The Pie Social.

The Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors united in a general jollification at their lodge room in this city Monday evening. There was an interesting program and an auction of pies, interspersed with unrestrained fraternizing. There was not a pie that sold for less than 35 cents and many brought as much as 80 cents. Jas. Hawley and Joe Baker were voted America's champion pie biter with C. W. Wallace a close second. The cash receipts from the pie sales netted the Royal Neighbors $33.20 and the social was declared a great success socially and financially.

Birthday Dinner.

Last Sunday a company of relatives and friends assembled at the farm home of Mrs. E. J. Beidler and partook of a most excellent birthday dinner. It was one of those old fashioned farm dinners which always makes one feel his woeful limited capacity and inability to do the occasion justice. After dinner was served the afternoon sped swiftly with song, music and social cheer. Mrs. Beidler was the recipient of several nice presents as follows: A gilt-framed landscape picture presented by Mr. and Mrs. Will Hart; Prescut glass jelly stand, Miss Opal Hart and brother; Satin handkerchief case, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Conner; hand painted china fruit dish, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conner; china pickle dish, Ira K. Conner; center piece, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frohmader. Besides those persons mentioned above, those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Conner and family, Mr. Maddox, A. T. and Fred Beidler. The guests departed for their homes in the evening wishing Mrs. Beidler many happy returns of the day.

Horace G. McKinley, convicted of land frauds, was sentenced to two years in the county jail and to pay a fine of $7,500. McKinley's joy when he realized that he was not to be sent to McNeil's Island, was very great, and he threw his hat in the air and gave other evidences of delight.

Tom Awbrey is having his first experience in "chicken advertising" and is dumfounded at results. Over 25 dozen eggs have already been engaged from his White Minorca pens, the cash accompanying most orders, and orders are coming faster all the time. He has come to the conclusion that people surely read the papers if they do nothing else.

E. A. Willson and wife, who returned to this city from Roseburg recently, reopened their restaurant Saturday and served a fine dinner to their many old patrons. The place had previously been repapered, recarpeted and thoroughly renovated and Mr. and Mrs. Willson will endeavor to give the public and their old patrons even better service than before.

F. J. Hard came up from Eugene Monday to look after his mining interests. He says the report of ten feet of snow in Bohemia is all bosh. While it may have reached that depth in certain localities where drifts are common, there has not been one-fourth that much snow on any of his properties, in fact, he expects to be able to reach his properties with horses and buggy any month in the year after this season, when a little more road work will have been completed.

A good one is told on our esteemed townsman, F. H. Rosenberg. On Tuesday evening he gave a very dramatic recital, "How Joshua Killed the Mouse," before the Women of Woodcraft. The next morning he went out to feed his pedigreed poultry and in moving a sack of feed a good sized rat took a little spin up his trousers leg and the recital he then and there gave is said to have put his former efforts to shame and came near bringing out both the fire brigade and police force. His next recital will be entitled, "How Rosenberg Killed the Rat."

M. H. Anderson has been looking after business matters in Portland.

The awful fate of nearly two hundred Cleveland, Ohio, school children, by being trapped and burned in a public school building, is a strong reminder that too much discipline cannot be maintained in fire drills in the schools and that all doors should swing outward.

Cottage Grove music lovers are promised a rare treat in the coming of the celebrated Williams Jubilee singers, Monday March 16. The company comprises both a male and female quartette which makes a mixed octet when singing together. This is the best colored musical company on the road. Don't fail to hear it.

M. E. Dunn, who the past year and a half has been interested in the Wildwood Lumber Co., on the line of the O. & S. E. R. R. has sold his interest in the mill and business to three gentlemen late of Chehalis, Wash. named D. Salzer, T. Roimmer and Austin Zenkner. Mr. Zenkner becomes superintendent.

The city council met in regular session Thursday evening at which time the nominating caucus was set for Friday evening March 27, at the armory, and election judges and clerks were appointed. It is probable that only one amendment to the charter will be voted on which will provide for the election instead of the appointment of a city marshal.

INSPECTOR AFTER THE PEST-INFESTED ORCHARDS

The Eugene Register says: A good many people, in Eugene especially, think that Fruit Inspector J. Beebe is only running a bluff when he says he will enforce the law by compelling owners of fruit trees to spray them, or it will be done by him, or cut down, and the costs taxed up against the property as a lien. We are prepared to state that it is no bluff. Next week he will start to spraying some fruit trees on a lot on Eleventh street and one will be cut down and burned up. If you don't want the inspector after your trees you had better spray them or cut them down. He means business.

DIED.

GOODRICH—At his farm home at Lorane Sunday, March 1, '08 Orson P. Goodrich of Pneumonia, aged 60 years, 7 months and 5 days.

Mr. Goodrich bought part of the Lee farm and located at Lorane about a year ago. He was a hard working man and was held in the highest esteem by his Lorane neighbors. He left a small family to mourn his death. The remains were brought to the Veatch & Lawson undertaking parlors in this city Tuesday, was embalmed and shipped to Vancouver, Wash., for burial on the night train. Besides members of the family, Merchant W. W. Jackson, accompanied the remains to Vancouver and attended the funeral.
