Every lawyer in the state will be interested in the revision of the rules of the supreme court, which are to take effect October 1. Among the principles changes are the following:

No order will be made allowing an extension of time to file transcript upon five days' notice to the adverse party, unless the time is too short to give notice, in which case time will be enlarged on ex parte showing until such notice shall be given.

The object of this change is this: In many cases application is made to the supreme court for this purpose when they have no record whatever of the case and the court below having full jurisdiction to make such order, is in a better position to know of its justice.

Mandates have heretofore been held until of the parties have applied for it. Hereafter they will be sent down as soon as the motion for rehearing is decided, if overruled, or after 20 days after the case is decided and no motion for a rehearing has been made.

It has been discovered that mandates have been left here for months after cases have been decided, because no one has called for them and in some instances the parties have been in jail. And in civil causes attorneys have not seemed to find out that the mandates were ready to be had for the asking.

In criminal cases the clerk will set cases after 20 days have elapsed from the date the appellant has filed his brief, unless the state shall make application to have the time enlarged, and give some valid reasons therefor. The object being to expedite the trial of criminal cases. The appellant is seldom desirous of such expediting, and some times the district attorneys forget there is such a case.

Sixteen briefs will be required instead of twelve, as heretofore. This is because of the increased number of members, to-wit, the two commissioners.

A newspaper like an individual that has a mission in life, that is consistent and persistent in the advocacy of its policies and principles, that is respectful and self-respecting, will command the confidence and support of the public regardless of whether it, as a representative of the views of all or not. A newspaper that is trustworthy, is honest, is bold and fearless and unwavering and yet conservative and considerate of others, always secures respect for its opinions and confidence in its honesty of purpose. It receives and is entitled to the support of the masses.

A newspaper controlled by personal whims and prejudices, having no fixed principle, may succeed for a time, but when storms of stress come and it is put to the crucial test the people find out, and once found out its influence for good is gone. It is best, therefore, for a newspaper to be honest with itself, honest with the public at all times. If its constituency cannot agree with it, they will respect frankness and come to know it even better than it knows itself. Bryan and Roosevelt are types of public men and the public has come to know and to understand. If all men do not agree with them they never stop to question their honesty.

A newspaper that strives to emulate the example of these two men in taking the public into their confidence will at last have its honesty above suspicion, whatever the error of judgment, which the public is always willing to forgive, but never a want of honesty.—Ex.

During this dog-day period, when the atmosphere is laden with a spirit of resistance to corporation oppression, don't let the fellow who never contributes a dollar towards the advertising and advancement of his community be excused from making such contribution because he can talk louder and oftener than the busy man and good citizen who believes that a "square deal" includes himself and that he should do his duty toward his fellow citizen—if "broke" or too stingy to make giving a pleasure, he can do his section some good by writing a few letters to relatives, acquaintances and friends in the East, telling them of the low rates to, and the glorious opportunities presented by Oregon.

If the people of Oregon fail to take advantage of the colonist rates beginning September 1st and continuing until October 31st, it will not be the fault of the newspapers, for both in news, editorial and local columns the press of the State has kept the facts before its readers. Remember this is the one-way rate, the tickets are only TO Oregon and not round-trip, and good for any point in the State, but the ticket must read to your station when it is purchased of the agent back in the other States.

During the past three weeks the travel into Oregon from the East has been as large as at any time during the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and many of the visitors are becoming familiar with the opportunities afforded by the State, a large number of tourists having made stops at five or six points in different parts of the state.

To Have Help.

As a result of the visit of Judge R. A. Ballinger, commissioner of the general land office to Roseburg, the congested condition in the land office will be relieved as rapidly as possible. Judge Ballinger has ordered a proof clerk to be sent to Roseburg to aid in the work, as well as other assistants. "I found affairs badly congested at the land office and will do the best I can as nearly as possible to relieve the situation. The men are simply crowded with more than they can attend to and I have ordered a proof clerk to help them. Other assistants will be sent to the aid of the office and I hope to see the business well attended to in a month."

New Course of Study.

The new board of normal school regents has adopted a course of study for all the normal schools of the state. The new course is practically as suggested by the presidents of the various schools, who agreed on the requirements and who formulated a four-year course instead of the present three-year course. Pedagogy is required of all students and elementary agriculture and domestic science or manual training are among the important studies of the new curriculum. The English course has been materially strengthened and will run during the four years.

An anti-cigarette rule was adopted. The selection of teachers was left to be made by the presidents of each school, but the choice is to be ratified by the board.

How dear to our hearts is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view—the Liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things that to us seem so new: the wide spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell. The coin, of my fathers! We're glad that we know it, for some time or other 'twill come in right well—the spread eagle dollar, the old silver dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well.—X.

New Depot at Albany.

The state railway commission has directed that a new depot be built in Albany during the remainder of the year 1907 and that the arrangements be such as to facilitate the traffic at this point and be a safeguard to the patrons and a convenience to the train crews in handling traffic. The new depot is to cost not less than $6,000 and may be in the form of a union depot to accommodate the increased demands on account of the purchase of the Corvallis & Eastern by the Harriman interests.

The order will involve not only a new depot, but a change of the entire yards as to trackage, stockyards and freight sheds.

The new depot, furthermore, must be located on the "city side" of the tracks.

Annual Picnic

Mayor Jones gave his annual picnic to the Sunday School children of the M. E. Church yesterday at Latham school house about two miles from the city. A most delightful time was had and a large number of children and their parents enjoyed the holiday and "Jones paid the freight."

Each company has a self-subscribed fund with which they purchase fresh butter, milk and other delicate kind of food daily. A nearby spring supplies the camp with pure, cold water.

Home-Made Catarrh Cure.

Any one can mix right at home the best remedy of its kind known. The name "Cyclone" is given to the following prescription. It is supposed, because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison, relieving this foul and dread disease, no matter where located. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system all catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh specialist of national reputation.
