Prominent Business Man Dead

The people of this city were shocked to learn of the death Saturday Feb. 8, 1908, of Edward Hebard, proprietor of the Geut's furnishing store in this city known as the "Toggerly". He was at his place of business only a few days prior to his death apparently enjoying good health, but on Thursday of last week he was stricken down with a kind of paralysis of the throat and tongue and for a day or more prior to his death could not speak. Dr. Kime attended him in this city and done all in his power to give him relief, but owing to the complicated condition of his case it was thought best to send him to the Eugene hospital upon recommendation of the doctor, but nothing could be done for the patient and he died the evening of the same day he arrived at the hospital. In the death of Mr. Hebard Cottage Grove loses a very estimable and worthy citizen, Mr. Hebard having resided in this city several years and was well and favorably known. He was 44 years old and was a member of the local K. P. lodge and the Modern Woodman order, having $1000 insurance in the latter. Mr. Hebard was a native of Virginia and came to this coast 18 years ago, dividing his residence between this place and Yoncalla. The remains were shipped to his old home Tuesday where his father, mother, two sisters and brother reside. An administrator will soon be appointed to settle up his affairs here. Regarding the funeral service at Eugene the Register said:

A large delegation came down from Cottage Grove Tuesday evening to attend the funeral services over the remains of Edward Hebard who died in the General hospital on Saturday evening. Among those who came were C. H. Van Denburg, Ben Lurch, Levi Geer, Geo. McQueen, Winters Wallace J. S. Milne, A. S. Powell, Martin Shea, Frank Kennedy, John Asher, C. Ross and Alta King. Most of them are members of the Knights of Pythias or Modern Woodmen of America to which lodges deceased belonged and he carried $1000 insurance in the latter. The services were held at the undertaking rooms of Day and Henderson Tuesday afternoon and the remains were shipped to Olney, Virginia on No. 14.

"Farmer Jones," the jolly trickster, with the Stanley Comedy Co., at the armory Saturday evening.

Local News and Notes.

Miss Esther Monroe, who underwent a surgical operation at the Salem hospital last week, is recovering rapidly.

L. W. Baker, the Eugene street car conductor, attended Co. E inspection Monday evening, he being a member of this company.

Grand mask skate at the rink next Tuesday evening. Admission skaters 25 cents. Spectators, adults 15 cents, children 10 cents.

We must show the Cottage Grove Commercial boys a good time when they come to visit us on February 17th says the Eugene Register.

Al Johnson and Lewis Harley came down from the Bohemia mines Tuesday and reported 18 inches of fresh snow in the mines, but say that considerable underground work is being done in the mines this winter.

Mrs. Thos. Krauter of Troutdale and daughter Miss Bertha, are enjoying a pleasant visit at the home of Thos. Parker and also with other Cottage Grove friends. Mrs. Krauter was formerly Mrs. Frederickson.

It has been rumored that the farmers were going to be required to buy their phones and that rents would be raised on them soon. This Manager David Griggs declares to be an error, as no such action has even been discussed. Old subscribers will go on just as they are.

E. C. Bisby and C. A. Van Denburg, two popular young men of this city, have purchased the "Wave" confectionery and ice cream parlor, of Perman & Briggs, and will assume charge at once. Both of these young men are well known and highly esteemed in this community, Mr. Bisby having served as clerk in the post office a year a half and we predict that they will make a complete success of their new business undertaking.

Here is another evidence of the prompt payment of its insurance obligations by the Woodmen of the World. On Dec. 20th, the order lost an esteemed member by death in the person of Chester M. Emerson and on Feb. 3d, Clerk Chas. VanDenburg, received a check in the sum of $1000 for the beneficiary of deceased, Mrs. Emerson, the young man's mother. There is also an additional fund of $100 to be used in the erection of a suitable monument at the grave of the young man as soon as a selection of a stone is made by the mother. This is a most worthy feature of this grand order.

Notice.

Having heard on the street that I am accusing certain persons of feeding my dog out glass. I wish to emphatically deny that I have accused any one or even expressed an opinion on the subject.

ALBERT ZEBULL.

Sweet Pea Show.

The Civic Improvement committee of the Woman's Club is planning for a Sweet Pea show to be held the last of June and earnestly request you to participate. Feb. 22nd has been designated as "Planting Day." Prepare your ground and order seeds now. Following is a list of prizes (prizes will be announced later.)

Class 1—For the largest number of varieties grown by any exhibitor not less than 10 named varieties, nor less than 12 sprays in a vase. First and second prizes.

Class 2—Best six named varieties twelve sprays each of yellow, pink, white, dark red, red or lavender. Prize for each color.

Class 3—Prize for the most unique display. Prize for the most artistically arranged bouquet.

Class 4—Largest display regardless of color or variety. First and second prize.

All classes open to competition to any one living within a radius of ten miles of Cottage Grove.

The following prizes will be given to children who will plant seeds other than sweet peas:

First and second prize for largest collection.

First and second prize for best bouquet of any one variety.

A few suggestions on the culture of sweet peas: The French method is practiced by many gardeners who aim to secure the finest flowers. Dig a trench 12 or 15 inches deep, cover bottom with loose, rich, sandy soil, plant seeds and cover one or two inches deep. As plants grow, gradually fill in until trench is full, thus giving the plants deep rooting.

Another Row River Fire.

The residence of Ben Pitcher on his farm home one mile west of Disston in Row river valley, was destroyed by fire Monday, the entire upper story being in flames before the fire was noticed. An organ and a few household goods were saved from the lower rooms. The house had recently been repapered and was a good country home. The loss is partially covered by insurance in the sum of $500.

C. F. Cunningham, late manager of the Eugene light system for the Willamette Valley Co. succeeds Hiram Griggs at this place, Mr. Griggs to be transferred to another point. While we regret to lose Mr. Griggs from our city, we extend a cordial welcome to Mr. Cunningham.
