C. H. Burkholder was transacting business at the county seat Wednesday.

Senator I. H. Bingham was up from Eugene Tuesday looking after business matters.

The Springfield News says that L. W. Davidson has sold his place at Springfield to Mr. Bigelow of Cottage Grove.

The ladies should call at Miss Barret's millinery store and examine those Henderson double front laced corsets.

If the winning number—293—is not presented by Feb. 1st, another drawing will be held for the same wagon at Lurch's.

F. J. Hard, the Bohemia mining man, has concluded to move his office to Eugene from which place he will direct his work.

Mayor J. I. Jones spent a few days in Eugene this week assisting in the prosecution of the liquor cases from this city.

Ol Hart is remodeling the old office of the Wells Fargo Express Co. and will soon open a restaurant and lunch counter therein.

Lewis Hartley left Friday for Cottage Grove to remain indefinitely. He will look after his mining interests near that place, says the Corvallis Gazette.

In consolidating the Nugget and Leader subscription lists, should errors in names, or credits for subscription payments be made, kindly call our attention to the matter.

Mrs. J. B. Stewart and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Max Stewart of near Star, were transacting business in town Tuesday and favored the Leader with a pleasant call and a subscription renewal.

There will be a lively basket ball contest at the armory Saturday evening between Cottage Grove vs Junction City high school. Admission 15 and 25 cents. A social dance will follow, music by Nelson's orchestra.

J. W. Wilson, of Ladora, Iowa, who has held the position of salesman with the Wheeler, Thompson Co., for some months past, has purchased an interest in that firm. He has had 20 years experience in the ladies and gents furnishing business and will make a valuable acquisition to the firm.

Charley Ottoson, a miner working for F. J. Hard at Oregon-Colorado mine in Bohemia, was badly injured in a cave-in at the mine late last week, breaking two ribs and injuring his back. He was working in a tunnel that is in about 2000 feet when several tons of rock fell on him. Workmen went to his rescue and dug him out. He is at the mine under the care of a doctor and is in a fair way to recover.

The Portland Daily Journal says: "The Cottage Grove Leader is very much improved under its new ownership."

Reuben Tucker came down from Grants Pass this week to make some disposition of his father's property on West Wall street, which he rented to Sam Lockwood. It is a good buy at $1600.

Ol Hart returned to Cottage Grove the first of the week to remain indefinitely. He has been spending some time at Baker City, which place, he says, was very little disturbed by the late financial flurry.

E. R. Gilstrap, circulation and advertising man on the Eugene Register, accompanied by Geo. Turner, his assistant, was hustling business in the Grove Tuesday and Wednesday. The Register is becoming almost as good a paper as the new Leader.

A. B. Hudson, a brother of Mrs. George Lea, arrived at this place recently from Waukesha, Wis., and will probably spend the winter here. He has spent several winters in Louisiana and says that Oregon's winter climate seems very much like that of the Southland.

The theatrical committee of Co. E announce that they have booked the famous Gorton Minstrels company for the evening of Friday Jan. 24, at the armory. This company is said to be even better than ever and an enjoyable evening is assured all those who attend.

"Bohemia" Sharp came down from the mines Tuesday to spend a few days in town looking after business matters. He is just recovering from severe injuries sustained by being struck by bark falling from a large dead tree upon him while he was at work on his place in the hills near the mines.

A good model of an automobile, composed wholly of an incubator, brooder and poultry supplies, with stove pipe elbows put together for wheels and a big teddy bear chauffeur, is a unique window display at the Wynne Hardware store, and needless to say, attracts much attention. The boys are clever window dressers.

Sam Lockwood has sold his nest little cottage and acre tract at the west end of Wall street to Comrade Harris who will move therein soon. The price paid was $1000, and Mr. Lockwood will move in the Tucker house nearby. Mr. Lockwood has purchased an acre and a half tract of Sam McKernon near the second silk creek bridge and will soon build a neat cottage thereon.

A Mr. Robinson of Klamath county, who was about to close a deal with F. B. Phillips for a farm near this city, received the sad news of the death of his wife, since he left home and on Thursday he hastened home, but will probably arrive too late to attend the funeral services. Mrs. Robinson was enjoying good health when he left home a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Robinson will return with his family to buy and locate here.

Mayor Jones Makes a Statement.

Editors Leader—If you will kindly give me the space I would like to say a few words through your paper, in regard to the present vigorous movement against the violators of the local option law in this city. I am not alone in this movement, but have the solid backing of the members of the city council with one exception—Councilman Porter, and I presume he would have fallen in line had he and his associate, Mr. Stewart, not been leasing a room in which this illicit traffic was being flagrantly carried on, at least their tenets plead guilty to such a charge this week.

