Monument Unveiled.

One of the laws of the Woodmen of the World is to erect a monument costing $100 over the grave of each of its deceased neighbors and on a Sunday in June to unveil this monument and decorate the grave with beautiful flowers. Thus it was in compliance with this law, that a number of the Woodmen of this city accompanied by their wives went to Comstock last Sunday and unveiled the monument erected there during the past year over the grave of the late Clay E. Anlauf.

F. H. Rosenberg acted as Consul Commander, Prof. Briggs delivered the address and D. J. DuBrulle read the poem. A number of friends and the relatives of the young man were present and the exercises were carried out in ritualistic order.

The unveiling ceremonies of the Woodmen are beautiful and impressive and one of the many beautiful features connected with this great order. No Woodman's grave is left unmarked for over the grave of each sleeping neighbor a monument must be erected by the order.

If a neighbor is lost at sea or dies in any way that his body can not be found the monument is erected to his memory in his home town, thus keeping his memory green in the hearts of his neighbors who each year decorate the spot with sweet flowers in love, honor and remembrance.

He was taken to the Imperial restaurant and rooming house where he is getting along as well as expected.

HAD A GRAND CELEBRATION

An Immense Crowd Come to Cottage Grove to Take Part in the Festivities of the Day.

The celebration in Cottage Grove was a success. All the arrangements were carried out without a hitch anywhere and the marshals of the day were certainly the right men in the right place.

No better weather could have been provided, had each individual been delegated to fix it to suit himself. The sun peeped at its scheduled time from a hazy sky, and as the mist rolled by gave promise of making it unpleasantly warm, but a sea breeze springing up, at no time during the day was the heat oppressive.

By 7 o'clock wagons and buggies, loaded to their utmost carrying capacity, some, however, of which were only built for two, came rolling into town from all directions, and by 8 o'clock the streets of our city were crowded with hundreds of spectators waiting to view the parade. On the main street it was only with "slow and measured gait," that progress was made, but there was no jostling or pushing, for those who were in a hurry could not did take the populists' choice—the middle of the road. And right here we will say that a more orderly and well behaved crowd of people never gathered together in any community, not a clash or an angry word being heard during the day.

It was nearly 10 o'clock before all taking part in the parade assembled at the designated place and were formed and took up the line of march in the following order:

- Cottage Grove Band
- Company E
- Orator and Civic Authorities
- Liberty Car
- Columbia and States
- Christian Endeavor
- Roman Chariot
- Roman Chariot
- Loyal Temperance Legion
- Ideal Millinery Carriage
- Womens' Club
- L. O. T. M. and Rebekahs
- Modern Pharmacy
- Peare Bros.
- Modern Woodmen of America
- Cottage Grove Ice Factory
- Carriages, bicycles
- Citizens on horseback

This made a parade that was creditable to the city, and great ingenuity and excellent taste had been displayed in getting up the various floats.

In beauty and grace, Miss Francis Howard surpassed the mythical Goddess of Liberty, while Miss Hazel Gray and Miss Mabel Kime as her maids of honor, and Miss Hazel Hazleton representing Plenty, and Miss Mabel Rosenberg as Peace, completed a Liberty car that for a galaxy of loveliness was not surpassed in the United States.

Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean, was represented by Miss Agnes Langdon, the Hawaiian Islands by Miss Eunice Van Denburg and Miss Opal Whitely, and won the admiration of the crowd as they passed along. The different Orders represented are also worthy of special mention but time and space prevents us from describing minutely this portion that so materially aided in making a success of this portion of the day's program.

Perhaps the car that received the most applause was that gotten up by the Womens' Club, a rolling avalanche of roses, and to the club is due credit for the handsome display. Close on its trail must be mentioned the daintily dressed vehicle of the Ideal Millinery, being a garland of flowing vines terminating in a central bouquet.

The Cottage Grove Ice Factory was in line, with a display of flowers frozen in a large cake of ice, and Peare Bros. and the Modern Pharmacy were patriotic in their display of the Stars and Stripes.

The Modern Woodman of America had a float which perhaps attracted the most attention. It was composed of a small log cabin, and was followed by some by some typical miners wending their weary way with packs on their backs, to the Land of the Golden West, while a boy on the float was frantically pulling on a rope attached to a goat which the miners were prodding on as fast their wearied feet would permit them. This float caused much fun and laughter along the route.

Arriving at the grove where the exercises were held, Co. E, lined up on one side of the road and presented arms to each feature of the parade as it drove past, a graceful act of Captain Johnson and his command.

While the people were seating themselves the band rendered a selection, after which Dr. Wood, who was chairman of the day, called the gathering to order, and Rev. Beatty offered prayer. This was followed by a selection by the band. Miss Gertrude Palmer being introduced by the chairman, read the Declaration of Independence in a clear and distinct voice, which was listened to with close attention. After more music, Chairman Woods in a few well chosen words introduced Rev. J. R. N. Bell, the orator of the day.

Mr. Bell gained the closest attention of his audience from the start, which he held for over an hour. His oration deviated from the usual spread eagle kind of Fourth of July orations dealing more with the present and future of our country than with the past, and was a very able and interesting address. This concluded the exercises for the morning and the crowd dispersed to various shady nooks for their basket lunch.

THE SPORTS.

Promptly at 1:30 the program began at the grove and was carried out according to schedule except the three-legged and sack races, no contestants responding.

The song by Mr. Elias West, an old man 73 years of age, was well received.

The wrestling match between Dr. Macey and Joe Robinson which took place on the platform was much enjoyed and won by the latter.

The baseball game between Cottage Grove and Eugene was witnessed by a large crowd, and was won by the home team.

The other contests and the winners are as follows:

100 yard foot race—1st prize, Ed. Finnerty; 2d prize, Orrill Spear.

75 yard foot race for boys under 21—1st prize, Joe Robinson; 2d prize, Harry Dyer.

50 yard foot race for boys under 16—1st prize, Bud Lincoln; 2d prize, John Coater.

Girls 150t race—1st prize, Hazel Gray; 2d prize, Audry Landgon.

Plug Uglies—1st prize, Clay and Harry Mosby; 2d prize, Tom Parker.

A dancing pavilion was erected at the park and dancing was indulged in during the afternoon and evening. In the evening the band gave another concert on Main street and a grand display of fireworks was had. All together the celebration was the most successful held in this city. There were no accidents, no drunkenness and no rowdiness. Everyone enjoyed themselves and the committees having the celebration in charge are to be congratulated upon the success.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

It is as well to know just where to go to get the doctor's prescription filled accurately, quickly and reasonably as regards to price. Pure drugs, in average drug stores, are the exceptions not the rule. Careful compound is another important item the care that insures speed with exactness. And reasonable price is not the least thing to think of.
