COTTAGE GROVE, OREGON, SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1905.

NO. 14

O. S. N. S. CATALOGUE.

Publication Issued From the State Printing Office.

The Twelfth annual catalogue of Eastern Oregon State Normal School, 1904-05, has just been issued from the office of the state printer in Salem. It is profusely illustrated with half-tones, and is without doubt the finest catalogue ever published in the school's history.

The illustrations in the catalogue afford an excellent idea of the work of the institution, the scope of the work, and the magnitude of the school's plant at Weston.

In addition to the course of study raised the standard of the institution, ranking it among the best normal schools on the Pacific Coast.

The normal department shows an enrollment of 109 and the training department 67, a total of 176. In the junior class, which will be the senior class for the coming school year, there are 41 members.

The faculty has twelve members, representing departments of English, Arithmetic, History, Book-keeping, Latin, Psychology, Pedagogy, Science, Drawing and Stenography.

The next year of school begins Wednesday, September 13.

Corps From Eureka, Cal.

Theodore Hardes, assistant to the agent to the Lewis and Clark Expedition is in receipt of a telegram from Rev. Franklin Baker, commanding the First Congregational Church Cadets, of Eureka, Humboldt county, Cal., stating that the boys would arrive in Portland sometime today. They were at Eureka when the dispatch was sent, making good headway in their march to Portland.

Upon their arrival they will go to camp 65 strong at the model camp arranged for the accommodation of military organizations in the woods east of the peninsula.

After the cadets have had an opportunity to rest up somewhat, they will be reviewed by President Hardes, and presented with an elegant silken banner.

Governor Returns From the East.

After the absence from Portland exactly two weeks, Governor George E. Chamberlain returned to Portland from the East, looking well and expressing himself as desirous to be again in the land of the Lewis and Clark memories. Governor Chamberlain went to Buffalo as a delegate to the National Convention of the Elks, choosing a journey across the country in preference to a journey at the coast, where he usually spends his vacation. The Governor's Executive says he did not find the Fair well advertised about New York, and in fact the only publicity being given the Centennial was at the hands of the railroads.

Oregon and its natal event were not known generally, and one personage with whom the Governor came in contact with ventured to ask "who those fellows Lewis and Clark were." Oregon's representative says he was well treated at Gotham and Buffalo, and thoroughly enjoyed the journey, with the exception of the excessive heat.

SALEM THE CAPITOL

Our Special Correspondent Again Writes an Interesting Letter

The painters are finishing work on the County Court house, which now shows a dazzling white. It is without doubt the handsomest building in the state.

Early peaches from Mission bottom on the Willamette ten miles below here crowd out the California product. The home fruit is fresh and beautiful to look at as well as grateful to the taste. It is expensive but later on will be within the reach of small purses.

The circuit court for Marion county is in session this week. Two men were tried last week for murder, the act being furnishing guns to Tracy and Merrill, who three years ago terrorized parts of both Oregon and Washington. One of the men, tried last week was found guilty of murder in the second degree and received a sentence to the penitentiary for life. I talked with one of the jurymen who sat on the case. He thinks the man furnished the guns, but there was a possibility that he did not, so this man could not bring himself to vote for a verdict that would hang the man. If the defendant is in prison and it afterwards turns out that he is innocent, then remains the opportunity of partly righting a wrong, but when the death penalty is inflicted it is not permitted to undo, what has happened. Thus the jury found a "reasonable doubt" and used it. The other defendant jointly indicted had his trial but a hung jury saves him at least for the present.

The most noted trial at this term of the court was that of Burns vs R. D. Hume, an action for libel. Hume got a verdict on a point that has never before, in this state, been raised. Heretofore the defense has been that the publication complained of has not been libelous or that it is true. In the case Hume urged that what he published was printed because of great provocation and was in defense. The court granted the contention and directed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. It appears that Burns, last winter composed, printed and circulated a poem among the members of the legislature in which epithets were applied to Hume which the latter considered vile and defamatory. Instead of bringing an action for criminal libel which was probably his best remedy, he answered in kind. This striking back is the self defense. Burns may not be satisfied and may seek further relief of the supreme court.

