

Few Insurance Companies Stand the Test.

The San Francisco Chronicle last Sunday gave a list of insurance companies which were considered trustworthy in that city since the great disaster. Many of these companies are represented here. The list of reliable companies that paper gives is as follows:

The New York Underwriters; Queen of America; Home of New York; Scottish Union and National of Edinburgh and London; Glens Falls of New York; Citizens of St. Louis; St. Paul Fire and Marine of St. Paul, Minn.; Insurance Company of North America; Pennsylvania of Philadelphia.

After this list are given companies of doubtful standing and those that are known to be unreliable.

Aetna of Hartford; Liverpool and London Globe California of San Francisco; Hartford of Hartford; Continental of New York; Connecticut of Hartford; Springfield Fire and Marine of Massachusetts; German-American of New York; Phoenix of Hartford; New Hampshire of Manchester, N. H.; New Zealand of New Zealand; American of New York, N. J.; Mercantile Fire and Marine of Boston.

American Central of St. Louis; Teutonia of New Orleans, Providence-Washington of Providence, R. I.; Niagara of New York; London Assurance of London; Alliance of Philadelphia; Michigan Fire and Marine of Detroit, Mich.; Sun of London; Atlas of London; Manchester Assurance, Law Union and Crown of London; Union of London; North British and Mercantile of London; Northern of London; Phoenix of London; Pelican of New York; Northwestern National of Milwaukee; Security of New Haven.

Poultry Winners

Three first and a second at Washington state fair, and two first and a second at Oregon state fair.

Mrs. J. H. Warner sent a pen of four pullets and a cockerel of Silver Spangled Hamburg chickens to the Annual State Fair at North Yakima, Washington, where in the strongest of competition her chickens won four prizes as follows: 1st prize cockerel, tie for first on pullet, second on pullet and first on pen. Mrs. Warner is especially pleased as she had competition from old established breeders from whom she had secured the stock which bred the chickens which won for her in competition over their own kin.

Mrs. Warner did not exhibit at the Oregon State fair, as J. C. Johnson exhibited there a pen of Silver Spangled Hamburgs purchased of her this spring on which he took three prizes. First on cockerel, first and second on pullets.

Opportunities

Make your opportunity—as Abraham Lincoln made his in borrowed books which he read at night.

Make it as Cunard made it, from a jack knife and a piece of wood from which he whittled a model for one of the greatest steamship lines in the world.

Make it, as Galileo did, out of bits of glass from which he made a crude opera glass, with which he made great discoveries.

Make it as Farada did, in the attic of a drug store where he made chemical experiments with a pan and old bottles.

Make it as deaf, dumb and blind Helen Keller made hers.

Opportunities are yours, but you must make them.

"A happy hit" may be made sometimes by a bold venture, but the old highway of steady industry is the safe road to travel.—Ex.

Millinery Opening.

I take pleasure in announcing our opening of Fall millinery with a selection of the latest pattern hats and bonnets on Saturday, September the 29th 1906.

MARY BARTELS.

The naturalization law went into effect Thursday. Many people entitled to their final papers made great haste to secure them before the law went into effect. Under the present law, it is much more difficult to become a citizen, endless questions, including a full description of the person, the entire life and attesting that he is to become a permanent citizen, is not an anarchist, nor polygamist, and many other detailed questions, so as to give the government a knowledge of who is being let in.

Geo. La Peen of Minnesota dropped off the train here Friday to pay a short visit to his cousin Albert Short, who had not seen him for years.

Frank Crabtree and son are doing considerable hauling this fall. Mr. Crabtree is about to begin digging potatoes and says he has the finest potatoes in the valley.

Coming to Cottage Grove.

They will come one month apart, beginning October 5th, will be held at the Opera House.

The citizens of Cottage Grove will be favored this fall and winter with five very excellent entertainments, secured from the Midland Lyceum Bureau of Des Moines, Iowa. The Commercial Club is conducting the course and that it will be a success is practically assured. The talent is guaranteed and merits liberal attendance.

The first attraction will be Mrs. Wm. Calvin Chilton of Mississippi. As an artist she ranks among the best. Her entertainment, "An Evening in Dixie Land," is attractive, entertaining and instructive. In Europe as well as America she has greatly delighted her audiences. Hear her Oct. 5th.

The second attraction is Marshal Choate Crouch, who has not only been a Chautauqua favorite, but who has so ably entertained a number of select audiences in the central west. His subject is timely and his message worth while. None who hear his "Simple Life," will fail to praise him. He comes Oct. 27.

Another attraction is the Midland Opera Quintette. This company has been a great musical success during the past two years, both in the Central States and the West. It is composed of very able artists who are excellent soloists. They give regular quartettes, vocal and instrumental solos—the latter upon violin and piano—splendid readings and most pleasing and artistic cantatas. The quality of their work is high class, the variety is seldom equalled. They are guaranteed to please. Hear them on Nov. 30.

