Scott of Creswell is the guest of K. W. Veatch and family.

ARRESTED FOR PETTY LARCENY

Tried on Wednesday in Justice
Vaughn's Court and Jury Returned Verdict "Not Guilty."

When L. F. Slaven and wife went to Eastern Oregon last fall they left their premises, in the Long and Bingham addition, in charge of their neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll.

According to the statement made in court Wednesday some one about the 15th of April entered the yard and removed from a bed several feet in length and breadth, all of the pansies which had been planted there the previous year.

The pansies were regarded by the Slavens as particularly valuable, the seed having been procured in Chicago and a premium offered by the seller of $100 for the purchaser who raised the largest pansy and Mrs. Slaven was in hopes to secure the prize.

From information obtained from nearby neighbors they stated they were led to believe Mrs. George Hastings and Mrs. Charles Sagert were the parties who had removed them from the yard, and they appeared before Justice Vaughn and swore to a complaint, the parties were arrested, Attorney Williams of Eugene called and the case tried Wednesday afternoon. Attorney Jerome Knox appeared for the defendants and H. O. Thompson, N. H. Martin, I. H. Veatch, C. M. Kidd, John Stoneburg and U. M. Martin were selected as jurors.

The prosecution called besides the private prosecutors, Mesdames, Smith, Driscoll, Hays and Messrs. Mark Garoutte and Driscoll, all neighbors by whom it evidently was expected to prove the theft of the pansies.

As usual however, neighborhood gossip and testimony on the witness stand seldom agree and while it was proved a pansy bed had existed in the Slaven yard and it was robbed of them, the testimony did not show the arrested parties guilty or at least that was the verdict of six tried and true jurors who rendered a verdict to that effect and recommended the costs of the suit if possible, be charged to the private prosecutors.

During the trial the small room was crowded principally, with women and children.

Quite an excitement was created while attorney Knox was talking to the jury. Some one pushed against the stove pipe which began to fall apart bumping the heads of a number of the ladies and scattering ashes and soot over their garments.

The verdict of the jury was generally approved by those who listened to the evidence.

It was brought out in the trial that there had been bad feeling between the parties prior to the loss of the flowers.

Bingham at Independence.

Hon. I. H. Bingham was strongly in evidence at the meeting of the Willamette Valley Development League at Independence on Tuesday night.

Before a great gathering of people, he spoke at some length and with good effect; some of the things said by him upon that occasion were as follows.

Manufacturing in the Willamette Valley is in its infancy, and that the possibilities are great no one will deny. Countless thousands of horse-power, now running to waste, invite the energy and capital of the manufacturing world to put into operation the very enterprises upon which the destiny of this country depends. As an illustration, I mention the Santiam, with 170,000 horse-power, the McKenzie with 225,000 horse-power, beside the Umpqua, Rogue, the mighty Willamette and many others.

It is a contention of the manufacturer that 80 per cent of the cost of manufacturing the lumber product will be required to pay for the cost of labor, which amounts to the enormous sum of $720,000,000, and if 25 per cent of the lumber manufactured should find a market in the Eastern and Middle States, and it will, the railroads would receive more than $300,000,000, enough to construct several transcontinental lines across the continent.

Another of our principal products is the wool. That product is fast coming to the foreground and we have available the great wool product empire, Eastern Oregon—a country that is rapidly coming to the fore, by reason of the push and energy of the sturdy class of settlers who are now bringing forth its splendid resources, although the transportation facilities of this country are extremely limited.

That the railroads of Western Oregon have not been fair with our manufacturers up to the present time is a matter of record. The Southern Pacific has put forth some efforts to induce immigration, but is there any instance where they have offered inducements to capital to invest in manufacturing in the sections tributary to its lines, by guaranteeing a fair and equitable freight rate? And if you will show me the instance, will you show me where the great company has kept its word? Take for instance the juggling of its freight rates in 1903.

Under Markham's administration of the Southern Pacific affairs, a freight rate was established which was kept intact for more than five years. Not even the most skeptical believed that after fostering a great lumber industry by making a rate that caused thousands of dollars to be invested in the lumbering business, that a railroad corporation would so far forget its duty to the state and people as to annul that rate and fix one which the officials themselves even admitted was prohibitory. When our people were just beginning to enjoy prosperity from their investment in this great corporation, after considerable haggling, took the bit in their mouth and raised the rate $2 per 1000 to Bay points.

