The feathers that some of the girls are wearing in their hats these days must have cost not only many a penny, but many, many thousands birds their lives. It is exceeding strange how often we find pleasure in the suffering of dumb animals.

Governor Chamberlain was certainly looking out for the people of Oregon when he refused to spend $15,000 or $20,000 in calling a special session of the legislature to appropriate money for the relief of San Francisco. Everybody knows we are all willing to give the money, but would rather give it personally, than to pay it in taxes and pay an additional $15,000 for the privilege of paying it in taxes.

Register.

Registration books are open again for the regular election, and will be open until May 15th, at 5 p. m. The registration is far short of what it should be. Don't miss your chance to vote at the regular election, by not registering.

May Not Stop Teachers' Convention.

San Francisco, April 25.—It is suggested that the model outdoor camp on Piedmont Hills back of Oakland, near the University of California be used as a meeting place for the National Educators' convention due to meet here July 4 to 9. President Schaefer has been wired to postpone any decision regarding the convention coming here.

Unlucky Boy.

Clarence Morss has decided to quit the sawmill business for good before he loses an arm or leg, or perhaps his life. He cannot work two weeks without getting hurt some way. Thursday afternoon he got his right arm pinched at the elbow, by a big 2000 foot log catching his arm against the knee of the head block on the carriage, while rolling the log on. With proper care he hopes to have it all right soon.

The Great Summer Resort.

The usual summer resort is a place to spend your money and just simply rest. London, Oregon is the place to rest, to regain your health, and still not spend very much of your money. The accommodations are first class, but are not intended to go to the bottom of your pocket book. The great feature is the Oregon Mineral Springs, whose health-giving streams flow for all. How good the waters are can be told by thousands, who have drunk the water at the springs, or that bottled and shipped away, or by those who have bathed in the bathing pool, and have found new strength and vigor, and relief from aches and pains in them.

Among the benefits to be derived from a summer resort are the recreations. At London Nature is at her best, and no recreation is better than the study of old Nature, at home among her handiwork. Here the grand old firs rear their heads aloft, and thousands of tiny rivulets unite to make our streams. Game and fish of all kinds tempt the sportsmen, and rest, good rest, free from care and worry, amid the conveniences of home are yours. Come one and all and know the pleasure of a summer re-creation at a summer resort, close at hand, which bids fair to eclipse the renown of all the other resorts of the country.

Who manages this Eden, do you ask. The Oregon Mineral Springs Association, of which Levi Gear, a stalwart son of a giant race is manager and seeks to let the world know that here is found a mecca for all ills and ails of every man.

Lots of Work.

A. L. Craig, general passenger agent and Wm. McMurray, assistant general passenger of the Harriman lines in Oregon, have sent to the local agents of their companies a message, of which this is a part: "Please ascertain and advise immediately if any of these men be given work in your vicinity, in any capacity." Meaning of course the California refugees. J. M. Isham, the local passenger and freight agent, has taken the matter up with the relief committee and a cursory canvass reveals the fact that there is work here and in the country about for a great many men. More, perhaps, than will be sent here. If there should be any positive assurance that there would be a large supply of able bodied men, perhaps the city and county would co-operate and take up the matter of street and road work. But the indications now are that the stream of refugees will from now on grow smaller, in view of the fact that avenues of employment are opening up in San Francisco, and will grow larger until within a few months more working people will be needed than were ever there before. So the supply for all the Oregon points will probably not come up to the demand. For between the lumber and railroad camps, the hopfields, etc. etc. the demand for men in Oregon is now great and growing—so much so that laborers will continue to be brought from the east.

A Real Thing in Bookworms.

The bookworm has come to New York again after an absence of 11 years.

At noon yesterday Henry Thorpe, an employe at the Merwin-Clayton auction rooms, was taking out of a wooden box some old books belonging to the late Dr. Burnett, of Washington, when out dropped a bookworm.

The bookworm, which was one-third of an inch in length had apparently wriggled out of an ancient Shakespeare folio. It showed signs of life, and after being identified by the bug sharp as the real thing, was put in a plain white envelope. It soon perished.

Thorpe, who has been handling old books for 35 years, said this was the second bookworm he had come across in all that time. In 1892 two were found in Benjamin's bookstore, 752 Broadway, in a worn, leather-bound copy of "Seneca," published in London in 1675.—New York World.

San Francisco will have legal holidays each day for about the next thirty days in order to protect the banks, because they cannot open their vaults nor begin to do business for about that time, on account of the fact that the vaults have become so heated, and being air tight the papers are all crisp, and when the doors are opened and fresh air is admitted, there is instantly spontaneous combustion, so fierce as to utterly destroy everything, so that the greatest pains must be taken to thoroughly cool the vaults before they are opened after a fire.

Salem is going right after a line to Independence, and is going to raise the $60,000 necessary to buy bonds to build the extension.

Now that Prof. Hawley has been nominated, most of the republican papers of the district will have to eat a big plate of crow. They will have to deny the stories they printed about their candidate's insanity, as well as having called John Brown a murderer, etc. etc. Politics as it is actually worked is a deep mysterious thing.—Roseburg Review.

"Made in Oregon."

The "Made in Oregon" Exposition to be held in Portland from May 19 to 26, is a unique affair. It is absolutely a free show and everything to be seen during the week, together with all displays, the spectacular features, parades, the music, fireworks, etc., will be as open as the streets themselves, which, for this occasion will be the center of attraction. The exhibits and displays will be in the display fronts, in almost unbroken lines and unusual liberties will be allowed, the city ordinances being suspended, to allow the crowds to enjoy themselves. Manufacturers of the state, representative of infant industries away from the center of population, will be represented. It promises to be an exhibition that will attract a great deal of attention to the state's industries. Exhibits will be forwarded for the purpose of display, when provision is made in advance for their care, free of freight charges, by the trunk line railroad companies.

Cottage Grove Argonauts.

Andy Nelson, Billy Edwards and Harry Brehaut have become filled with a desire to enjoy rowing on Coast Fork this summer, so they have been busily engaged for several weeks in building for themselves some first class boats, in the old Piper & VanDenburg warehouse. The boats are now practically completed, and Andy Nelson easily takes first place as expert ship builder. Each boat is built up of strips of fir half inch by three-quarters square moulded over a form. The boys hope to soon be able to get out for a trip down the river together.

Testing associations have become numerous in Denmark where the dairy farmers find it pays well to club together for the purpose of employing an expert to conduct a systematic test of the cows of their herds and incidentally to give them valuable suggestions as to the care of their cows, feeds, etc. A test association has recently been organized by the patrons of a creamery at Lake Crystal, Minn. It will receive material aid from the Minnesota Dairy Commission which regards the movement as one which promises to be of much use.—Oregon Agriculturist.