The fourth number is Dr. Thomas McClary, who not only is said to be one of the ugliest men upon the platform but who also is an Irishman. His very ugliness is attractive and his Irish gives him natural humor. He certainly is a star humorist. A Chautauqua favorite as well as a most successful man in the Lyceum field, he is sure to please. His subject is "The Mission of Mirth," and to hear him is a sure guarantee that you will carry more mirth with you in your mission. Hear him and laugh with him on Dec. 22.

Then follows the Royal Male Quartette. Nothing pleases as well as mole quartettes. The members of this company are fine soloists and their voices blend so beautifully that they invariably please the people. They give vocal quartettes, trombone quartettes, solos and readings. In quality they rank high, in variety they certainly excel. If you love good music hear the Royals on Jan. 23.

Single admissions will be fifty cents, while season tickets cost only $2. Season ticket holders have first choice at reserved seats and will have some reserved for entire season.

The reservation of seats for season ticket holders begins Tuesday, Oct. 2, and for general admissions on Wednesday following at New Era Drug Store. Buy your season tickets at once either from the solicitors that are working this week or from Veatch & Lawson, New Era Drug Store, Currin & Veatch, Benson's Drug Store, or at either newspaper office.

Take Notice

W. C. Johnson of the firm of Pearce and Johnson, has sold out all his interest in the Mercantile business to his partner Thomas Pearce. Accounts due said firm prior to Sept. 1st will be collected by W. C. Johnson or Thomas Pearce at their place of business.

Thomas Pearce.

A great many campers have gone through the Grove in the last few days. Most of them seem to be going some place to settle for their winters home.

The Commercial Club wants to help Cottage Grove go forward. Help them do it.

To the Public.

Representatives of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company have started a house to house canvass among the farmers of this county, offering them an extremely low rental rate for instruments to be used in connection with the Central offices of the Company throughout the country.

For eight and one-third cents a month the subscriber is given free switching with all other subscribers connecting with his Central exchange. Under this rate it would appear that no rural resident need be without a telephone and its attendant advantages especially as every assurance is given of prompt and efficient service.

Mr. L. P. Bennett is in charge of the canvass in this county and he states he may be seen at the Central offices of the company in Eugene, or will visit any community or organization of farmers interested in Telephone matters.

PLANNING A HANDY BARN

In the accompanying barn plan stalls occupy one side of the barn, but may be turned to suit convenience. The plan allows stable for cows, 25 by 13; passage, 5 by 13; horse stalls (four), 20 by 13. As you enter the barn a stairway at the right takes you to the loft. Next comes the carriage room, 15 by 22 (stairway is three feet wide); then the grain room, opposite the passage and equally convenient to horses and cows, 5 by 9; next the harness room, 7½ by 9. The harness room should have a closet for fancy driving harness, robes, blankets, etc. A washstand would also be convenient. Last but not least is an implement room, 12½ by 9, which every farmer should have. Here may be stored a multitude of small implements, safe from the weather. This room may have a workbench—should have if you have no shop. A driveway ten feet wide runs the entire length of the barn.

It will be seen that I have planned for lots of daylight. When the universe is brimful of it it seems too bad to shut it out. It is sanitary, too, says a Rural New Yorker correspondent, commenting upon this barn plan, submitted by himself. By all means lay no floor under the carriages. By keeping them on the ground you save much shrinking of rims and expansion of blacksmith's bills. As to cost, if one can get his frame out for $200 and will work hard he ought to build a barn 32 by 50 for $800 and have something left. Discharge your carpenters when the frame is up if you are at all handy with tools. Putting in windows, building doors, etc., isn't such an undertaking as you might think. Make the barn warm, light and airy, but not drafty.

Faith In Cattle.

We expect to see better things in the beef cattle industry, but we are not counting on the settlement of the range country to help bring them about. We do expect that the development of the sheep industry on ranges and farms and the attractions of the hog business on the farms will cut into the production of cattle to such an extent as to have a beneficial effect on prices. In some sections sheep have almost replaced cattle. If the ranges are to produce fewer cattle then the farms must produce more or the supply decrease. It is doubtful whether the farms are producing more cattle, however. Certainly they are selling calves quite freely. And equally certain is the tendency in the corn belt to raise fewer cattle and depend on the range for supplies. If all these conditions continue the country will inevitably come to a cattle shortage.—National Stockman.

Champion Shorthorn Bull.

This handsome Shorthorn bull, White-hall Marshall, was champion at Kansas City and Springfield in 1906 and is owned by G. F. Harding of Wisconsin.

Well Ordered Pastures.

A well ordered farm should have a hog pasture, two for the cows and colts and one for the calves. If there are a few sheep they may run with the cows. If much of a flock, they need a separate lot. Often the calves and hogs use the same pasture. This will do, but it is not desirable. It is better, though not necessary, to have the cows and colts separated. The playfulness of colts is apt to distress the calves.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

An Object Lesson.

To prove that a harness will move a load if the start is slow and steady, but will not move it if started with a jerk an exchange suggests the following proceeding: Hitch a piece of ordinary twine to a weight of about twenty pounds. Pull the cord slowly and steadily. The weight will move. Now try to move it by applying the force with a quick jerk. The cord breaks and the weight is not moved.