This meant the closing down of many mills, the throwing out of labor and the crippling of a great industry. After a great cry had been raised the people heard of a readjustment, but it proved only to be a goldbrick, namely, a $3.10 rate. This must be kept by the railroads as well as by the people.

The state of Oregon is not beholden to any corporation or railroad. They are beholden to the state and to its people. But if merged interests court the good offices of the people they should not attempt to usurp the power which by Constitutional authority is vested in the people.

Following the address of Mr. Bingham, a motion was carried, without dissent, authorizing the president of the league to appoint a committee to draft an initiative transportation bill, to be presented to the league at its next meeting.

Eugene was selected as the next meeting place, where a convention will be held about September 1.

No Time For Details.

An American speeding over the continent of Europe in his automobile asked of his chauffeur, "Where are we?"

"In Paris!" shouted the man at the wheel, and the dust flew.

"Oh, never mind the details!" irritably screamed the American millionaire. "I mean what continent?"—Chicago Post.

Portland, June 13.

Eugene Register.—Please allow us space in your paper to thank the citizens of Cottage Grove, Ore., for the lot of beautiful flowers sent me for display in our county exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair.

Yours respectfully,
E. M. WARREN.

The above recognition of the work done in securing flowers in Cottage Grove and sending them to Portland Monday was published in the Eugene Register.

The committee consisting of F. B. Phillips, F. D. Wheeler, H. O. Thompson, Mesdames L. Larch, Rakin, Phillips and Misses Lurch secured to boxes of very beautiful flowers and sent them from here to Portland. The committee states that nearly every one responded to the call for these flowers which enabled them to send the fine collection.

The dedication of the Roseburg Lodge No. 326 B. P. O. E. at Roseburg was largely attended. Many Elks from Lane and other counties were present.

DRAIN NORMAL SCHOOL

Twentieth Annual Commencement—
Ten Thousand Dollars Raised—
Professor Briggs Made President.

The twentieth annual commencement was ushered in by bright sunshine and happy faces. The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. M. C. Wire, his text was "The True Ideal." The music was by a special chorus and a solo by Mrs. George Eastes, of Portland.

Monday evening was marked by a drama given by the Literary Society assisted by several of the citizens of the town. It was well rendered and gave a true picture of our public school fifty years ago.

Tuesday was Field Day and was given up to the track meet and a ball game with Yoncalla, in which the Normal boys won by a score of 3 to 1. It was an excellent game from first to last and free from all wangling. The evening was devoted to class day exercises and Alumni Reunion. The exercises were well rendered to a large and appreciative audience. Special musical numbers were the solos of Mrs. Eastes of Portland and Mrs. Fred Myers of Gold Hill.

Wednesday evening was Commencement Night and was marked by an excellent musical and literary program. The orations were good and well delivered, a pleasing feature is that there has not been a poor exercise during the entire week. There are five in the class, Misses Mamie Heickither, Alta Spaulding, Daisy Hoover, and John Johnson. This year has been marked by good fellowship of students and teachers, hard work, and intense earnestness which speaks well for any school. The outlook for the school for next year is very encouraging—good prospects for a class of twenty and an attendance of 150, and this in spite of the referendum and the loss of the public schools of Oregon. Last year the citizens of Drain paid 72 mills on the dollar to help maintain the school, and they with friends of the school, in Douglas county, have again put up the shew of war for another year's work. The school has now thirty seven students out teaching that they may enter school this fall. During the life of the school there has been an attendance of more than 3,800 students and 182 graduates, and they have cost Oregon 24,000 dollars, or six dollars per student, and 93 per cent of these have taught school thus repaying the state many times the cost.

During the past ten days the residents of Drain have gone down into their pockets raised and deposited with the clerk of the board of Regents the sum of $10,000 for the maintenance of the school.

The Board of Regents elected Prof. A. L. Briggs President of the school with O. C. Brown vice president, U. B. Sigs English and Latin, Sybil Kuykendall History and Science, Mrs. O. C. Brown critic teacher, with three positions yet to be filled.

Resented It.

"Gerald," said the young wife, noticing how heartily he was eating, "do I cook as well as your mother did?"

Gerald put up his monocle and stared at her through it.

"Once for all, Agatha," he said, "I beg you will remember that, although I may seem to be in reduced circumstances now, I come of an old and distinguished family. My mother was not a cook."—Chicago Tribune.
