The first regular session of the state grange was held in I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday, beginning at 10 a. m. with State President Buxton in the chair. Preceding the session the Eugene Military band played several selections in front of the convention hall. Among the short addresses was one by Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway on equal suffrage. Her plea brought from the grange a resolution in favor of the equal suffrage amendment. Ed Roseburg and J. C. McCue of Astoria, appeared on behalf of the Columbia Fishermen's association and made a plea for prohibition of fish wheels on the upper Columbia. President Campbell followed in a brief address inviting the grange to visit university assembly at 10 a. m. to listen to an address by President Kerr, of the Agricultural college, and to be entertained on the campus by ladies of the university and the Commercial club auxiliary. A four days session is being held.

WOMANS CLUB PASSES RESOLUTIONS FAVORING UNIVERSITY

Whereas, at the last meeting of the legislature of the state of Oregon that body passed an act granting to the State University an annual appropriation of $125,000 for the maintenance of that institution, and

Whereas, certain persons are seeking to defeat this appropriation by means of the referendum, and

Whereas, the Womens Club of Cottage Grove, Oregon, believe that if this appropriation is not granted the cause of higher education in this state will receive a setback that will cast a serious reflection on the people who believe in higher education and result in bringing the state into disrepute in other states which have wisely provided for their boys and girls by allowing a large appropriation to their universities, and also result in delaying a large number of people from coming to this state who would come if the state institutions were allowed the appropriations to carry on their work, we feel they should have, therefore be it

Resolved, that we do use our best efforts to have the appropriation carried and be it further Resolved, that we are most heartily in favor of said appropriation and request all voters to support said appropriation. Mrs. WHEELER Mrs. BRIGGS Mrs. ROSENBERG, Committee.

Has "Eden" Been Relocated?

The local optionists should investigate the conditions over in West Lane county, where we suspicion the law is being shamefully disregarded, judging from the following from the pen of Otto Gilstrap, of the Eugene Register:

"Through pastoral scenes of peace and prosperity we sped in light road vehicle, where gentle-eyed kine browsed and lowed in waving meadow grass. Gently sloping from mellow pasture lands were upland orchards exhaling sweet incense from apple blossoms whose petals besprangled house-tops of hill-hung cottages in pink baptismal showers. Springtime's pompous pageantry unfolded its rich carpet of unbroken emerald to our onward trend toward stalking forest dome and sombre glade and soon we were threading the mystic mazes of lofty world-embroidering, the tortuous roadway winding in sinuous embrace the flanking fern and flowering dogwood. Then, down dipped our course into the depths of shady vale, where the soft sigh of tall trees, whispering heart to heart, is hushed in that strange, brooding silence, broken only by the purring of the mountain rill as it leaps from leafy sequester, and flings a limpid rivulet across our path."

There is just one of three conclusions to be drawn from the above, the young scribe either relocated the lost "garden of Eden" over in west Lane; is insanely in love, or else run up against a paralyzing concoction of home-made "apple jack" in his rural meanderings. An investigation should be made.

A Correction.

It was announced in the Leader last week that "pursuant to a call issued by J. W. Baker a meeting was called to select delegates to the Democratic State convention." This was erroneous as no call was issued by Mr. Baker, but the delegates were selected by the central committee upon recommendation of local democrats and are as follows: R. M. Veatch, Dr. Oglesby and D. J. DuBruille.

The Leader is proud of the compliments being paid it by many of its readers.