I have repeatedly been accused of being a "bluffer," even from the beginning of my administration, but I was not, and the people will find out that what I said regarding my intentions to enforce the ordinances against law violators at the beginning of my administration through the columns of a local paper and to former liquor sellers personally, can be depended upon. It was a word of warning and was heeded to some degree as the slot machines disappeared and blind pigs temporarily suspended business. However, it soon was reported that such violations of law could not be prosecuted and a test case came up and failed in conviction for the reason that we had no ordinance to work under, nor neither can we have unless we change or amend our city charter, which will require a vote of our citizens, and I think this would be the proper procedure from all standpoints. I am sure from the result of the convictions this week, even the violator of the law himself would rather have paid his fine into the city treasury than to the county.

I understand that "Uncle Bob" Veatch has been profuse in his criticisms of my administration and stated that I "should be perjured" but not being familiar with the quiet work we had in hand and the many difficulties to overcome, I suppose he was honest in his censure. He, like others, did not know how hard we were working to get evidence which would not only convict but put the law violators out of business. I realize that these violators were allowed to run too long for the welfare of the city, but such vexing problems cannot always be solved in a day.

In conclusion, I will say that our cards have not all been played yet, by any means, and I predict a "dry town" for the rest of my administration, at least.

J. I. Jones.

New Cashier Cottage Grove Bank.

The Leader is informed that owing to the delicate health of C. Ross King he has deemed it only the part of wisdom to retire as cashier of the Cottage Grove bank and has therefore tendered his resignation, which has been accepted.

F. B. Phillips, a prominent, influential and highly esteemed citizen of this city has been chosen as Mr. King's successor, by the directors of the bank. While we regret the necessity of Mr. King's resignation on account of his declining health, we think the bank is fortunate in securing the services of such a competent and worthy successor to Mr. King.

Mr. King will probably devote what time his health will permit to the Yoncalla bank of which he is president. During his residence here with his estimable family, he has won a host of warm friends who will regret his departure from this city, but will join the Leader in wishing that he may speedily regain his lost health. What disposition Mr. Phillips will make of his real estate business has not yet been announced.

More Fine Chickens.

D. B. Chamberlen, a well known local poultry fancier, has just added another variety of chickens to his poultry yards in this city, the new birds being a trio of Black Javas direct from the yards of a large Minnesota breeder. Black Javas are an old and well known breed of chickens and were used as part of the foundation stock in originating and perfecting the Barred Plymouth Rock breed.

So far as we can learn, Mr. Chamberlen will have but one competitor in the state in breeding this strain of chickens, a gentleman residing near Portland, and he should therefore soon have a large demand for stock and eggs from this splendid breed. Mr. Chamberlen will also continue to keep his pens of S. S. Hamburgs and Barred Rocks up to their present high standard of excellence.

E. E. Bright, the local breeder of French Houdan and Silver Gray Dorking chickens, shipped a fine pen of the former to Lewiston, Idaho, this week and received another order from Canada. A fine pair of White Langshans were shipped to Washougal, Washington, Tuesday by W. C. Conner.

Gets $200 and 60 Days in Jail.

The verdict of the jury in the case of the city of Eugene against Charles Mayhew was opened last Saturday and it was found to be "guilty." The court reserved sentence till 2 o'clock when the defendant was summoned and the judge imposed a fine of $200 and 60 days in jail.

The defendant served notice that the case would be taken to the circuit court on a writ of review.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Dorris said that he believed these men who are found guilty of selling intoxicating liquors do not care for the payment of a money fine, regarding more in the nature of a substitute for the payment of a license and therefore he imposed the jail sentence in addition, which he said he thought would have a more salutary effect in securing obedience to the law of the land.—Register.

A Well Attended Convention.

George Comer, proprietor of the local harness store, returned home Wednesday evening from Portland where he was in attendance at the convention of the Wholesale Harness and Saddle Makers association. Mr. Comer reports the convention largely attended, delegates being present from Idaho, Montana, Washington and Eastern Oregon, there being a total of over 200. Monday night the delegates attended the Marquam Grand theatre and saw the "$1000 Beauty," having been supplied with complimentary tickets by the harness makers association. On Tuesday, the last evening of the convention, a grand banquet was held in the Commercial Club rooms and Mr. Comer says a finer spread was probably never prepared in Portland. The menu cards were printed on glazed leather and were very appropriate and artistic, being a beautiful souvenir of the occasion. Speaking of the moral wave in Portland, Mr. Comer says the lid is on good and tight in the metropolis and that when midnight comes every fellow quits his little game and hustles home, while many a throat gets mighty dry up there on Sundays. We guess there was very little doing, but what George seen or observed in the big city, however, we will not betray the confidence he reposed in us.
