

Putting Up Prescriptions

of course is the most important part of our business and it is the most exacting—but it is a responsibility we do not shirk.

We do business on the policy that you cannot be too particular with medicine and our business of dispensing prescriptions continues to increase because we take the same care as if we were putting the medicine up for our own family's use.

A St. Patrick Eve Dinner.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Phillips were entertained at a St. Patrick's eve dinner at their commodious new home on Wall street Monday evening. The predominating colors were green, while the table was handsomely decorated with violets, fresh cut shamrock and daffodils. Plates were laid for 12 guests and many substantial and dainty courses were served to which all did ample justice and Mrs. Phillips not only proved herself a most entertaining hostess, but an adept in providing "viands rich, the appetite to goad." After dinner a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by the guests. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Isham, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Van Winkle, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conner, Mr. Foster Phillips.

Grand Millinery Opening.

Wednesday March 25, will be opening day at the Fashion millinery parlors of Miss Mary Bartels. While in Portland recently she was successful in buying a large new imported stock of the very newest creations in spring millinery, the largest stock she has yet brought to Cottage Grove. This beautiful line not only comprises the latest designs, but the material is of the very best that can be secured, while her prices will be within the reach of all. No shoddy goods here, but the latest and best at the most reasonable prices. The ladies of Cottage Grove should not fail to call and inspect this beautiful line of spring millinery. Miss Bartels also has a very attractive and stylish stock of childrens millinery goods, as well as toilet and hair goods. Remember the date, Wednesday, March 25th.

Mrs. Lurch and Mrs. Medley Entertain

The social event of the week was the "at home" given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Ben Lurch and Mrs. J. S. Medley, at the home of the former, in honor of the patron saint of the day, St. Patrick. The decorations were elaborate and very appropriate. The parlors, dining room and hall were festooned with green bunting, vines and Irish flags, while beautiful tufts of shamrock were much in evidence. This color scheme was carried out in the table decorations, the side dishes being draped in green crepe paper and miniature Irish flags were grouped with the tufts of shamrock. Refreshments were served in many courses and comprised many rare dainties of the season, a feast fit to place before a king.

The social features of the afternoon were the interesting and appropriate games, the prize in discovering "who was the greenest" was awarded to Mrs. Paul Jones and was a very unique and pretty rose jar. The prize in the "Irish Artist" contest was awarded to Mrs. J. H. Chambers, it being a beautiful oil painting admirably executed by Mrs. Kreuger, Mrs. Lurch's daughter. The hour for parting seemed to come all too soon, so royally were the guests entertained by the hostesses. The invited guests were:

Mesdames H. O. Thompson, N. E. Compton, Frank Phillips, Paul Jones, David Griggs, James Benson, Herbert Eakin, Best, Will Hart, Frank Rosenberg, J. C. Johnson, Goodman, Kime, Chas. Burkholder, J. H. Chambers, A. Hemenway, D. Hemenway, McKeen, Job. J. O. Van Winkle, J. I. Jones, Thos. Pearce, Marion Veatch, Geo. Hall, D. J. DuBruille, Frank Wheeler, W. H. Abrams, Mrs. Kreuger.

Mrs. N. E. Compton's "At Home."

A society function, elaborate in detail and delightfully entertaining was the St. Patrick's "at home" given by Mrs. N. E. Compton Wednesday afternoon. The decorations were exquisite and appropriate, green festooning, daffodils and violets predominating throughout the Compton home. The afternoon hours went fleetly by with the introduction of appropriate entertainment. In the first place each guest was requested to recite, sing or relate an Irish poem, song or story, which occasioned much merriment, the prize for the best rendition being awarded to Mrs. D. J. DuBruille—a volume of poems.

The luncheon was served in many courses which was very dainty and delicious. The host was assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. F. D. Wheeler. It was one of those pleasant occasions which will long be remembered by the ladies present, who are unanimous in declaring Mrs. Compton a charming entertainer. Those present were: Mesdames Almond Hemenway, W. C. Conner, Herbert Eakin, Geo. Hall, D. J. DuBruille, Andrew Brund, Simeral, Job. F. H. Rosenberg, Goodman, J. H. Chambers, Herren, H. O. Thompson, J. C. Johnson, J. I. Jones, Wilson, F. B. Phillips, J. O. Van Winkle, Delure Hemenway, F. D. Wheeler.

New Postmaster.

Hon. D. M. C. Gault has received his commission as postmaster at Cottage Grove and assumed charge of the postal affairs in this city Monday morning. His clerks remain the same as under the former administration, Ed Jones being the day clerk and the services of Mr. Fiester being retained in the capacity of night man. Mrs. Gault presides for the present at the delivery window and is rendering courteous and efficient service.

Mr. Gault retires from the management of the Western Oregon, his interests in that publication having been sold to C. J. Howard, the retiring postmaster.

John Barker in the Toils.

Mayor Jones and his police force are giving John Barker, proprietor of a soft drink parlor and billiard hall in this city, some trouble just now. He was arrested Thursday, on a charge of violating the local option law and taken to Eugene by Constable Plank of that city for trial before Justice Bryson. He gave bonds, however, and his trial will come up for hearing some time next week.

Notice.

Miss Vera Herren of the University of Oregon school of music, will teach pupils on piano. She wishes to announce that she will take a limited number of pupils. Terms on application. Phone No. 574.
