"Can't Keep House Without it."

An appreciative subscriber writes to the Leader as follows: "No Leader today. Should have come yesterday—did not. Have you quit business? Can't keep house without it. G. O. McGilvray, Canyonville, Oregon."

Electuonary Recital.

Miss Lylith Moore, of Roseburg, gave a most pleasing electuonary recital at the armory theater Saturday evening under the auspices of the Lady Maccabees. To add interest to the occasion, Miss Moore was accompanied by her sister, Miss Grace, who is a charming pianist, and her excellent musical numbers received hearty encores. Miss Lylith Moore is a pupil of Marion Lowell of New York, and her society and dramatic readings and humorous monologues were very entertaining and were well received by the small, but very appreciative audience, the town having had almost a continuous week of entertainment. The Misses Moore went from this place to Salem where they will attend the state fair and appear on the auditorium program during the week. They are very talented young ladies.

I. C. Underwood, an old retired merchant, who recently sold out his farm at Myrtle Creek, spent a few days in Cottage Grove and Saginaw this week visiting friends, while looking for a location. He is an old friend of Rev. Nickle of this city.

Curtis Veatch sold another pair of fine fox hound pups to a Salem man last week for $25.

Still the new subscribers are coming in. Four new names were added to the Leader's list Saturday.

The Wildwood sawmill is filling an order which will keep the mill running for at least 90 days. Other large orders are in prospect.

Billie Kirk has accepted the position of bookkeeper with the Wildwood Lumber company. He has moved his family up to the mill.

Ray Baker, local pitcher for the G. and H. team, who signed up with the lady players several weeks ago, returned to Cottage Grove Friday.

Mrs. Cottle has let a contract for the converting of the old post office building, which was moved out on Fifth street last fall, into a neat, modern residence.

Miss Nellie Hemenway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delure Hemenway, returned to Portland Saturday to resume her studies which she will complete in February, when she will return home and enter the university at Eugene.

The body of Mrs. Nave, deceased wife of Rev. Henry L. Nave who died some months ago, was exhumed Monday and shipped to Edinburg, Indiana, the old home of the family, where it will be reinterred. The remains were accompanied to their final resting place by Charles C. Nave, son of deceased.

are liable to be in any home. You never know when they are going to be taken sick, either, but very frequently it happens in the night time, when the drug stores are closed. Hence the advisability of supplying the home with some of the always handy remedies—those most in demand for common ills. We keep none but the purest drugs and medicines, and charge in reason.

If you want a good paying little business inquire at the Bazaar.

The season for killing elk opens today, Tuesday and will remain open only two weeks. No hunter is permitted to kill more than one elk. Half a dozen of Rane's best hunters have gone over to the head waters of Coos river, where it is said a fine large herd of these big monarchs of the forest has been ranging for many years.

It is estimated that there are 500 cougars in Oregon and that each year they kill no less than 2,500 deer. No wonder deer are becoming scarce.

Mrs. Wheeler and family, Mrs. Gray and family, Mrs. Comer and Miss Comer were among those who went to Brady's hopyard at Creswell Monday.

A new shoe shop has been opened in the bicycle repair shop by A. B. Cochran, he having secured a good workman to look after the wants of the patrons of the new shop. Heavy repairing is made a specialty.

Arthur Tate, formerly one of the extensive farmers of the Walker community, now residing near San Diego, California, is spending a few days at this place looking after business matters and visiting with friends.

Contractor Harry Hart encountered bed rock in the first block of his River street sewer ditch and was compelled to use powder to get the required depth, about 10 feet, there being one-foot of bed rock to remove. The depth growing less as he proceeds no more trouble is anticipated after he completes the first block.

A Leader representative called at Miller's machine shop on Third street Monday and found the shop running full blast with a month's work ahead. This is very gratifying to Mr. Miller as he has been to much expense in the installation of this fine little plant in this city. Virgil White, the local machinist, is Mr. Miller's competent assistant.

The Leader erred in reporting the name of Hon. and Mrs. J. W. Baker's daughter and son-in-law at this place last week from Portland. It was Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Miles and wife instead of "Martin" as printed in the Leader. Mr. and Mrs. Miles went up on Mosby creek Monday to visit at the home of Walt Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Palmer on Mosby creek. Mr. Miles is a S. P. express messenger while his wife was formerly Miss Roby Baker.

The hunting season for many kinds of game birds opens October 1st. We wonder how many of the farmers' stock will receive a stray shot that, if not resulting fatally will render the animal less valuable? If the hunters would be more careful what they shoot the farmers would not be so "cranky" (?) about people hunting on their farms. Many is the farmer who forbids hunting on his place that does not really care for the game, but takes this measure to protect his stock from careless hunters.

"Her One Great Sin" was not alone the wearing of the director's gown, but in not surrounding herself with stronger and better support, it being a still greater sin to call the work of the other members of the company, acting, especially the roles sustained by the "Italian Count" and the "husband." The "circuit" must be short on attractions this season when it must book companies with only a director's gown to recommend them to the public. The "Merry Widow" wasn't bad, the gown was much better, but the rest of it, Ugh! We refer to the Florence Stanley company, which appeared at the armory theater Friday evening.

Ye Sportsmen Take Notice