The project of improving South Commercial street from the cemetery to the business center of town is engrossing the attention of the city authorities. The expense is estimated at $10,000 which is about one dollar per lineal foot of property on either side of the road which is to be assessed to pay the bill. The improvement consists in grading the street and covering it with a coating of crushed rock eight inches thick. The length of the street to be "fixed" is one mile. The work on the street will justify the street railway company to extend its tracks about two miles into the country to the rock quarry. It will not pay the company to build this additional trackage for transporting the crushed rock to where it is wanted on the street, but the traffic that will follow will be considerable. The hauling of the rock for the road is in the nature of a subsidy.

Politics are bobbing up, and as the professionals study the Direct Primary Nominating law they suggest plans for retaining party organization. I think I have already mentioned the Union county plan suggested by the republicans there which is to hold a convention and name candidates whose names are to be printed on the ballots for the primary election. This plan does not obtain favor in Marion county, where the negative plan is liked better. Here republicans talk of holding a convention before the primary election and determine what candidates would be unsafe. These would be left off the ballot. Thus the criticism that would likely be raised, that the old party hacks dictate, would be silenced. The Direct Primary Law is no geranium, and its defects are being emphasized. The municipal candidates for the last election in Portland were nominated by the new device, and one nomination is cited, that of Larry Sullivan. No political convention of delegates ever held in Portland would have put him on the ticket, but the people did. He was beaten at the polls to be sure, but that does not justify the possibilities of the law.

W. B. Lloyd went up to Bohemia on Friday.

Prof. Briggs came into town on Thursday.

Dr. Oglesby returned from Portland on Wednesday.

Godfrey Graber went to Portland Thursday to take in the fair.

Jess Martin, a brother of Ulyses Martin has returned from Eastern Oregon for a time.

Mary Owens of Eugene came up Tuesday to visit her parents, going up on the O. & S. E. Wednesday.

Mrs. H. A. Scwhering and son Leslie, arrived in the city Wednesday afternoon where they will visit friends.

Dave Griggs is using some white paint in his drug store. He evidently thinks improvements are in order all around.

Miss Mae and Lula Gross, of Athena, Oregon, and Mrs. Estella Arthurs of Brownsville, are visiting their relatives of this place.

The Postal Telegraph Co's. crew have completed the rebuilding between Roseburg and Rice Hill and are now to repair north to Portland.

Mr. Chas. Bruneau is in town after quite a stay in Portland, and is now figuring on a trip around the state in the interests of the illustration of an Eastern magazine article on Oregon and its scenery.

C. O. Force and wife have been visiting Portland and the Fair in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Powers of Albany, and now all are going for a trip several weeks to Winchester Bay. We all think the sea side is pretty nice these warm days.

The whole East is suffering from the intense heat. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday many died. On Tuesday in New York there were 30 dead and 250 prostrated. Cottage Grove has much to be thankful for, for the heat here has not even been fairly warm, let alone hot, with the exception of a couple of days.

A. W. Wallace and family, Mrs. Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bennett have formed a camping party and are up at London Mineral Springs for a few weeks. Mr. Bennett will go up for over Sunday until he gets his vacation when he will go for a good rest with the rest of the party.

W. H. Joy of Salem, Ore. arrived in the Grove on Thursday and went up to Mineral Springs for a few days stay. He don't exactly look as though he needed any medical treatment, but the Springs will make him feel better anyway, even if he weighed—well we couldn't guess how much, but he and Ed Underwood would pretty near balance the scales.

Frank Jordan brought in a fine sample of ore from a ten-foot ledge that has been opened in the Moulton mine, at the lower end of the Golden Cross property, and near the Riverside. Mr. Jordan's associates are J. W. Currin, F. D. Wheeler and H. D. Scott. They have some fine ore and now are exceedingly anxious along with every body else to see the smelter project go through.

Mr. C. H. Cahill and mother came down from Portland on Thursday with the intention of going up to Bohemia on Friday morning, but Thursday night Mrs. Cahill had a severe recurrence of a trouble which has been afflicting her for some time and from which they were hoping she would gain relief here, so that they were unable to go up to the camp. However, when she is better they will go up thinking that the higher altitude and the freshness of air will greatly benefit her.

