A Good School System our Boon.

Cottage Grove has a good school system, with good teachers, who are fitted by years of study in the best of schools to teach the young children in the best manner, and are not alone good teachers but are of such a personality as to help in the upbuilding of their lives and characters, and the parents should be proud of having such a corps of teachers to send their children to. The parents of today never had such advantages as the child of today, who with the help of fine books, good teachers, modern investigations and appliances should be able in a few years to acquire more knowledge than their parents ever have gained.

The student who gets a smattering of knowledge and quits school work before his course is up is making a mistake, he may not regret it because he may not have enough sense to do so, but most persons who do so in later life would willingly give their all to have kept on, at any sacrifice to have gained the added knowledge they might have had, which their schoolmates gained and in gaining have become broader and greater men and women. Knowledge gives breath, without it we are the narrow, conceited men and women who drag down rather than lift up a community.

Parents live to build up, and if you cannot do what you would like to do, train your children and give them the learning and scholarship which will result in their having the power which you lack, and having given them this they will do doubly for you and them. Stand by the school, require the children to do their best, they do not realize their chances and their worth, as you, but in latter years will thank you for your persistence that kept them in school, that got them to school on time and made them get their lessons and know not the lesson alone in its wording, but its application, and thought.

Two sudden deaths within three days. The angel of death strikes we know not when, nor how. Two men gone in the prime of life, with almost no time after the accidents before they were dead. One married, leaving a grown up family, the last a single man supporting an aged mother, but both gone in a few minutes or hours to the great beyond.

The Leader was unable to furnish the comic supplements with last week's issue as the large shipment from the east was delayed and did not reach us until the following Monday, but we now have a large supply on hand and we trust will not run out before another shipment arrives.

Sears-Widdersheim

A quiet, but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Salem, Thursday, Sept. 20, 1906 at 3 o'clock p. m., the contracting parties being Ernest J. Sears of Cottage Grove and Miss Zelma Widdersheim of Salem, the pastor of the local Baptist Church officiating.

The parlor decorations were very pretty and appropriate and the pleasing and impressive ceremony was witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends of the happy couple. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Atha, while Walter Sears of Dallas, acted in the capacity of best man. The bride looked charming in a beautiful gown of white silk, while the groom wore the conventional black. At the conclusion of the ceremony splendid refreshments were served. The happy couple were the recipients of many elegant and useful presents. They took their departure on the evening train at Salem for Eugene and after a brief visit with friends in that city, came to Cottage Grove, which they will make their future home. The bride is a charming young lady, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Widdersheim of Salem, and is a sister of Mrs. W. A. Hogate of Cottage Grove. The groom is an adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sears, and both of the contracting parties are well known here and very popular. They were given a very cordial reception here by their many friends on their home coming. The Nugget extends congratulations and best wishes.

Science is making some wonderful strides in its many branches. Surgeons in New York are reported to operate on children with criminal instincts, and have been successful in changing their habits and instincts by such operations. A recent case was of a boy whose head was abnormally large, and who was criminal in all his ideas, except for about an hour a day. By an operation it is hoped to make this life entirely different.
