HARK TO THE BANANA MAN.

He Tells of the Fruit with a Moneyed Future. Bananas are a simple and a handy mmodity. But, hark! They have a future. There's money in them. Listen to J. F. Kinseley, banana dealer, formerly of Honduras, at the Midland hotel this morning, says the Kansas City Star.

"We banana promoters are optimists. Did you see that Germany has taken the tariff off bananas? It won't be long before the Germans will be eat ing as much of my favorite fruit as Americans do. New York city last year got outside of a billion bananas, though, and the Germans will have to hurry

"The vecetarious? We have lots of faith in them. They are growing stronger every year-in numbers, I mean. Banana flour is better than any other flour. Your bread won't taste flat any more. It'll taste sweet, like bananas. And if you ever eat a pancake made of the new flour you'll never touch another buckwheat cake, even though it be of the kind mother used

"Mills for making this flour are be ing built all over the country. St. Louis has the largest one in the world. You see, this Mississippi valley is the best place in the world to locate the mills. The fruit is shipped in barges across the Gulf of Mexico and then up 'he river to the factory.

"What makes the banana busines such a good one is that everything Mrs. Neighbor-Aren't you going to concerned in it is utilized. The stalks call on our old schoolmate who has may be used for making paper after the spruce forests are eaten up. > "Bananas are great moneymakers They are grown upon swamp lands that are so thick with underbrush before they are cleared that even a cat couldn't penetrate them. But after nine months the plants bear fruit; 350 plants to the acre. They aren't much trouble to take care of and the crop is barvested every month. The Canary islands raise the best bananas but that is because the business is better developed there than in Honduras, where I came from."

In short, every war office has its own formula, but all are based on a "nitro-compound" like guncotton. This is a high explosive almost entirely smokeless, and enormous ly more powerful than ordinary gunowder, long since relegated to the limbo of other days, just as gas has been superseded by electric light in the more peaceful walks of life. Unfortunately the compound cannot be relied upon. The absolute requisite is stability-the ensuring that the powder will endure without change any heat or climatic variation. An unstable explosive-the terror of every warship affoat, which stocks many tons of it-looks like any other in the laboratory, and will shoot as well as the best, provided it be used before it has time to burn itself up. The trouble is that no chemist on earth knows when spontaneous combustion will take place pany through decomposition with the powder itself. Catarrh is not merely an inflammation of the tissues of the head and throat, as the symptoms of ringing noises in the cars, mucous dropping back into the throat, continual hawking and spitting, etc., would seem to indicate; it is a blood disease in which the entire circulation and the greater cate; it is a blood disease in which the entire circulation and the greater part of the system are involved. Catarrh is due to the presence of an excess of uric acid in the blood. The Liver, Kidneys and Bowels frequently become torpid and dull in their action and instead of carrying out the refuse and waste of the body, leave it to sour and form uric acid in the system. This is taken up by the blood and through its circulation distributed to all parts of the system. These impurities in the blood irritate and inflame the different membranes and tissues of the body, and the contracting of a cold will start the secretions and other disgusting and disagreeable symptoms of Catarrh. As the blood goes to all parts of the body the catarrhal poison affects all parts of the system. The head has a tight, full feeling, nose continually stopped up, pains above the cyes, slight fever comes and goes, the stomach is upset and the entire system disordered and affected by this disease.
