How to be Happy.

If you would decrease your cares,
Happy be and glad,
Learn to banish all affairs
That would make you sad.
Shut from out the heart and mind,
Every thought of care,
Try the art of being kind,
Now joys everywhere.
Don't be harsh, and don't be gruff,
Keep your temper sweet;
Hate is only sour stuff,
Full of gall and heat.
Just be happy and be glad,
All the live-long day,
Don't get mad and don't get sad,
For it doesn't pay.
—HOWARD CARLTON TRIPP

Is Cottage Grove to be considered fortunate or unfortunate in having three tickets in the field for the coming city election? The citizens met in mass convention and nominated a ticket, placing thereon the name of J. I. Jones as its standard bearer. The meeting seemed to be harmonious and the nominations satisfactory.

Quietly and unobtrusively the portion of our citizens who call themselves socialists next got together and named a ticket with G. H. Dyer as their choice for mayor.

But there was still another class of our citizens who, not being entirely satisfied with the nominees of either ticket, met together in mass convention and the tax-payers ticket was born, the nominee for mayor being Chas. Van Denburg.

Now had party lines been drawn, it is only reasonable to suppose that the three-cornered fight would be awarded to the strongest combatant, but as both the "Citizens' caucus and the "Tax-payers' caucus required no political fealty to be entertained, it perhaps will place a hardship on some of our citizens as to which candidate they will support and put them to their wits' end to truly and squarely promise their support should they be approached by either candidate.

The socialist, on the other hand, if he knows his party's choice to be a capable, honest man and one who is eminently fit for the position for which he has been nominated, can promise his support and vote.

As far as the other two tickets are concerned, the name cuts no figure whatever, the citizen is a tax-payer and the tax-payer a citizen. There is no radical difference in the policy to be followed. The looked for results of the administration is identical and the Leader does not believe that either one gentlemen can do more than the other in the capacity of mayor.

They are excellent men in every respect and equally efficient, and it is safe to say that the municipal affairs will be well taken care of, and receive the careful thought for the best interest of Cottage Grove, of either one of the gentlemen as mayor, and of their fellow citizens named with them.

The Leader is inclined to think that the two tickets are unfortunate for Cottage Grove. The two chosen leaders are brothers-in-law, and it seems as though it was almost like "robbing Peter to pay Paul" and is more liable to cause discord and hard feelings—not between these two gentlemen—but among their many friends. Had party lines been observed, or was there any radical proposition to be considered, wherein the two candidates differed, the two tickets would not only be the correct thing but welcomed.

As the socialist ticket is named on its merits and defines party lines it is not a point at issue in these remarks.

A project for a canal connecting Corvallis and Eugene, it is said is causing some attention in Eugene, and that a party of surveyors will soon be put in the field to make a preliminary survey and ascertain the probable cost and the feasibility. The distance is something over 20 miles, and is to be from the Willamette to the Long Tom at Monroe.

Senator Bourne asks the Oregon Development League through all of its organizations to at once communicate with the director of the Geological Survey at Washington City, and insist that this state be given more liberal recognition in the development of its mineral resources.

Oregon has 75 students in Eastern colleges. Cornell leads with 13. Northwestern has 11, Harvard 10, Yale 7, Smith 7, Michigan 5, the others scattering. Of these 38 are from Portland.

This is Worth Saving

The following simple home-made mixture is said to relieve any form of Rheumatism or backache, also cleanse and strengthen the Kidneys and Bladder, overcoming all urinary disorders, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

A well-known authority states that these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction, and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder or rheumatism should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for some people.

Mr. Finn Answers Mr. Wallace.

MR. EDITOR:—Rev. Wallace's reply to an article of mine elicits a comment from me, as it savors very strongly of both the critic and the cynic.

As a critic he starts out in a spirit of good will, referring to the fore part of the article as praiseworthy; but as a cynic, he overdoes himself in publishing his ideas of the "last part" of the article—ideas not in touch with the wording or spirit of the article, and I am sorry to say, based solely upon prejudice, malice and contempt, insinuating the horror he entertains of my "mental and moral self" and sneeringly adding that I "devoted" the article to an "advertisement" of myself accordingly.

Yes, Mr. Wallace, that article is a "photograph" of my "mental and moral self," and you can't change it with your brush. The backgrounds of that "photograph" are the scenes of my childhood, Merrill, Wis., where I refer you for a record of my character before I came to Cottage Grove, and, while here, I challenge you to point a finger of scorn at my character. Have you heard a word from a man, woman or child? If you cannot sustain your insinuations, I can accuse you of attempting to vilify me without knowledge or fact.

Mr. Wallace again exhibits his prejudice in a spiteful and bigoted manner when he says "Mr. Finn advertises himself as opposed to the moral influences of ministers and church members" in politics. Read my article again and see if you can find the words moral and church members in it, as used by him. Why didn't he quote me right? The reason is obvious: that part of the article being too true for reiteration, he was forced to misconstrue in order to vent his spleen and do me an intended injury.

But the supremely reckless and audacious effort of Mr. Wallace to mislead—which is worse than falsifying—is conspicuously manifest where he says "He (meaning me) also advertises himself by his silence that he is in favor of the immoral influence (in politics) of the saloon, the brothel, the gambler and the dance hall"—mind you, by "his silence." Too thin! Too thin! What does he think of Christ's silence on the cross, when maligned by one of the thieves at his side?

Size me up, Mr. Wallace, from what I am and what I say, not from an impure imagination, and you and I will be friends. DAVID FINN.
