SATURDAY.....APRIL 14, 1906

The farmers around Cottage Grove are getting to be more progressive, are adopting more modern methods, and pushing every bit of their land to its greatest earning capacity. A recent exhibition of this is the increase in the sale of mohair this year over previous years. 12,159 pounds, and this is not all of the year's shearing, so we are informed. Many farmers are selling their milk cows, and buying better ones in order to get better results, separators are being bought, and improved methods of feeding inaugurated.

A contract will soon be let for the surfacing of Second Street and the intention is to make a big drain to carry off all the water that now runs across the street and down the alley for a distance before being turned again across lots. The alley between Main and Platte streets from Second to Fifth streets is in a filthy and unhealthy condition and would breed disease enough to kill a townful of people. When the council goes after the street grading and surfacing let them tackle the alley proposition along with it, and get them fixed up right too, for they need it worse than the streets.

B. A. Washburn of Springfield was a visitor in town on Thursday looking after his political interests. He is a candidate for representative of Lane county in the state legislature on the Republican ticket, and looks for a large vote for himself throughout the county, as he has many friends scattered around, and he thinks that they will all give him their support. He is associated with his father in the milling business in Springfield, and while he has assisted in political work this is the first time he has been out for any political office for himself. He proposes to do what he can for a clean and business like administration of affairs, with an equal interest for affairs all over the county. He will appreciate your support.

H. M. Cake.

H. M. Cake's popularity along the coast as a candidate for United States Senator is apparent from the following in the Tillamook Headlight of March 15th:
"Of all the aspirants for United States Senator, Mr. H. M. Cake, of Portland, is certainly the most fitted to represent Oregon in the National Assembly, and the people of the state will not be making a mistake when they cast their vote for him at the primary election, for there is no doubt whatever that he is energetic and wide-awake to the interests of Oregon. For the past six years he has been prominently identified as President of the Commercial Club with a good deal of the progress and development of Oregon, and coming in touch with people from all parts of the state, Mr. Cake is the kind of a man Oregon needs in the United States senate, for he knows the needs of Oregon, and from present indications it looks as though he will be the next United States senator.

sheriff and chief of police located the car that Mitchell was supposed to occupy and entered the same from opposite ends. After locating, from their descriptions, the man whom they supposed to be Mitchell, the officers with their guns and one hand in their side coat pockets kept him covered, Sheriff Fisk, extending his right hand for a hearty handshake accosted Mitchell: "Hello, Bill Francis!" Mitchell spoke up: "Guess you are mistaken," and replied after parleying, "My name is Mitchell." This assured the officers that they had the right man. He was quickly searched and informed that he was wanted down the line for skipping his hotel bill, which he stoutly denied with the plea that "he always paid his bills." Thus he was marched off to jail, supposing it to be some minor charge of which he was innocent, little thinking that he was being booked upon a charge for which there was a $5000 reward for his capture.

Saturday's Portland Journal says: Jack Mitchell, accused in five states of horse stealing, train robbery and the murder of two sheriffs' deputies, and has repeatedly declared that he would never be taken alive, was captured at Eugene yesterday afternoon through the efforts of the local police department. Detectives Vaughn and Hellyer had the man almost within their grasp at Montavilla Thursday, where they went disguised as members of a surveying party, but he gave them the slip that night.

For more than two years the authorities of Montana and Idaho have been searching for Mitchell. Three other states took part in the man hunt at different times, but all finally gave up the chase except the Idaho authorities and railroad detectives. Mitchell was trailed into Canada by a railway detective and a short time ago to Portland.

"I will never be taken alive." That is the sentence repeatedly uttered by Mitchell, and the two detectives were made acquainted with the murderous nature, courage and indomitable will of the man with whom they were dealing.

It was ascertained that Mitchell's wife lived at Montavilla. The detectives watched the home for two or three days and were finally rewarded by catching sight of Mitchell. Knowing him to be armed, Vaughn and Hellyer and the railway detective attired themselves as members of a surveying party and pretended to work in the vicinity of the house.

Mitchell became suspicious of their actions, kept close to the house and after dark Thursday night made his escape. The detectives next learned that he had applied several days ago at a local employment office for work and was promised it at Drain, Oregon. They then discovered that he took the train from here for Drain. Word was telephoned to Eugene authorities and yesterday afternoon Sheriff Fisk and Chief of Police Farrington boarded the train from Portland and arrested him on description.

More than two years ago Mitchell is said to have helped rob a Northern Pacific train in Montana. He was trailed by a posse to an Indian reservation and escaped after killing one of the posse. He was next hunted for horse stealing and in Idaho killed a deputy in a posse searching for him in the hills. His trail was taken up there by the railway detective, who has followed him pertinaciously for months.

Sheriff Fisk and Chief of Police Farrington knew the character of the man and were told of his declaration that he would never be taken alive. Yet they took the chance of a revolver duel with him rather than have a number of deputies all them, as they believed that too many men might cause confusion and give the man an opportunity to escape.

Sheriff Fisk has given the county good service in the past and should receive the vote of the people for the office of sheriff again. He is an able and a wise officer.

Mr. Carter says, "I will pay over to the state every dollar of the interest paid on state money. This interest will amount to from $10,000 to $20,000 per annum."

Mr. Carter has been in business in Jackson county for 22 years and has an excellent reputation as a fair, honest and capable business man. He will faithfully carry out his pledges to the people of the state.