A BIG LUMBER DEAL

Cottage Grove Will Without Doubt Soon Have a Large Sawmill

Some time ago J. I. Jones, W. H. Abrams and Wm. B. Root were appointed by the Commercial Club as a committee to see what could be done towards getting the Long and Bingham mill started up. Having been unable to get that started they kept after the business and got Mr. R. Sutor and son of Portland, who have recently sold out their large mill at Linton, just north of Cottage Grove here, so that Mr. Sutor made the committee a proposition to build a $75,000 mill here in Cottage Grove, if they would secure for him a contract for 50,000,000 feet of poles. It did not take the committee very long to get down to hard work. They started up a number of people that would guarantee the delivery of the lumber. Mr. Jones has the lumber to fill the contract up on the O. & S. E. Mr. Campbell of the Pacific Timber Co. will deliver such an amount on the Coast Fork if he can get the contract and the Cottage Grove Lumber Co. owned by Joe Young, F. Jordan, F. D. Wheeler and others also are in a position for the business.

In order to deliver the lumber the Cottage Grove Lumber Co. would have to get the O. & S. E. to build a 4 or 5 miles spur to their timber or build a road for themselves, and they say if they can get the contract they will get either the spur or the separate road. They are red hot after it, and mean business. To reach the lumber at the end of the line, the O. & S. E. will have to be extended some distance, part of which is already graded and partly completed.

One of these parties has about 200,000,000 feet of lumber to be cut, and wants to get at it, and as Mr. Sutor offers to pay $5 per 1000 feet they think there is money in it.

Just as the deal was about to be closed by Sutor with some of these parties he was taken sick and had to go home, but he got a round trip ticket and expects to be back here very shortly and close the deal right up and get to work. This mill alone would mean the employment of about 150 men, and if the one mill gets to going, in all probability the owners of the Long and Bingham mill will then find it necessary for them to get their own mill into operation. In fact things look pretty bright here in the lumber business right now, and we hope they will look a good deal brighter in the next 30 days.

The Commercial Club are getting right after everything for the good of the town, and believes we have a good town and want to make it still better. They believe in boosting it good and hard. There are some knockers, but they don't count much when they buck up against the Club. We all believe in Cottage Grove and want to see it prosper, and the way to make it do so is to help every enterprise that comes or wants to come here.

Commercial Club.

The Commercial Club held a meeting Monday night at which quite a little business was transacted, much of it of importance to everybody, and which we will set forth.

The Club adopted a set of resolutions as used by the Portland Board of Trade dated July 6th, and forwarded same to the President asking and urging that the present status with regard to Chinese immigration be maintained.

A. B. Wood, F. J. Hard and G. W. Lloyd were named as delegates to attend the Irrigation Congress to be held at Portland August 21st to 24th.

The matter of the establishment of a smelter for the handling of Bohemia ores, either in Cottage Grove, Wildwood, or up nearer to Bohemia was taken up, and the secretary was instructed to write Prof. J. McDonald Hyde of the State University at Oregon and Prof. C. D. Grove, now of Seaside, both metallurgists of national repute for letters regarding the values of the ores to be used and smelted for the Club to use in interesting smelter men. He was also instructed to write F. C. Fuller of Sumpter, Oregon, inviting him to meet with the Club, to discuss the matter of erecting a smelter here. The Club is going after the smelter project and say that we have got to have it and the sooner the better. Let everybody help them out by good words, if you can't do any better than that, and we will get it, and that soon too.

Mrs. Andrew Brund is visiting in Brownsville for a few days.

The new photographer, Mr. M. C. Cochran, is located in the building formerly occupied by Shanafelt. He hopes in a few days to be ready to do business and hopes for a good patronage from the people of the town and vicinity.

W. A. Hemenway of Grants Pass who was formerly been in charge of the Grants Pass store of the Gorman-Hemenway Co. has gone to take charge of the Silverton store of the same company. Mr. James Hemenway takes his place at Grants Pass.

Rev. O. L. Fisher D. D. and wife of Denver, Colorado, came into town on Thursday and went up to Bohemia on Friday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hard, whom they have known for many years. Dr. Fisher was president of the Ft. Worth University for many years and through his hard labor and successful management greatly built up the school, but through it lost his health and for three years has been unable to do much work, although during the past year he has been Vice-Chancellor of the Denver University, and has been travelling for some months through California. He will now spend a time at Bohemia in search of his former strength. Dr. Fisher is the father of J. M. Fisher, connected with F. J. Hard's office in this city.
