WINNERS OF PREMIUMS

At the Poultry Show Held Here Last Week

BABY SHOW A SUCCESS

A Complete List of Those Winning Premiums and Winners of Merchants Specials—Prize Babies.

The first annual exhibition of the Calapooia Poultry Association was a great success far beyond the anticipation of the management and our merchants and loyal citizens in no mean way sided the association in making it a success. The result is gratifying to all and shows plainly that the poultry industry is becoming a factor. A gentleman from the east visiting here attended the show and says he was amazed at the interest and enthusiasm manifested.

The baby show held the last afternoon of the exhibition was also a great success there being 30 babies entered. The judges, while we don't know who they are, nor can we find out, gave good satisfaction and everyone was pleased. Following is a complete list of premiums offered by our business men and the winners, also a list of those winning the association's first, second and third premiums and names of the prize winning babies:

The following are the winners of the "merchants' special premiums:"

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The University of Oregon is planning a loan fund of at least $5,000, based in the belief that a loan is better than an outright gift in the form of a scholarship. Some subscriptions have already been made to the fund, and a number of prominent men of the State have agreed to guarantee amounts up to $500. President Campbell is using his best efforts to raise the entire $5,000 this year if possible.

In almost every high school graduating class there are some who do not have the means for a college education, but who would take advantage of any fair opportunity offered them to secure one. The treasurer of the loan fund, who is to be the High School Inspector, and will thus have an opportunity to know personally the members of the classes, will work in conjunction with the city superintendents and high school principals. He will make loans to such students as need them each year at a low rate of interest, with the agreement that they are to repay the principal as soon as they are able after leaving college. A small amount of life insurances will be taken out on each at the expense of the fund. It is the plan to have ten men guarantee the fund against loss to the amount of $500 each.

The University has had a small loan fund of about $300 for the past four years. During this time, twenty-five students have been enabled to complete their college course who otherwise could not have done so. Only one loan has been lost.

Believe He's Right.

A man who amassed quite a comfortable fortune in the practice of medicine bought a farm in later life. After some years experience on the farm he made the following statements, which are worthy the consideration of many a boy who is cut out for a good farmer, but has aspirations for some profession for which he may have little more natural ability than a pig has for music. Hear his conclusions: "I would exchange my age, money and acres for youth and forty acres, and think that I had the best of the bargain; and I would start the farm by planting ten acres of orchard, buying two sows, two cows and two setting hens. Youth, strength and hustle are a great sight better than money, and the wise youth can have a finer farm than mine before he passes the half century mark, even though he have but a bare forty to begin with.—Rural Spirit.

The Thanksgiving Proclamation issued by the Portland Commercial Club giving the shipments of grain and flour from this state and Washington, was printed in fall by many of the greatest papers in the United States, the New York Journal of Commerce, the leading financial paper in the country, giving it especial prominence. Thirty-five vessels are loading wheat and flour in Portland's harbor, a greater tonnage than was ever before known.

"EVIL IS NOT POWER"

An article in the October Arena has unwittingly exploited the supposed power of evil, so-called, and has conceded to this self-asserting phenomenon of mortal mind a place in human experience which it could not occupy without dethroning God good, and robbing Him of His place as the one supreme infinite Mind who governs and guides the universe according to His will and pleasure, which will and pleasure must of necessity be in accord with His own divine nature.

The belief of power in evil is a belief in the power to harm yourself and to harm others, to lie, to steal, to murder, to break all the commandments of God. That this belief should prevail is possible only because the truth of being is not clearly understood. That it is a mistaken belief is easily seen from its own contradictory character. Jesus said, "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit" and if we start with the admitted fact that God is omnipotent, that He is infinite good, we can never admit that there is a power opposed to Him and to His nature. That evil is real or has power is an unthinkable proposition unless we absolutely deny the infinitude of God good. No form of evil can do the work of Truth, or have power or entity; evil can do nothing but destroy itself. If evil with its train of sin, sickness and death could have power, God would be dethroned—would not be omnipotent. Such a proposition must be rejected by every Christian, by every monotheist. Evil is no more real, because it seems to be real, than a wicked or a painful dream in sleep is real.

But the individual who attempts mentally or physically to produce the belief of sin, disease, or death, is guilty of the attempt to commit a murder, and Mrs. Eddy says scientifically and prophetically that at no distant day the mental assassin will be punished legally as certainly as the man or woman who sends a bullet into a man's heart. Today even the mental assassin is punished morally, for no one can desire to commit murder without incurring the penalty named in the Scripture, "Ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him," in other words, that the criminal can experience no harmony unless he repents and reforms. In Divine Science Life is God, and God is infinite, all; but to the personal senses the belief of death is as real as the fact of life, hence the belief that says, "I can kill a man mentally and not suffer for it," may be father to the thought of committing the crime of trying to kill a man, since as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Christian Science combats the false belief of power in evil, and freed mankind from the effects of this delusion. Its leading postulates are that God is the only power, that evil is not power. The perverted beliefs which find their foundation in the supposed reality of matter and godlessness do disappear when the truth of being is understood. Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health, page 186, "Evil is a negation, because it is the absence of something. It is unreal because it presupposes the absence of the omnipotent and omnipresent God. Mortals must learn that neither power nor reality belongs to evil;" and again on page 183, to suppose that God constitutes laws of inharmony is a mistake; discords have no support from nature or divine law, however much is said to the contrary.... Truth casts out all evils and materialistic methods with the actual spiritual law,—the law which gives sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, voice to the dumb, feet to the lame. If Christian Science dishonors human belief, it honors spiritual understanding; and the one Mind (God, good) only is entitled to honor."

The only possible source of evil is the belief that evil is real and has power. This belief is being rapidly dispelled by Christian Science and mankind is awakening to the universal dominion of good, the birthright of the sons and daughters of God. Jesus said, "None is good, save one, that is, God."
