

"We Volunteer"

this day, as we do every other day in the year, to give you bargains at such a sacrifice that you will thank yourself for calling here. We give to all the same "uniform" treatment; courteous and polite service, and such values as tempt you to talk about us and praise us to your friends. This is our chief system of advertising—to give high qualities for low prices, and thus get the public coming to our store "as a habit."

Cottage Grove, Oregon

Co. E. Will Go to the Front.

There is activity about the army, preparatory to packing up for the ten or twelve days annual encampment at American Lake near Tacoma. Co. E. will be well represented in the encampment as many of the boys have been planning to combine their usual summer outing with this occasion and a large per cent of the company will therefore go into camp. The members of Co. E. will leave Cottage Grove on the early Monday morning overland, and therefore few of them will retire Sunday night—it has therefore been suggested that the city materially increase its police force on this occasion, or temporarily relieve it from duty.

Another New Residence.

This week N. P. Chrisman entered into a contract with contractor Hubble, to erect a neat modern cottage on his lot just back of the Methodist church. The lot is 150 feet front on Tennessee street and as compensation for his work contractor Hubble receives the west half of the lot with 75 feet frontage. Work has already commenced on this new home and contractor Hubble will build a modern cottage on his part of the lot in the near future.

Burkholder-Woods Co. Moved.

The Burkholder-Woods Mercantile Co. moved into the new Stewart and Hinds brick Monday where the company will remain until its new brick 50x95 feet is completed and ready for occupancy on the corner of Main and Third street—the old stand.

Reward Offered.

I will give $10 reward for the name of the party or parties who wrote obscene language and drew vulgar pictures on my sign on the Coast Fork bridge on Fourth street.

The tenants in the Veatch hardware block came very near declaring Capt. J. C. Johnson, who has offices up-stairs, an incendiary Tuesday. It seems the captain was enjoying a cigar while working at his desk up-stairs and after lighting the cigar, tossed the match out of the office window to, as he supposed, the pavement below. However, the match fell upon the canvas awning in front of the hardware store and it was soon ablaze. The burning awning was promptly torn down and this compressed the extent of the damage.
